Daniel Webster once said: "It is a noble faculty of our natures which enables us to connect our thoughts, sympathies, and happiness with what is distant in places or time; and, looking before and after, to hold communion at once with our ancestors and our posterity. There is a moral and philosophical respect for our ancestors which elevates the character and improves the heart. Next to the sense of religious duty and moral feeling, I hardly know what should bear with stronger obligation on a liberal and enlightened mind than a consciousness of an allegiance with excellence which is departed, and a consciousness, too, that in its acts and conduct, and even in its thoughts and sentiments, may be actively operating on the happiness of others that may come after us."

PREFACE

It had long been the desire of the author to know from what country the ancestor of the Shuey family came. In conversation with different members of the family, he was surprised to find how little they knew of the family, of its ancestors, and of the different branches, who had well nigh lost the connection with another. In 1872 he visited Dayton, Ohio, and a copy of the pic-nic paper came into his hands. From this it appeared that some at least had made an effort to retain the family connection. Believing that his desire could be met by the aid of this clue, he earnestly set to work; but for a long time his search was in vain, and had it not been for his persevering nature the task would have been abandoned.

After coming into possession of some valuable information, and a correspondence had been commenced with certain members of the family, he received very encouraging letters, urging him to prosecute his investigations, and to arrange the result of such investigation in proper shape for publication. All the facts as they became known were carefully noted down and preserved. The difficulty experienced in securing the correspondence of some interested party in each branch of the family accounts for the slow progress of the work. At least one-half of the letters which the author wrote and sent to the different members were never answered. Some allowance for this seeming negligence can be made, inasmuch as the correct name of the post-office may not always have been at hand, and hence some of the letters were returned. It is quite certain, however, that many letters were received by parties who neglected to answer them. This was a source of great disappointment to the author. Obligations are due to many who have kindly furnished facts. Want of space forbids giving their names. The reason why some sketches are given with much fuller accounts than others is at once apparent. It is on account of not being able to enlist the services of interested parties, who with but little trouble could have furnished all the information needed. The author had knowledge of only about one-fifth of the persons here represented when he commenced his labor of gathering facts.

None but the Pennsylvania Shueys and a few families at Dayton, Ohio, were known directly, although the author was informed that some Shueys lived in Virginia and some in California. How to get a clue to their history was perplexing, on account of not having the address of any one to whom a letter could be forwarded. Thus it will be seen that it became a slow and wearisome work, and many would have given up in despair. To abandon the project would have been a great disappointment to the author.

To give an account of the trials and difficulties experienced in gathering the facts and in making the proper connection of the different fragments of fact in compiling this work, would in itself make an interesting volume. If any of the dates are incorrect in the book, it is because they were furnished incorrectly. The greatest care was bestowed on obtaining and arranging correctly the many dates which are here inserted. This was a difficult task, since some persons are not any too well informed of their own dates. To give an example, the author was in correspondence with twin brothers who severally furnished their dates of birth, and these were a few months apart. Only one of the dates could be used, and the one which the sender said he had from official record in the family Bible was chosen. Many other instances could be furnished, but let this one suffice. The author had to rely on correspondence and, therefore, does not wish to be responsible for any misstatements, if such should appear on these pages. After seeing the book no doubt many will feel sorry that they did not bestow more care in furnishing items of interest. At times the correspondence became very laborious to the author—especially when he found that his questions had remained unanswered, and instead long letters were written which were of but little use for the history. Others again acknowledged the receipt of the author's letter and promised to furnish the answers soon, but those promises remained unfulfilled.

The author has succeeded in tracing the different branches of the family, and the proper connection of different members with one another. Any member, no matter how remote, can easily trace his connection with the parent stem. Some few twigs may have been lost, but the trunk and the branches of this great family tree are found in this volume.

The author regards this work largely private—one which has been especially prepared for the members of the family. It is, therefore, not open to the critical eye of the public. From many miles of travel, spending much time on the work, and a patient research of records, both public and private, and after an immense correspondence, with individuals in the various branches of the family, this history is a result. Would that a more competent hand had undertaken it and carried it out to its conclusion in a better style. It is, therefore, presented to the readers in this form, asking their forbearance while they peruse these pages. Many will be interested, it is hoped, in this work, since it is purely a labor of love on the part of the author, knowing that there can be no financial remuneration for his patient work in compiling this history. The first edition of the History of the Shuey Family in America, published in 1876, was written in the author's spare moments, during three years while he was taking his course of theological studies, preparatory to his life work in the Gospel ministry, and was therefore fragmentarily prepared. Now this revised History was compiled by the author, at the earnest request of many members of this large, and it can be truly said, an exceptional family, during four years while engaged in pastoral labors, with many interruptions incident to such double work. To honor our ancestors is our duty; and if the author has succeeded in interesting the reader, the object of his work will have been realized.

INTRODUCTORY CHAPTER

The author began this History of the Shuey Family with the traditional part which had been handed down from his ancestors. Tradition, is not always reliable, but is a great assistant in ascertaining facts. His first investigation was based on tradition, from which he proceeded to investigate records and ascertain facts. The traditions held by the different branches of the Shuey family all corroborated each other, and were so similar in many of the details that they came to be believed as truths. All the older members of the family said that the first Shuey of America came from France. He was compelled to flee from that country, tradition had it, on account of his Protestant faith, having been sorely oppressed by the Roman Catholics. The Shuey family is scattered over a good part of the United States, but this tradition was held by all the branches of the family. When the author came to examine facts based on official records, he found that the first Shuey did not come from France, but that he came with the Palatinates, starting from Rotterdam. But by a closer investigation he found that this does not necessarily ignore the tradition. After careful investigation and comparison of tradition with facts, he concluded that the Shueys are descendants of the French Huguenots.

A few words of explanation concerning the Huguenots will be necessary at this point, in order to understand fully, under what circumstances this ancestor came to this country. It is generally conceded that he was a descendent of the Huguenots, and it may be interesting therefore to look back to the history of the Huguenots.

A little more than four and a half centuries ago, a simple yet one of the most useful inventions was made, which now ranks second to none in modern history. The art of printing was invented but a short time previous to the great Reformation. One of the first works which the printing press was engaged to publish was the Bible, for which the people were hungering. In this way for the first time came the Bible into the hands of the common people, who read it and studied it for themselves instead of depending merely on the interpretation of the Roman teachers. This circulation of the Bible gave impulse to the French Reformation, and it soon gathered many adherents to the new religion and the Protestant doctrines. Then came oppression from the ruling power, at the instance of the Roman priests and monks, who found their revenues diminishing. But with the oppression came sympathizers for the oppressed, and instead of exterminating the Gospellers, as they were then called, it only added to their strength, and the number of gospel-readers increased very rapidly. Men of rank, as well as of learning and of war, took the side of the new religion, and their number soon swelled to a considerable power in the state. They then became a separate party called Huguenots or French Protestants.

Of extremely obscure origin, the term Huguenot was at first applied as a nickname, which the Protestants bore with pride. The name is supposed to be derived from the German Eidgenoss, a confederate, since the Huguenots were confederates against the Roman power. This confederation however was forced upon them by the oppression from the Romanists.

The Bibles were ordered to be burned wherever found, the printers placed under the ban or put to flight, but notwithstanding this decree the Huguenots faithfully studied the Bible in private, and held their religious meetings in secret places. The worshippers were sought out and mercilessly murdered. The very sight of men and women suffering death for their faith rather than deny their convictions, attracted the attention even of the incredulous. Their curiosity was aroused, they desired to know what there was in this forbidden Bible that inspired such confidence and assurance. Their numbers increased so rapidly that in 1561 the alarmed Cardinal de Saint Croix wrote to the pope "the Kingdom is already half Huguenot." The papists called them heretics, and asked the government to extirpate them; the Huguenots denounced the corruptions of the Roman Church and demanded a reform. Thus the number of the Huguenots increased. Coligny wrote to the Queen mother "We have 2040 churches and 400,000 men able to bear arms, without our secret adherents."

On the 18th of August, 1572, Henry, the young king of Navarre, was married to Margaret, the daughter of Catherine de Medici. This marriage of one person from each party the Protestants supposed would bring about a reconciliation. Many of the Huguenots had come to Paris to witness the ceremony and to celebrate the royal event. Admiral Coligny and his family were among those present. The marriage was followed by a succession of feasts and gayeties, in which the leaders of both parties heartily participated. On the day after the marriage the Romanists held a secret council, at which it was determined to proclaim a general massacre of the Huguenots. The king offered 50,000 crowns for the head of Coligny, who in a few days was shot and wounded, by one who lay in wait for him. The king visited the wounded man at his hotel and professed the greatest horror of the dastardly act, and swore vengeance on the assassin.

The 24th of August, St. Bartholmew's day, the day fixed for the massacre, was ushered in by the ringing of the great bell of the church for early prayer. This was the signal for the beginning of the great slaughter. It was not yet three o'clock when the murderers sallied forth on their bloody work. To distinguish between themselves and the Huguenots in the dark, they tied a white sash around the left arm, and wore a white cross on the front of the hat. Coligny and the young king's retinue were among the first who were killed. These had accompanied the young king to witness his wedding. Now they were marched out one by one into the open square and butchered before the very eyes of the royal host. The lives lost in this massacre throughout France is estimated at one hundred thousand. When Philip the Second heard the news of the massacre he is said to have laughed for the first and only time in his life. Rome was thrown into a delirium of joy at the news. A medal was struck with the Pope's image on one side and the destroying angel on the other sacrificing the Huguenots. This medal proves that Rome acquiesced in this terrible massacre, and it will remain a lasting monument to the countenance which she gave to this terrible slaughter.

After sixty years of dreadful persecutions the Huguenots were allowed comparative liberty of conscience and freedom of worship by the Edict of Nantes, which Henry issued in 1598. This admitted them to public employment and their children were afforded access to schools. What the Roman Catholics thought of this edict we can judge from the protest which they sent to Pope Clement the Eighth, in which they said, "A decree which gave liberty of conscience to all was the most accursed that had ever been made;" under such circumstances, and with such protests as that sent to Clement, the Protestants could not expect much freedom. The peace which was granted to them by the Edict of Nantes was violated again and again, and they could seek no redress at the hands of a power which gave encouragement to those persecuting them. They remained faithful to their conscientious convictions, and would rather suffer death than give up their holy religion, which gave them comfort even in their greatest trials and troubles. They learned to place their whole confidence in God to whom they could turn when all men were against them. The later history of the Huguenots is similar to their earlier history.

We learn from history that the religious persecutions in France, under Louis XIV., were fearful at the close of the seventeenth century. He gradually withheld from the Protestants their equal civil rights, which had been granted them by the Edict of Nantes. He endeavored to put down, destroy, and wipe out altogether, the Protestant Church. Bodies of troops, who were led by monks, passed through some of the provinces, and compelled the inhabitants who were Protestants to renounce their religion; they demolished their places of worship, imprisoned and even put to death the faithful pastors. Hundreds of thousands of Protestants fled to Switzerland, the Netherlands, the Palatinate country, England, Germany, and America. Along the borders cordons were stationed to prevent this self-expatriation, but it was in vain; the Protestants could not be restrained from leaving the country. Insincere professions of Roman Catholicism were also made by many Protestants. On the slightest appearance of relapse these were put to death.

On October 23, 1685, Louis at last revoked the Edict of Nantes, which was granted the Huguenots nearly a century before. Although this edict was only nominal, and gave but few privileges to the Protestants, yet when it was revoked a new flight was commenced, which was followed by a still more fearful persecution of the Protestants. Their marriages were declared null and void; their children deprived of the right of inheritance, and forcibly shut up in convents, and their pastors indiscriminately put to death. From the vicinity of the Nisues, where the Protestants had always been very numerous, thousands betook themselves to the mountains of the Cevennes, and there continued the exercise of their religion in secret. The war of the Cevennes, or Camisard war, was not terminated till 1706, and the suppression of the local rebellion was attended with circumstances of great cruelty. France had lost by this time more than one million of her most active, enterprising and industrious citizens.

We can hardly conceive where the religious freedom came in, when we are informed that the Protestants were compelled to accept the faith of the Roman Catholics. The Protestants in France at that time were no better off than slaves. They were forbidden to leave the country, under penalty of death. What else could they do, if their oppressors were so severe and they were not allowed peaceable departure, but to rise up in rebellion and assert those rights which are accorded to humanity.

The Huguenot Refugees, from whom the Shuey family is supposed to be descended, were very enterprising and were a great loss to France when they fled from that country on account of the Roman Catholic oppressions. It is said of them "they were as godly on the Sabbath as they were industrious on week days." When they came to Germany, new vigor was infused in the places where they settled. Decayed towns received new life, and empty houses were soon again occupied. The Huguenots were very industrious, and history says their working year consisted of 310 days, while the Catholics had only 260 working days, thus having 105 days of repose. They were faithful and trustworthy, and gained confidence wherever they lived. The Huguenot's word was as good as his bond, and to be "honest as a Huguenot," passed into a proverb.

It is worthy of note, that while the Huguenots were stigmatized in Roman Catholic writings as "heretics," "atheists," "blasphemers," "monsters vomited forth of hell," and the like, not a word is to be found in them as to their morality and integrity of character. The silence of their enemies on this head is perhaps the most eloquent testimony in their favor. This quality of integrity so characterized the business transactions of the Huguenots, that the foreign trade of the country fell almost entirely into their hands.

When the persecutions became too severe the Huguenots began to dispose of their property and goods, and were beginning to leave France in considerable numbers for the purpose of establishing themselves in foreign countries. To prevent this, the king issued an edict forbidding French subjects from proceeding abroad without express permission, under penalty of confiscation of their goods and property. They offered no resistance, but regularly met in prayer that the king's heart might yet be softened toward them. Blow upon blow followed. Protestants were forbidden to print books without the authority of magistrates of the Romish communion. Protestant teachers were interdicted from teaching children anything more than reading, writing, and arithmetic. Such pastors as held meetings amid the ruins of the churches which had been pulled down were condemned to do penance with a rope round their necks, after which they were to be banished from the kingdom. Protestants were only allowed to bury their dead at daybreak or at night-fall. They were prohibited from singing psalms on land or on water, in workshops or in dwellings. If a priestly procession passed one of their churches while the psalms were being sung, they must stop instantly on pain of the fine or imprisonment of the officiating minister.

Thus were the poor Huguenots trodden under foot, persecuted, maltreated, fined, flogged, hanged, or sabered; nevertheless many of those who survived still remained faithful. The Revocation of the Edict of Nantes was a proclamation of war by the armed against the unarmed—a war against peaceable men, women, and children—a war against property, against family, against society, against public morality, and, more than all, against the rights of conscience.

It may be asked, why rake up these horrors of the past, these tortures inflicted on innocent persons in times long since past and gone? Simply because they are matters of history, they cannot be ignored or suppressed. They may be horrible to relate, it is true, but they were far more horrible to suffer. And, however revolting they may now appear, any description of them, no matter how vivid or how detailed, must necessarily fall short of the dreadful reality to those who endured them. We can well see the reason why the ancestor of the Shuey family left France. In what part of France he lived we are not able to say. It is quite likely that he lived in one of the Rhine countries after leaving France. There are to this day persons living in several places in Germany, by the name of Shuey, who likewise say that their name is French; but having lived in Germany so long, the facts of their ancestry have been lost.

If we examine the names of the first Shueys of America, we can notice that they are strongly French. Such as Daniel, Peter, Louis or now Lewis, Henry, etc., are popular French names, which we continually meet in French history. After our family became more Germanized we find the name John more frequently. It is a remarkable fact, too, that of all the German emigrants who yearly flock to this country, only two men have we found of these many thousands who bear our family name.

The orthography of the name may also have been changed, as we are quite certain it has been changed somewhat in this country. In I. D. Rupp's collection of 30,000 names, on page 250, we learn that on September 14th 1754, ship Nancy, with Captain Ewing, from Rotterdam, last from Cowes, landed at Philadelphia, with inhabitants from Lorraine, an old province in the north-east of France. Among that list of names is Frederick Showay. This may not be the same name as ours, though the pronunciation of the two names is almost similar. Many of the Palatinates could not write their own names when they landed, and the clerks who wrote the names from mere sound would soon change the name.

In 1869 the author was introduced to George W. DeLong, formerly of New York and later an officer in the United States Navy, who had travelled extensively through France for a period of nine months. No sooner had he learned the name Shuey, when he asked whether we had relatives in France, saying that he had met a great many people in France bearing our family name, with but a slight change in the accent, laying more stress on the last syllable, in conformity with French pronunciation.

While the author was pastor at Mulberry, Indiana, he had a French family, named Jacot, as parishioners, who had but lately come from France. Charles, a son, remarked one day, "your name Shuey is quite familiar to me, for a number of my playmates in France had that name." But in this case also the accent was on the last syllable.

In 1904, the author made a trip through Italy, Switzerland, Germany, and Holland, on his return from the Holy Land. When he came into the Rhine country he searched the city directories for the name Shuey, with the following result: At Strassburg, met Ludwig Schuë, Regierungs Secretary, who was born at Ottwald-Neukirchen, a Rhine Provinz; knows nothing of his ancestors. Met a man in Heidelberg, who said the name Shuey was quite familiar in Paris and in different parts of France, but that there were none on this side of the Rhine. Found no Shuey name at Mannheim. At Darmstadt lives Philip Schuë, a confectioner, who came from Mayence. At Frankfort met Theodore Schuë, a prominent man in insurance and banking, born at Amsterdam and came to Frankfort when eight years of age. He was then 69 years old. The author is of the opinion that none of these are kin to the American Shueys because their names do not have the "y" at the end of the name.

At Wiesbaden the directory gives four persons by the name Schuy. Called on Laurence Schuy, a green grocer, who was born at Lineberg. Says the name is French. That there are many people by the name Schuy. That his uncle went to Tennessee forty years ago. This is likely the same person with whom the author had some correspondence many years ago. At Mayence found the name of George Karl Schuy, and three persons by the name of Schuë. Found no Schuey at Bingen. Coblenz has six named Schuy. Called on Ferdinand Schuy. He is a large man, pleasing in appearance. Says his family have always lived at this place. Says that at Metz are a whole neighborhood of Shueys. William Shuey, of Lemont, Illinois, who came to America in 1854, some years ago visited relatives in Trier and Luxemburg near Metz. Found no Shuey at Bonn. At Cologne-Koln, lives John Schuy a coal dealer, and also William Schuy. Found no Shueys at Düsseldorf or Amsterdam. In every case the Schuë or Schuy found at all these places, including those in Tennessee and Lemont, are catholics. This confirms the opinion of the author that those who did not flee from the French catholic persecution, became catholics by coercion. Those who write their name Schuy are likely kin to the Shueys of America. The Schuë are a different family and are also numerous in America, but according to the author's investigation in public records and otherwise, are not connected with our family.

DANIEL SHUEY

THE FIRST SHUEY IN AMERICA

The author was at a loss to know where he should commence to gather facts for this history, or where to apply. He undertook to trace the family backward, commencing with the present, and in this way seek to find the past. In this attempt he made but poor progress. The older members of the family could take him no further back than Henry Shuey, his great-grandfather. He inquired of the oldest Shuey, he could find, for the name of his grandfather; but this one did not know the name of his own grandfather. This appeared very strange, but in investigation for facts, and in talking with other people about such a history, he found quite a number of people who were not able to give the name of their own grandfather. The grandfather of the individual who was asked would have been the father of Henry Shuey. The author then had a conversation with Prof. I. D. Rupp, of Philadelphia, who was quite a student of antiquaries, and the author of several books on subjects of this kind. In a few days he received a letter from Mr. Rupp, in which he communicated some information, by which he had some clue to make investigations.

In his letter, Mr. Rupp referred to his book entitled "Collections of 30,000 Names," where, on page twenty-six, the information is given that on the 19th of September, 1732, Palatinates arrived in Philadelphia in the ship Johnson, of London, David Crocket, master, from Rotterdam, last from Deal. These subscribed the Oath of Fealty. Of that number was Daniel Schew, as the name was written by the clerk. Daniel did not write his own name, and if he had done so he would most likely have written it Schuey. In the same ship came Ludwig Shuey, a minor under sixteen. (See page 345, xxx., Collections of 30,000 Names.)

Mr. Rupp also appended an interesting notice from the American Weekly Mercury* concerning these passengers, which we insert: "Philadelphia, September 21st, 1732—Last Monday arrived Captain David Crocket. The following day the captain marched his men passengers, about eighty, being under arms, up High street to the court-house, where they laid down their guns. After his Honor, the Governor† was come, they went into the court-house, and took and subscribed the oath as usual, after which they marched in a very decent order to the governor's house and saluted his Honor with three vollies. Then they marched to the worshipful, the Mayor,‡ and saluted him in the same manner, and afterwards the High Sheriff. This done they very quietly returned to the vessel again."

*The first newspaper published in Pennsylvania was commenced by Andrew Bradford in 1719, entitled "The American Weekly Mercury."

Since publishing the first edition of the Shuey History, the author secured the third volume of the Colonial Records of Pennsylvania, giving the proceedings of the Provincial Council, published by the State in 1840. On page 484 is the following record: "At the Courthouse aforesaid, Sepr. 19th, 1732. Present: The Honourable the Governor, The Mayor & other Magistrates. One hundred & twelve Palatines, who with their Families, making in all Three hundred & thirty Persons, were imported in the Ship Johnson, of London, David Crocket, Mr., from Rotterdam, but last from Deal, as by Clearance thence, were in like manner qualified, whose names are subjoyned." The nineteenth name in this list is Daniel Schuhl as it is printed in this book.

In the same ship with Daniel Shuey came 112 males above 16 years of age, and 98 under 16; 98 females above 16 and 95 under 16.

In the "Pennsylvania Archives," Second Edition, Volume Seventeen, page 50, is published the original list of names of the passengers, who arrived in the ship Johnson, of London, David Crocket, Master, in Philadelphia on September 19, 1732. In the first column of that list are the names Maria Schwe and Margaretta Schwe. In the second column are the names Daniell Schwe and Lodawick Schwe. This proves that when they were registered on their arrival, the name Shuey had the French pronunciation, and it settles the question of their French origin. This Maria Schwe was evidently the wife of Daniel Shuey, who mentions her in his will as Mary Martha. Margaretta Schwe is mentioned in his will as Anna Margaret, wife of Nicholas Pontius, and Lodawick Schwe is mentioned as Ludwig Schuy, my eldest son. This additional information of the dim past was discovered by the author only on August 7, 1917.

‡C. Hasel, or Samuel Hassel.

Judging from these records, the ancestor came from the Palatinate country, but, according to the introductory chapter, we believe that his father came from France into the Palatinate country, where many of the Huguenots sought refuge and protection. Although we claim to be descendants of the Huguenots, yet we are not particularly anxious to be called Frenchmen, for we have been thoroughly Americanized. Most of the members of the family are now using only the English language, having lost both the French and German languages. We are free to say, however, that we believe there is still some French blood coursing through the veins of the Shuey family. This might also be detected in studying the character and disposition of some of the members of the family. Especially do they have the highest regard for their ancestors, who gave birth to this large family.

The date is now fixed when Daniel Shuey came to this country, in what manner and from what place he started, but we cannot tell where he lived prior to his coming to America.

The next question naturally was, what relation do Daniel and Ludwig sustain to each other? It was by a mere incidental clause in a deed, given by Daniel to Ludwig, that it was ascertained that Ludwig was a son of Daniel. This is quoted in the history of Ludwig Shuey. Then it took months of searching to ascertain whether Daniel and Ludwig sustained any relationship to John Henry Shuey, the author's great-grandfather, the oldest person of whom any one had any information at the time the first Shuey History was written. This was accomplished by finding both the record and the original will of Ludwig Shuey, which is inserted in another place in this history. This proved that John Henry Shuey was a son of Ludwig Shuey.

The emigrants, especially the Palatinates, must have come to America in large numbers about the time that Daniel Shuey arrived. Five years before, when the first began to arrive, it caused some alarm in the mind of the governor of the province of Pennsylvania. At a council held at Philadelphia, September 14, 1727, at which were present the Hon. Patrick Gordon, Lieut. Governor James Logan, Richard Hill, Isaac Norris, William Fishbourn and Clement Plumstead, "the Governor acquainted the Board that he had called them together at this time to inform them that there is lately arrived from Holland, a ship with four hundred Palatines as 'tis said, and that he has information they will be very soon followed by a much larger number, who design to settle in the back parts of this Province; and as they transport themselves without any Leave obtained from the Crown of Great Britain, and settle themselves upon the Proprietors untaken up Lands without any Application to the Proprietors or his Commissioners of Property, or to the Government in General, it would be highly necessary to concert proper Measures for the Peace and Security of the Province, which may be endangered by such numbers of Strangers daily poured in, who being ignorant of our Language & Laws & settling in a body together, make, as it were, a distinct People from his Majesties Subjects."

"The Board taking the same into serious consideration, observe that as these People pretended at first that they fly hither on the Score of their Religious Liberties, and come under the Protection of His Majesty. And therefore, until some proper Remedy can be had from Home, to prevent the Importation of Such Numbers of Strangers into this or others of His Majesties Colonies, 'Tis Ordered, that the Masters of the Vessells importing them shall be examined whether they have any Leave granted them by the Court of Great Britain for the Importation of these Forreigners, and that a List shall be taken of the Names of all these People, their several Occupations, and the Places from whence they come, and shall be further examined touching their intentions in coming hither".<sup>1</sup>

Had it not been for this alarm and these precautions taken, we would likely not have had any record officially informing us when Daniel Shuey arrived in this country and under what circumstances. While this Council said these emigrants pretended they came on the score of their religious liberties, it was no doubt a fact and verifies the Shuey family tradition.

A week later the Council again met, September 21, 1727, and approved the following Oath of Allegiance, and as no other is given in the record, this is the one to which Daniel Shuey subscribed, five years later. Notice the frequent use of Capital letters as printed in the Colonial Records, Volume III., page 299.

"We Subscribers, Natives and late Inhabitants of the Palatinate upon the Rhine & Places adjacent, having transported ourselves and Families into this Province of Pennsylvania, a Colony subject to the Crown of Great Britain, in hopes and Expectation of finding a Retreat & peaceable Settlement therein, Do Solemnly promise & Engage, that We will be faithfull & bear true Allegiance to his present MAJESTY KING GEORGE THE SECOND, and His Successors Kings of Great Britain, and will be faithful to the Proprietor of this Province; And that We will demean ourselves peaceably to all His said Majesties Subjects, and strictly observe & conform to the Laws of England and this Province to the utmost of our Power and best of our understanding."

Seven thousand two hundred and eighty-six Palatines with their families arrived at Philadelphia, according to Vol. III. of Colonial Records, during the space of a few years, including the family of Daniel Shuey. It is presumed all these settled in Pennsylvania east of the Susquehanna river. This was a large influx of inhabitants in a new and uncultivated and mostly wooded country consisting of but a few counties. No wonder the English authorities were alarmed and took the precaution to make all of them at once subjects of the King of Great Britain.

After Daniel Shuey's landing in Philadelphia, nothing could be found of his whereabouts until the year 1746, when we have the following receipt:

Rec'd November 26th 1746 of Daniel Shewy the sum of fifteen pounds in part of forty pounds consideration for an Improvement where James Marshal lately dwelt in Bethel Township Lanc. County, adjoining the said Shewy's dwelling plantation & I do hereby assign over unto the said Daniel Shewy his heirs & assigns all my Right & Title to the proprietary's warrant granted to me for the same. Witness my Hand the Day and year above men<sup>d</sup> that the above prem<sup>s</sup> are subject to the proprietary's demands on the same.

Edw. Shippen.

The identical receipt from which this copy was made by the author was in the hands of Joseph Hunsicker, who lived on the farm which belonged to Daniel Shuey at that time. It is near Hamlin P. O., Bethel Township, Lebanon County, Pennsylvania, about one mile south of Klopp's Church, to which several references will be made in the course of this history. We notice by this receipt that Daniel Shuey owned a tract of land or "dwelling plantation," as it is there called, prior to this time.

This is fourteen years after Daniel landed in Philadelphia, and since he bought a second tract of land at this time, it may safely be concluded that he moved to this place immediately after his arrival in this country. In the Land Department in Harrisburg, we find that Daniel Shewy entered for 121 acres on the 23d of September, 1747, which was patented May 5th, 1762. Mr. Hunsicker also held a receipt, bearing date May 5th, 1762, given in Philadelphia, for 38 pounds 7 shillings and 9 pence, in consideration for 121 acres and 60 perches—likewise a deed dated May 7th, 1762, for 121 acres and 60 perches. This, then, must be the receipt and patent deed for the land entered on the 23d of September, 1747. Mr. Hunsicker also had a deed to Daniel Shuey, dated November 12th, 1753, for 268 $\frac{3}{4}$  acres.

Daniel Shuey sold a tract of land containing 236 acres and an allowance of six acres per cent. for roads and highways, to Martin Shuey for two hundred pounds. Description: "Situated on a branch of Little Swatara Creek in said county of Berks. This was a part of a ten thousand acre tract which Thomas Penn had deeded to Margaretta Freame, widow and relict of Thomas Freame, late of the city of Philadelphia. This deed, while dated December 21, 1761, was not signed and acknowledged until August 24, 1762, and witnessed by Peter Klob and Philip Marsteller before Peter Spycker, one of his Majesty's Justices of the Peace for the county of Berks. On this deed there was also written a separate receipt, signed by Daniel Shuey, for the 200 pounds received from Martin Shuey for said land. Recorded December 1, 1762, in Vol. III., page 118.

Mr. Hunsicker, a man upwards of sixty years of age, said that when he was a young man, an old lady living in the neighborhood told him that when she was a young girl, she attended the funeral of Daniel Shuey, and she affirmed that he died in the small house standing over the spring in Mr. Hunsicker's yard. Mr. Hunsicker said that the lower part of the house was the original, but the upper part had been repaired and fitted up. What a beautiful spring that is, and how often our ancestors refreshed themselves after coming in from the fields, can easily be imagined, being wearied and fatigued by manual labor. Oh, how refreshing it is to have such a clear, cool, invigorating and beautiful spring, so convenient both for the use of man and beast.

On August 14, 1917, the author visited the farm on which Daniel Shuey lived and died. The farm is now owned by W. H. Hunsicker, a son of Joseph Hunsicker, who gave the author information for the first Shuey history. The farm now contains 216 acres. W. H. Hunsicker says he often heard the older people of that community say that when Daniel Shuey, with others, came to this neighborhood to select land which they desired to purchase, Daniel modestly allowed the others to take first choice. As they had come from the hills across the sea, they selected the hilly country here and Daniel took what was left, the valleys and flat country, which are now the choice farms of that community. He also said that the Adam Heilman farm of 223 acres, the Adam H. Hunsicker farm of 230 acres, the Walborn farm of 210 acres, all adjoining with others making in all 1,600 acres, belonged to the original Shueys. He also said that on the hills surrounding these farms they have found Indian arrow heads and stone tomahawks. This proves that the Indians inhabited this country. These lands were purchased after William Penn had made treaties with the Indians and had purchased the land from them. These farms are rich limestone soil.

Daniel Shuey is represented to have been a middling stout man, wearing a large gray beard at the time of his death, not very tall, yet of good ordinary size, being about five feet eight or nine inches, according to the statement of Mr. Hunsicker. He was a good man, and reared his family to fear and serve God. He was a member of the Reformed Church. This we know, because he came from the Palatinate, where nearly all were Reformed. Again we see in the church records that he had his children baptized in the Reformed Church. He was connected with the Swatara Reformed Church, which stood several miles east of Jonestown. Jonestown, of course, was commenced at a later date. The country was then wild and uncultivated, and infested with savage Indians. It is quite likely that Daniel was one of the founders of this Swatara Church.<sup>1</sup> With the Christian principles and creed of the Huguenots and Palatinates inculcated in him, he could not long remain in a new land without a place to worship God according to the dictates of his conscience. At this time there was no minister of the gospel in this neighborhood to break unto them the bread of life. The people, therefore, chose one of their number, a pious layman, Tempelman by name, who officiated for them at the Swatara Church. In June, 1747, Rev. Michael Schlatter made a visit through this part of the country, and in his journal, speaking of this visit, we have the following notice of Rev. Conrad Tempelman: "Up to this time," says Mr. Schlatter, "these congregations have been served by a certain tailor from Heidelberg, named Tempelman, whom the people some twenty years ago urged to this service; they being willing to be instructed and comforted by a pious layman, rather than be wholly without the public service of God. This man, who is nearly sixty years of age, is reported of by the congregation as a man of correct views, quiet and peaceable in his spirit; by which he has won the love and respect of the community."* Tempelman lived about four miles east of Lebanon, where he had several preaching places. When he commenced preaching at Swatara Church is not known. By the church record we see that he baptized some of Daniel Shuey's children. Rev. Tempelman was reported stone blind, October 21, 1760. See Coetus, of Pennsylvania, page 192. Here, then, we see that the people were longing for a Christian communion with their God and with one another, showing that they brought with them true Christian principles from their fatherland. Swatara Church is entirely destroyed, and we are told that even the graveyard has been plowed over, and is now in a cultivated field, no traces of it being left.

When Daniel came to America and settled in Lancaster county, or what is now Lebanon county, he found by no means a very quiet and peaceable home. The country was then infested by the savage Indians, and although this part of the country was claimed by the white people, yet it was at a later date that the Indians signed over their title of the land to the Penns. At a council that was held in Philadelphia, on the eleventh of October, 1736, the Indians made a deed to John Penn, Thomas Penn, and Richard Penn, their heirs, successors, and assigns. The deed was signed by twenty-three Indian chiefs of the Onandaga, Seneca, Oneida, and Tuscarora nations, granting the Penns "all the said river Susquehanna, with the lands lying on both sides thereof, to extend eastward as far as the heads of the branches or springs, which run into the said Susquehanna," etc. This included the country where Daniel lived, as his farm was near the Swatara, a tributary of the Susquehanna.

We are not informed of any troubles with the Indians until the year 1754, when we find them on the war-path, slaughtering the innocent whites wherever they could reach them. Places of safety had to be secured, where the whites could assemble to protect themselves and families. Agriculture was neglected in many places, because it was not safe for people to be out. We read of some horrible murders that were committed at that time. Daniel Shuey's house was right in the midst of these troubles. The nearest fort to Daniel's house was Fort Swatara. Daniel's house was of itself a kind of fort, or at least a place where soldiers were stationed, as we learn from the following extract of a letter from Conrad Weiser to the governor of Pennsylvania.

Heidelberg, in Berks County, July 11th, 1756.

Honored Sir:—Immediately after my return from Philadelphia, I sent orders to the Captains Busse, Morgan and Smith to meet me at Fort Henry on the 9th inst. to consult together on certain measures how to oppose the enemy from killing the people in reaping and gathering in their harvest. The evening before 8th inst. Mr. Young arrived with your Honor's orders to me; I there fore set out next morning about 5 o'clock for Fort Henry, in company with Mr. Young, as far as Benj. Spyckers. I arrived at Fort Henry at 10 o'clock; Capt. Busse met me with an escort of eight men on horseback about six miles on this side of Fort Henry; about 11 o'clock Capt. Morgan and Smith arrived. I immediately made your Honor's orders known to them; and the disposition was made that eight men of Capt. Smith's company shall assist the people in the Hole (the place where murders have twice been committed) to gather in their harvest and stay over night in the Moravian House. Eight of his men are to range westward of his Fort under the Hill, and if occasion requires to be stationed in two parties to guard the reapers. Sixteen men are to be stationed in and about the fort, to help and protect the neighbors; but constantly ten out of the sixteen are to stay in the Fort; and six men are to range eastward from Manady towards Swatara; and six men to range Westward towards Susquehanna; each party is to advance so far, that they may reach their Fort again before night. Capt. Busse's company stationed as follows: ten men at Bernhard Tridel's next to the Moravians; eight men at Casper Snebelie's; six men at Daniel Shue's or Peter Klop's. . . .

I must mention to your Honor that when the people about Swatara and the Hole heard of Captain Smith's being accused for neglect of duty, they wrote a letter to me in his favor, which I sent by Sammy Weiser, who can translate it if your Honor orders him to it. I also sent a letter from Capt. Busse which contains the particulars of the last murder. I received it by the way coming from Philadelphia, and stopped the express, as it was only directed to me in order to save charges. . . .

Just this moment, my son Sammy arrived from Fort Henry and tells me that there had been an engagement at Caghnekacheeky, where twelve on our side were killed, and six Indians; that our people kept the field and scalped the Indians, and that the Indians ran off without any scalps. As bad news as it is, I wish it may be true. I have at present no more to trouble your honor with, but am,

Sir, your very obedient and humble servant,

Conrad Weiser.

We see here that the farmers were threatened with danger from every side. It was only by soldiers standing guard over them that they were enabled to gather their harvests. Daniel's name in the above letter is Shue. The different places mentioned in the letter are all familiar to the Shueys in Lebanon county. The place called the Hole is now called Monroe Valley, and is about six miles from where Daniel lived. The Moravian House is at the south side of the Little Mountain in Swatara township, near Bethel Church. Fort Smith was in Union township.

The author is in receipt of a letter from H. M. M. Richards, Litt.D., bearing date August 6, 1895, from which we quote. "I wish to thank you for your very interesting 'History of the Shuey Family,' duly received. I congratulate you on the success of your efforts. I am much interested in genealogical work myself and know just what obstacles have confronted you. I particularly noted your remarks about the part taken by your ancestor in the French and Indian War. I was appointed a commissioner by the governor of Pennsylvania, two years ago, to ascertain the location of forts used during this war and write their history. This I have done. My report is now in the hands of the State printer, and I trust will be found most interesting and valuable. Of these Fort Swatara, sometimes called Fort Smith after its commanding officer, was located (about three-fourths of a mile from Swatara Gap) on the property, at that time, 1755, of Peter Heydrich, which, in 1844, was owned by the widow, Elizabeth Shuey, and is now a part of the farm of Jacob Behney. The fort stood on the north bank of a creek, on the south bank is now the home of Jacob Behney, a brother of Joseph. It is just south of the old State Road from Swatara Gap to Manada Gap. Swatara Gap was then the great highway through the mountains and the savage held high revelry over the whole region. I think the reason none of your family lost their lives was because of their proximity to the fort."

These dreadful butcheries of the whites were continued for years; at least in 1764, ten years after they commenced, we find that Captain P. De Haas with eighteen men was stationed in Bethel township, Lebanon county, on account of the Indian troubles.

Those were fearful times for our first settlers, and we cannot now count the full extent of their troubles. Discouragement often stared them in the face. Before crossing the ocean their enemy was on account of their religious beliefs; now, when they thought they had found peaceful homes, other enemies sprung up who were lawless and sought the lives of peaceful citizens. It is difficult to see which enemy they feared the most; but the American enemy sought only to destroy the body, while the other, as the emigrants thought, would destroy both body and soul. This settling in the new world was struggling against the tide, and the fear of going under gave them new impulses to fight and to conquer. The pleasant homes which they had left across the sea often rose in imagination before their minds, which made their hearts ache; and they questioned themselves, was it wise to leave our mother country and get into such troubles here with the native Indians? We who enjoy the fruits of their labors forget what it cost them to secure this beautiful and good land for us.

According to Daniel Shuey's will, which is recorded in the office at Lancaster, Pennsylvania, bearing date May 8th, 1777, we find that Daniel had nine children. The names are as follows: Ludwig, Peter, Elizabeth, Daniel, John, Martin, Anna Margaret, Catharine, and Barbara.

Inasmuch as a part of this history depends on this will, we thought fit to transmit it in full to these pages, as transcribed from the public records in the office.

Mary Martha was the name of Daniel Shuey's wife. Son Ludwig Shuey had died prior to his father's death, as is seen by the date of his will. In part we followed the order of the names as given in the will in giving them at this place. Ludwig's name is given third, yet in the same connection it calls him "my eldest son."

It is not necessary to make any comments on Daniel Shuey's will, but simply call attention to the first part or introduction of the will. But few wills in our day contain such a full confession of faith of the one who is to depart from his family. It appears as if that were also something which he commits to the trust and confidence of his children. Not only are they to hold in possession his worldly goods, but also the faith in which he lived and died. And as if this was the most precious, it is the first mentioned in the testament. We presume this part of the will, as here recorded, will especially strike the reader as being very full.

The will is written in pure German, but the literal and correct translation is enclosed with the will in the office. The book record is made in German, and therefore our transcript is made from the translation which accompanies the will. It is recorded in Book C, page 474, in the Register's office in Lancaster, Pa.

Peter Hoofnagle, Register.

Be it Remembered that on the 21st day of May Anno Domini 1777, The last will and Testament of Daniel Shuey Sen. late of Bethel Township in the County of Lancaster, yeoman, deceased was proved in the form of Law, and Letters Testamentary thereon were granted to Martin Shuey and Martin Shuey, the Younger, the Executors therein named, they being first duly Qualified well and truly to administer the Estate of the decedent and to Exhibit a true and Perfect Inventory thereof into the Registers office at Lancaster on or before the Twenty first day of June next and to Render a true and Just Account of their Administration on the Said Estate when thereto lawfully Required. Given under Seal of the Said office.

Peter Hoofnagle, Register.

Recorded and examined with the original June 25th, 1777.

We see, therefore, that Daniel Shuey must have died after the 8th day of May, 1777, and prior to the 21st day of May, 1777. The exact date of his death was not ascertained.

Daniel lived to see the Declaration of Independence signed and proclaimed (the Centennial of which we celebrated in the year the first Shuey History was published), but he did not live to see peace restored to the land which he sought as a place of quietness and free from persecutions, when he crossed the wild ocean, and braved the rough sea and the raging waves. He endured many hardships in this new country, the fruits of which we reap and enjoy. Perhaps we are sometimes unthankful for these blessings, thinking little of what it cost others that we might enjoy this pleasant land and our peaceful homes. Surely one sows and another reaps.

They did not enjoy at that early period the conveniences of living which we now enjoy. Looking forward, we can scarcely imagine that as much progress can be made in the next one hundred and eighty years, or that there will be as much difference as has taken place in the last eighteen decades. Daniel Shuey's family lived in a very plain style, eating nothing but plain, common food. A fuller description of the mode of living at that time will be furnished under Ludwig Shuey's name.

The author has not been able to ascertain the place where Daniel Shuey was buried. It is more than likely that he was buried at Klopp's Church, for his son Ludwig and his wife, Christian and his wife and daughter Elizabeth are buried there as indicated by the tomb stones. Near these graves the author found sandstones marking certain graves, but the inscriptions are worn off and cannot be read. These may be markers for the graves of Daniel Shuey and wife. They believed in the resurrection of the dead. Peace to their ashes.

LUDWIG HEINRICH SHUEY

LUDWIG HEINRICH SHUEY (1) eldest son of Daniel Shuey, was born October 12th 1726, in some country beyond the sea. He was, therefore, nearly six years old when he, with his father, emigrated to America. He was just old enough to remember vividly the scenes and circumstances of his voyage across the Atlantic. At that time it usually took from three to nine months to make the trip; now it can be accomplished in six days. To be so long on the water, his youthful mind must have been filled with thrilling incidents of storms, and no doubt his children listened with breathless silence to his experience, which he was wont to relate to them on a long winter evening, when books and papers were seldom seen, and knowledge then was mostly derived from general conversation.

His younger years were spent on his father's farm. At about twenty years of age he married Elizabeth ———, and had eight children, viz: John Henry Shuey, John Martin Shuey, John Shuey, John Ludwig Shuey, Elizabeth Shuey, Christian Shuey, Catharine Shuey, and John Adam Shuey.

December 21st, 1761, Ludwig bought from his father 64¾ acres of land, it being a portion of the 268¾ acres which Daniel bought in 1753. This deed is recorded in Book G, page 411, in the Recorder's office in Lancaster. This deed gave the assurance that Ludwig Shuey was a son of Daniel Shuey. It reads as follows: "This Indenture made this 21st day of December, 1761, Between Daniel Shuey of Bethel township in the county of Lancaster and Province of Pennsylvania, yeomen, and Mary Martha his wife of the one part and Ludwick Shuey [son of said Daniel Shuey] of the township, county and Province aforesaid, yeoman, of the other part." This was a part of a tract of 5,000 acres granted to Thomas Penn, dated at London, May 18, 1732, to be under the yearly quit-rent of one shilling sterling for each 100 acres. It was assigned to Joseph Turner, merchant, of Philadelphia, at the same date: then assigned to William Allen, merchant, of Philadelphia, dated September 10th, 1735. William Allen and wife Margaret sold 268¾ acres to Daniel Shuey, May 1st, 1753. Daniel Shuey had this patented November 12th, 1753. Recorded in Philadelphia in Patent Book A, Vol. 17, page 496. Record made June 20, 1754. Ludwick paid 70 pounds to his father for the 64¾ acres. It is bounded north by lands of Peter Clups, east Michael Albright, south Daniel Shuey, west Ludwick Shuey's other lands. Deed signed August 21st, 1762. Peter Klob and Philip Mars-teller witnesses. Recorded by Edw. Shippen, November 17th, 1762.

This description shows that Ludwick had a farm prior to the buying of this one just named.

On November 13th, 1767, John Fox and Terringham Palmer, and other heirs of Joseph Fox of Polesworth, county of Warwick in Great Britain, granted a deed to Ludwig Shuey for a farm containing 277 acres, it being a part of a tract containing 1319 acres. Bounded north by lands of Terringham Palmer, east by a lot for a Calvinistic meeting-house and lands of Peter Smith, south by lands of Daniel Shuey and Ludwig Shuey's other land, west by lands of Jacob and David Pifley. This land was subject to a "yearly quit-rent of one English silver shilling." The price paid for this land was 692 pounds. Witnesses present, L. Weis and Richard Whitehead. Acknowledged before "Will Allen, Esq., Chief Justice of the Province of Pennsylvania." To this deed is a Brief of Title affixed, of which the following is an extract: "1681, October 21 and 22, William Penn to Geo. Fox of London, Gent., 1717, November 22, Surveyed to George Fox. 1730, April 20, John Taylor's actual survey of 1230 acres on Swatara creek. 1761, November 5, Indenture of Elizabeth Graham to Geo. Fox, Baker. December 18 and 20, 1762, Trustees of Geo. Fox to John Fox and Terringham Palmer. 1764, February 4, Affidavit & certificate by the Mayor of Leicester of the Pedigree of the said Trustees, deriving it from Geo. Fox the elder. 1765, January, 10, Affidavit & certificate by the Mayor of London and the Navy officers, of the decease of Geo. Fox on board a man-of-war both the foregoing certificates to be recorded. 1767, July 9th, Warrant to resurvey the same tract unto John Fox and Terringham Palmer. This deed is recorded in Book L, page 298, in the Recorder's office in Lancaster.

Thus we see that Ludwig was in possession of a good deal of property, especially real estate. This of course was not as valuable then as now; but comparing it with other things of that time, its value was proportionally just as great. Thus being in possession of different tracts of lands, he must have been an industrious farmer and an enterprising man of his age. We could not ascertain when or from whom he obtained his first farm. Nearly all those large and valuable farms around Hamlin, P. O., in Bethel township, Lebanon county, were at some time owned by the Shuey family. Almost all the houses on those farms are built close to fine springs of water. The country is very beautiful and picturesque, and would repay the trouble of any member of the Shuey family to make a visit to the neighborhood to see the country.

Ludwig was a member of the Reformed Church. This we know from several documents. Christopher Royer, Louis Shuey and Peter Smith, were the trustees of St. Paul's church in 1767. The church holds a patent deed in the name of these trustees for eight acres and forty-nine perches. This land was for the use of the "Protestant German Church or Congregation, called or known by the name of the Reformed Church, in Bethel Township, Lancaster County, Province of Pennsylvania." We also find in Swatara Church Record that he had some of his children (the elder three) baptized. If the Klopp's Church Records were complete, no doubt we could find the names of his other children among the list of baptisms. Ludwig lived and died in the Reformed faith, and brought up his family in the same hope and belief.

In different documents his name is given in different ways, viz.: Ludwick, Ludwig, Ludwich Heinrich, and Lewis, which is the English name for Ludwig. When he signed his own name, it is given Ludwig.

Tradition says that his family lived very plainly, as far as food and drink are concerned. They drank nothing but water and milk (sometimes garden tea), except Sunday morning, when they always had coffee. Meat was seldom eaten, and in their time it was considered something quite extra to have meat on the table. At dinner time only did they have meat, and then the father would cut it in small pieces, give each one in the family his allotted share, and with that they had to be satisfied. They did not have the privilege of eating as much meat as they desired, but merely the morsel which was given to them. During the greater part of the year they had hot mush and cold milk for supper, and in the morning cold mush and warm milk for breakfast. It would have been considered too extravagant to have the mush fried in fat, as it is now often prepared. Soup, also, of different kinds, was much used in his family. The plates from which they ate were made of pewter, and the cups from which they drank were some kind of earthen mug. They used no table-cloth. The father sat at one end of the table, the mother at the other end. The children stood, or sometimes sat along each side of the table, and ate their meals in silence; there was very little talking at the table. Each one ate what was place before him, and no murmuring was heard. They never partook of a meal without thanking God for their daily food, and asking a blessing. This duty belonged either to the father or to the mother. As soon as the children were old enough to understand its meaning, they were taught short prayers which they would pray in regular order, each one his particular and distinct prayer, commencing with the oldest and ending with the youngest. To many of the readers of this book this custom may appear strange, but we have great reverence for this Christian training and custom. We verily believed that this custom has been kept sacred and carried out by every generation of the Shuey family down to the present time. Our family strictly observed this custom until we children were grown up and left home. It has taught us a principle which we shall never forget as long as we may live. These short prayers were usually taken from the Bible. Reader, scoff not at this custom, practiced by our ancestor and handed down to us as a sacred memorial; rather introduce it in your family, and see whether it will not have a healthful influence on your children. You may not live to see the fruits, but it will be bread cast upon the waters, which thou shalt find after many days. This custom has been continued by the author's family.

No table cloth was used. No carpets graced the floor, but every Saturday they were made to assume a perfectly white and clean appearance, under the operation of water, white sand and broom. The furniture of the house was as simple and plain as their fare. Where seats could be placed stationary, large square blocks were used, as for instance on each side of the hearth. A stove was unknown then. Some benches were used for seats, and a few chairs, which were home-made; the seats plaited with broad, smooth-shaved slips of white-oak or hickory. Several beds and a few chests made up the principal part of the furniture.

Thus they lived in a plain and simple way, but were comfortable, and what is still better, well contented. Their peace and happiness however was considerably disturbed by a wild and savage tribe, viz, the Indians. No doubt these Indians were often wronged and unfairly dealt with, and they, being uncivilized, soon looked upon the whole race of "pale-faced men" as enemies, and were not slow in giving vent to their feelings whenever they came in contact with the white people. We have no direct source of knowledge of these Indian troubles at the particular place where the Shueys lived, but we have enough history of the county in close proximity to convince us that they did not escape these persecutions.

There were several forts near the Shuey farm, where the inhabitants used to assemble in order to protect themselves and their families.

Prof. I. D. Rupp, in his History of Lebanon county, says: "The inhabitants of this region of country were kept in continual alarm during the spring, summer, and autumn of this year (1757) on account of the murders committed by the Indians. One fails in the attempt to describe the perils of the frontier settlers at these times. The heart shrinks from portraying the scenes of horror; the barbarous murderers butchered the whites in the field—at their meals—in bed—at every unguarded hour. Who would not sicken to view, in imagination, scalps clotted with gored, mangled limbs, women ripped open, the heart and bowels still palpitating with life and smoking on the ground—see savages swilling, as it were, human blood, and imbibing a more courageous fury with the human draught—see the living, not captives, fleeing for life, while the Indians are in hot pursuit!" Many men were killed, and the children carried off to Canada. The farmer was obliged to carry a gun while he was plowing in the field; and even then many were killed without the least intimation of the approach of an enemy. During the Indian trouble, the men attended church with loaded guns and other defensive weapons. Of some pastors, it is said they were doubly armed; first by faith in the certain protection of an all-ruling Providence; second in their guns, which they had often with them in the pulpit. Many traditional accounts of these Indian troubles have been handed down to us, through our ancestors.

As far as we can learn, none of the members of the Shuey family suffered death at their hands. There are yet several buildings standing in the neighborhood which are pointed out to us as buildings of safety during that time; where no less than fifteen to twenty families occupied one house, in order to assist one another in keeping away the savages and to protect themselves and their children. Being obliged to do their cooking on the hearth, not all of the families could cook on the same day. Sometimes persons were shot by Indians in ambush while going from the house to the spring or to the barn. The dreadful state of affairs can easily be imagined by the reader. Our Indian troubles in the West have been as nothing in comparison to the trouble at that time. Now our frontiers are protected by a United States army; then frontier men had to rely on their own strength and power. The country was then under the control of England, and no army was held to drive back the marauders. Let the troubles of the past rest with the past. Let us not call to mind the dreadful calamities through which our ancestors had to pass.

The Indians had little idea where the white men came from, and probably this was one reason why they were so much opposed to them, and sought every opportunity to slay them. The Indians said that the white men came out of the earth beyond the sea, and should have remained there; that they came to rob them of their hunting grounds and make it more laborious to fish, and that disease was more frequent among them since the introduction of intoxicating liquors." We must acknowledge that there is a great deal of truth in the latter part of this sentence—that they often were robbed of their hunting grounds, and we believe too that intoxicating liquors bring on disease. Many superstitious stories were told about the Indians in Pennsylvania by unwise parents, and naughty children were quieted, who ever afterward were afraid to be out at night for fear the Indian will come up out of his grave and rob or scalp them. Many superstitious people declare that they have heard Indians shout or scream when out at night, who, if they would have taken time to think and examine, would have found the Indian to be nothing more than an owl or the wind howling through the trees. Indian arrow-heads have often been plowed up or found on the ground.

Ludwig Shuey was not actively engaged in the Revolutionary War, the end of which he was not permitted to see; but he was in full sympathy with it, and extended his aid in so far as he was able. We quote from history, which defines his position authentically:

"November 22d, 1774. The committee of this borough (Lancaster) met and the following hand-bill by them ordered to be printed, and sent to, and put up at all the public places in this county, viz.:

To the Freeholders and Electors of the County of Lancaster:

The committee for the borough of Lancaster, taking in their consideration the resolves and recommendations of the American Continental Congress, request that the freeholders and others qualified to vote for Representatives in Assembly for the county, would meet at the court-house, in Lancaster, on Thursday, the fifteenth day of December next, to choose by ballot sixty proper persons for a committee, to observe the conduct of all persons touching the general Association of the general Congress; which committee, it is proposed, when elected shall divide the county into different districts, and appoint members of the committee to superintend each district, and any six of the members so appointed for a district to be a quorum for transacting business.

"It will be necessary, previous to the general election, that each township shall elect a proper person to act as inspector, and receive the tickets of the electors on that day."*

On the said 15th day of December, in pursuance to the notice above mentioned, a general election was held at the borough of Lancaster, for this county, and the following persons were chosen as and for a part of the committee: from Bethel township, being a part of the 4th district, Ludwig Shuey, Casper Corr, and John Bishon.

Several meetings of this committee were held immediately after the election. At one of these meeting the following letter was received from the Committee on Correspondence of the City of Philadelphia, dated the 22d of December, 1774:

Gentlemen:—By order of the Committee of the City and Liberties of Philadelphia, we have the pleasure to transmit to you the following resolves, passed this day with great unanimity, viz.:

"That this committee think it absolutely necessary that the committees of the counties of this province, or such deputies as they may appoint for this purpose, be requested to meet together in provincial convention as soon as convenient.

"That it be recommended to the county committees to meet in said convention, on Monday, the 23d day of January next, in the city of Philadelphia."

From a view of the present situation of public affairs, the committee have been induced to propose this convention, that the sense of the province may be obtained; and that measures to be taken thereupon, may be the result of the united wisdom of the colony.

The obvious necessity of giving an immediate consideration to many matters of the greatest importance to the general welfare, will we hope, sufficiently apologize to you for naming so early a day as the 23d of January.

We are, gentlemen, respectfully,

Your humble servants, (Signed.)

*Rupp's History of Lebanon County, p. 389. Mombert's History of Lancaster County, p. 218. Rupp's History of Lancaster County, p. 383.

The following letter from the committee of correspondence of the county Berks was sent to the committee of Lancaster county, viz.:

Gentlemen:—Enclosed is an abstract from the proceedings of the committee of this county, by which you will see that deputies are appointed to attend the proposed provincial convention.

When we consider that our disputes are drawing fast to a crisis, and that the most cordial unanimity is absolutely necessary for our preservation, we cannot doubt but that your respectable committee will without hesitation appoint deputies to attend the provincial congress. The neglect of any one county may have the most fatal consequences. And we well know the pleasure it would give our enemies to see even the appearance of a disunion at this very important time.

The great consequence of this subject will, we hope, apologize for this freedom.

We are, gentlemen, with the greatest respect,

Your most obedient humble servants,

(Signed.)

Committee of Correspondence.

Reading, January 5, 1775.

At a meeting of the Committee of Inspection of the county of Lancaster, at the court-house in Lancaster, on the 14th day of January, 1775, Edward Shippen, was chosen chairman.

It was unanimously agreed that in case of any difference in sentiments, the question proposed to be determined by the members of the committee voting by townships.

A letter from the Committee of Correspondence of the City and Liberties of Philadelphia, and another letter from the Committee of Correspondence of Berks county, were then read; and it being put to vote whether this committee would appoint deputies to meet the other counties of this province in provincial convention, on Monday, the 23d January instant, the same was carried in the affirmative.

The vote in this instance was taken by townships. Bethel township, of whose committee Ludwig Shuey was a member and its chairman, voted in the affirmative.

The duties of this committee of sixty persons were various and manifold. In one instance, a man was brought before the committee charged with having a dancing-school, "which comes within the meaning of the eighth article of the Association of the Continental Congress, and the same ought, at the present, during the unhappy dispute with the mother country, to be discontinued." The gentleman referred to being sent for, waited upon the committee, and being informed of the sentiments of this committee, agreed and promised to break up and discontinue his said school.

At another time complaint was made to the Committee that a certain shop keeper had sold tea, contrary to the Association of the Continental Congress. He, too, was summoned to appear before the committee to answer to the charge.

In this way the committee had to keep watch over the people, and to observe the conduct of all persons living within its jurisdiction. This was at a very critical period of our national history, and we infer that Ludwig Shuey must have been one of the most prominent citizens of Bethel township or he would not have been placed at the head of this committee and intrusted with such responsible affairs. This was the last public act which Ludwig performed. Very soon after these actions had been taken by the committee, which we quoted, Ludwig passed away from an active and earthly life to a spiritual and heavenly. He did not live to see the land which he sought with his father when but a mere boy as a peaceful home, proclaimed free and independent. But he was anxious to have the country formed into a separate government, and he took what part he could to establish it. Sixteen months after his death, the Declaration of Independence was signed and proclaimed, the centennial of which was celebrated in 1876, and therefore we enlarged somewhat on this point in this history. The many noble needs which Ludwig did in life are not all recorded. He died on the 25th day of February, 1775, aged 48 years, 4 months and 13 days. His remains were interred in the graveyard at Klopp's church, where a heavy sand-stone marks his resting place. This stone furnished the information for this history, as to the birth and death of Ludwig Shuey. The letters are so much washed off from the stone by the rains of a hundred and more years that they have become illegible, and it was only by means of tracing them with the index finger that the author was enabled to make out the inscription, which is in the German language and reads as follows:

"Hier liegt in seiner ruhe der Leichman von Ludwig Heinrich Shüy. Geboren den 12d October, 1726. Gestorben Februar den 25, 1775. Alt 48 Yahre 4 Monat und 13 Tage."

On the side of his grave is found a marble headstone which indicates the grave of his wife Elizabeth Shuey, who was born April 20th, 1726, and died February 20th, 1792, aged 65 years and ten months.

Many of the facts recorded in the pages of this history were taken from the headstones of the graves of the departed ones of the Shuey family. It is a beautiful custom to have the remembrance of our dead marked in this prominent and permanent way, to be read and studied by their descendants a hundred years and more afterwards. This, in many cases, was the only record that could be found of certain individuals of the Shuey family.

Before Ludwig Shuey died, he made his last will and testament, and disposed of his earthly estates as will be shown in the following pages.

He makes mention in his will to have his children educated. He was also very particular in giving his wife sufficient for a good living. He enumerated every article that she was to have, and how much grain, etc., yearly. The will is here given to the reader in full as copied from a literal translation of the original copy, recorded in the Register's Office in Lancaster, Book C, page 274. Both the original Will and the literal translation from the German are on file in the office.

In the Name of God Amen.

I. JOHN HENRY SHUEY. (2).

John Henry Shuey, eldest son of Ludwig Shuey, was born March 9th, 1748, in Bethel township, Lancaster county, Pennsylvania. When but a few months old he was baptized in the Reformed Church and his baptism is recorded in the Swatara church book, with Henry Souder (single) and Anna Maria Stine (single) as sponsors. In his youth at the proper age he attended a course of catechetical instructions, and was confirmed a member of the Reformed Church. His younger days were spent with his father on the farm, and in consequence thereof he likewise became a farmer. His education was limited to such teaching as the common schools of that time afforded. He made the best of his opportunities, and received sufficient education to enable him to transact his business affairs correctly.

When he was grown up and of proper age, he joined himself in wedlock to a farmer's daughter, and soon afterwards moved to Hanover township, Lancaster county, afterwards Dauphin county, and now Lebanon county. Here he bought a tract of land from David Theiss for fifty pounds, on the 17th day of November, 1773. This was the one-eighth part of a tract containing three hundred acres. Finding this piece of land insufficient for his purpose, he bought the other seven-eighths part, on the 24th day of November, 1774, from Michael Theiss and his father, Ludwig Shuey, for six hundred pounds. A good part of this was woodland, but enough of farming land to give him sufficient employment.

Enterprise was Henry's watchword, and soon after coming into possession of this large quantity of land, he proceeded to erect a better dwelling house. In 1775 he built a substantial one-story log house on this land, on the bank of Shuey's creek. This house was built of heavy logs, and was afterwards rebuilt so as to make it two stories high instead of one. This second story was only added to the lower story, and this same house is still standing and in good repair, though 144 years old, on the farm later owned by E. B. Shuey, a great grandson of Henry Shuey. Buying such a large farm and building a new house was considerable of a burden to carry for a beginner; but by his perseverance he soon cleared himself of this debt, and already on the 7th of November, 1794, we find him buying another tract containing one hundred acres, situated in Upper Paxton township, Dauphin county, for thirty pounds in gold or silver, as the deed says. This was at the rate of about $1.50 an acre. This last tract he bought from John Stahlman, and the deed represents it as lying on "both sides of the Wickinisky Creek." Henry must have considered November a good month for buying land; as will be noticed, these three pieces were bought in this month.

Not satisfied with what he had here accumulated, he bought another tract on the 27th of February, 1795, containing fifteen and a half acres, from Mathias Henning, for one hundred and twenty-five pounds. This tract joins his other land on the north-east. Again, on the 9th of April, 1803, he bought a farm of eighty acres from Conrad Roth, for six hundred and fifty pounds. This last farm latterly belonged to Henry Shuey, near Ranks-town, and later was owned by Ephraim Shuey. He also purchased several smaller tracts adjoining this farm. Thus Henry had accumulated sufficient property to give his children a start in life.

In the first Shuey history it is stated that Henry Shuey was not a military man and took no part in the Revolutionary War. The author sincerely regrets that he had not investigated official records at that time. In the revision and investigation for this book a very pleasing discovery was made. He was indeed a military man and not only took interest in the war for freedom but gave his personal service. This is verified by the following official certificate.

This military spirit has been perpetuated in the descendants of Henry Shuey in a direct line through five generations, each generation rendering valuable military service. Notwithstanding this record no family can be found that loves peace more intensely than the Shuey family.

Henry was a very energetic man, and as a result of his industrious habits he became possessed of a great deal of property. He was an excellent farmer, and gave his sons a thorough training in that particular pursuit. His sons became farmers after him, and a large number of their descendants, to this day, are engaged in the same pursuit.

When Henry moved to Hanover township, there was an old house standing on the farm which he bought (afterwards owned by E. B. Shuey,) which they occupied until the new house was built. This house stood several hundred yards south of the present house, a little to the east of the lane, near a large ash tree. The place where the bake-oven stood is still recognized when the ground is freshly plowed, from the fact that the ground is very black, being mixed with charcoal. A little below this place is a small spring which is not now used. It is said that a spring-house stood over this spring. A tree stood just above the spring, and the author well remembers the stump of that tree, around which we children used to play. No trace of it is left now. The farm houses, formerly, were all built near the creek, and this old farm house stood only a few yards from the creek. The house which he built likewise stands just above the bank of the creek. This is called Shuey's Creek, and after it leaves the Shuey lands it unites with Walmer's Creek and forms Reed's Creek, which flows into the Swatara a little above Harpers and then empties into the Susquehanna river at Middletown, Pa.

This house which Henry built has become a place of some significance, inasmuch as it is the birth-place and the residence in early life not only of his children, but also of his grand-children and great-grandchildren. It is the place where the writer of this history was born and passed his early life, and it has thus become a place of such endearment that the reader will pardon this description of it at some length. The heavy logs with which the house was built attract the attention of all who visit the place. The roof is very high in the middle, and the rafters are heavy timbers. Before it was rebuilt the house had a small roof about three feet wide all around the building, between the first and second floor windows, according to the style of those days. This was attached when it was made two stories high. There was a very large chimney in the middle of the house, built of rough mountain stone, which took away about one-eighth of the space of the house. The partitions in the house were all made of boards, nicely panelled, the same as the doors are usually made. It has since been weather-boarded and painted, the partitions and large chimney torn out and others put in, the floors relaid, the rooms changed, and nothing is left but the external form of the original house, which has now served a full century and a half, and is of sufficient strength to last another fifty years. This place was formerly called "Shewey's Bower," according to some records, and it has held the name Shuey more than one hundred and fifty years, and it will be a regret to many that it has lately lost that name. There are many hallowed scenes and associations connected with this place, which are held in sacred remembrance by more than one who has been permitted to enjoy the sheltering roof of the "old homestead."

The descendants of John Henry Shuey now number thousands of persons, all of whom can lay claim to this house as their paternal protector against winds and storms, cold and heat, rain and sunshine, and they no doubt regard it as a monument of the activity and perseverance of their ancestor. It has also become a house of justice, where many a strife has been brought to a close, at least in actions if not in the minds of the different opposing parties. It has likewise been the scene of gala days, where "two hearts that beat like one and two souls with but one thought" have been legally declared one, according to the right which is vested in the office of Justice of the Peace, by the authority of the State of Pennsylvania.

Henry Shuey married Barbara Tice, about the year 1770, and then reared a large family, having in all twelve children, who all grew up with the exception of one. The names of the children are as follows: Elizabeth, Henry, Barbara, Ludwig Maria, Christiana, Eve, Catharine, Christian, David, John and Margaret.

Being possessed of a good deal of land, he had work for all his children, and thus could keep them together while they were being educated and taught how to work, so that they could make a living by honest toil. He was a religious man, and brought up his children in the fear of the Lord. He was a strict member of the Reformed Church, and worshiped in Walmer's church, where he, at different times, held offices in said church. He died a comparatively young man having fallen asleep in Jesus on the 15th day of October, 1804, aged 56 years, 7 months and 6 days.

His remains were interred in the graveyard at Walmer's church, where a headstone marks the place.

His wife, Barbara Shuey, survived him by ten years, she having died June 8th, 1814, at the age of 65 years, 7 months and 15 days. She is buried beside her husband and her grave is also marked by a headstone.

I. Anna Elizabeth Shuey. (3)

Eldest daughter of Henry Shuey, was born October 6th, 1771. In 1775, when the new house was finished, Elizabeth was so delighted that she ran through the whole house, hardly knowing how to contain herself. She died soon afterwards, exact date not known. She is buried in Walmer's church graveyard.

II. John Henry Shuey (3)

Was born January 17th, 1773. He was baptized soon after in Walmer's Reformed Church. His sponsors were Martin Shuey and wife. It might be well to state here that formerly the children were always brought into the church, and baptized there. This was significant of their induction into the church, and by the act of baptism they became members of the church. They also had sponsors at that time, who promised to assist the parents in bringing up the child in nurture and the admonition of the Lord. In most cases the child was named after one of the sponsors. Henry was a farmer all his life-time, and lived near Bordner's store, on the farm afterwards owned by Levi Bixler, in Union township, Lebanon county, then Hanover township, Dauphin county, Pa. He was somewhat of a military man, and the militia used to drill at his house. His name is also found on the Muster Roll of the War of 1812-14.

The official record shows that Henry Shuey was a Private in Captain Abraham Stine's company, 117th Regiment, First Brigade, Sixth Division, taken for August 8, 1814, Jonestown. See page 386, Volume 7, Pennsylvania Archives, Sixth Series.

He married Mrs. Barbara Miller, a daughter of Andrew Gerberich. They had six children, viz:—Barbara, Eve, Henry, George, Elizabeth and Rebecca. After her death he married Elizabeth Bender, who bore him five children, viz:—Catharine, David, Jacob, Thomas and Magdalena. At this time their nearest market for grain and produce was Philadelphia. With a large team and several farmers in company they would start on a Monday morning, drive to Philadelphia sell out and return home, requiring a full week, to Saturday evening, to make a single trip. Now we can leave home in the morning, go to Philadelphia, transact considerable business, and return the same day. Henry was making one of his trips to Philadelphia during the latter part of October, 1828, and while stopping at a hotel at the Trappe, in Montgomery county, he was seized with a fit of coughing, and died from what was supposed to be an internal rupture. His body was brought home and buried in Walmer's church graveyard, but no tombstone marks his grave. His age was 55 years, 9 months and 6 days. He died October 23d, 1828. He was a useful man in his time, and was highly respected by his neighbors. He was always ready to assist them when necessity required it, and thus had the good will of the community in which he lived. As a farmer he was successful, but on account of his generosity, and his good will to others he never became possessed of much property. Having reared a large family, he could not do much more than give each one a start in business.

Lebanon county, Pennsylvania, was organized February 16, 1813, taken from the eastern portion of Dauphin county, which was formerly the northern part of Lancaster county which is rich in early history, and is often mentioned in this book. In 1817, Peter Gloninger, Henry Shuey and Daniel Henning, commissioners of Lebanon county, purchased a lot in the town of Lebanon from Philip Greenwalt, and upon this lot a substantial Court House was erected which is still used as the seat of justice. In the vaults of the county office in this building the author had access to many of the old records mentioned in this book. The fact that Henry Shuey was one of the county commissioners proves that he was one of the prominent men of the county during its organizing period.

IX—Christian Shuey (3)

The third son of Henry Shuey, was born September 17, 1784. He remained on the farm with his father until he was grown. His father died when Christian was twenty years old. He was a member of the Reformed Church. He married Maria Magdalena Heilman, of Heilman Dale, and commenced farming on the old homestead, which he had purchased. He was better educated than the majority of his neighbors and soon became a prominent man in his community. He was captain of a militia company, which was called into active service, for a short time in the war of 1812-1814. In answer to an inquiry the following abstract of a letter says, "Pennsylvania, State Library, Harrisburg, Pa., March 4, 1917, Christian Shuey was a Captain in the 117th Regiment, First Brigade, Sixth Division, Pennsylvania Militia, service rendered in September, 1814. H. H. Shenk, Custodian of the Public Records." The author's grandmother often said that her husband's company was called out for actual service, that he marched his men as far as York, Pa., (there being no railroads at that time) on their way to Baltimore, but after remaining a short time at York they were ordered home as their further services were not needed.

On Friday, May 23, 1919 the author spent some time in the Public Library of Pennsylvania at Harrisburg. He received additional information through H. H. Shenk, Custodian of Public Records.

Shuey Captain.—"Statement of Expenditures by Christian Spayd, Inspector 1st Brigade, 6th Division for the pay of sundry officers of his brigade for notifying the drafted militia to march to the place of rendezvous under the general orders of the Governor, 1814, Captain Shuey—$5.00. "See pages 864,915, Volume Nine, Pennsylvania Archives, Sixth Series.

Also—Captain Christian Shuey, Captain of the Second draft, 117th Regiment, First Brigade, Sixth Division, Jonestown, August 8, 1814. See page 386 Volume Seven, Pennsylvania Archives, Sixth Series.

Also Captain Christian Shuey received $16.00 pay for 12 days service in the 117 Regiment, in September 1814. See page 866, Volume 9 Pennsylvania Archives, Sixth Series.

On the 17th of September, 1823, Governor Joseph Hiester appointed him Justice of the Peace, which office he held for twenty years, and was in office when he died. At this early period, the office was by appointment; but when it was made an elective office, he was elected to said office by the voters of his township. He was familiarly known as 'Squire Shuey. Many a strife between neighbors was settled and peace restored in his office, among those who could not adjust their difficulties themselves. He was fond of entertaining company and his house was seldom without guests. He had a large circle of friends, who found pleasure in being in his company. His noble wife was fully capable to do her part to make strangers welcome. She was affable, kind, and well adapted for entertaining company. He was a Republican, or Federal as they were then called, and took an active part in politics. He was a useful man in society, and many a neighbor turned to him for advice. He was greatly esteemed by his neighbors, and they manifested their respect for him in a very substantial way. Being away from home, he met with an accident in mounting his horse, which resulted in breaking his leg. As soon as he was somewhat recovered, and was able to be removed, his neighbors evinced their regard for him by actually carrying him home on a litter, a distance of six miles. In 1815 he built a new barn on the old homestead, and he also rebuilt the house which his father had built. Both of these buildings are in good condition and in constant use in this year 1919. He had several other tracts of land, and was in good financial circumstances. He was a member of the Grand Jury of Lebanon county, August 5, 1839, as was also his brother David Shuey, and likewise Peter Bashore, the author's grandfather on his mother's side. At the same session of court, John Shuey, another brother was a member of the Traverse Jury. Christian was a faithful member of the Reformed Church and at different times held office in Walmer's church. They had six children:—John H., Elizabeth, Catharine, Amos, Adam and Sarah.

The will of Christian Shuey, bearing date August 23, 1840, Will Book C, page 24, in the office in Lebanon, states that he charges his son Amos $5,000 for the plantation containing 185 acres, of which sum Amos can retain $2,000 for his share. This $2,000 perhaps was intended to cover the following provision. Christian's wife shall have the use of the two east lower rooms and the southeast upper room in the house. Also room in the cellar, spring-house and garden; one cow and feed for the same, 12 bushels of good, clean wheat, 5 bushels rye, 5 bushels Indian corn, 200 pounds good, fresh pork, 100 pounds good beef of the hind quarter, 4 pounds good, clean wool, 4 gallons good apple-butter and as many potatoes and apples as she may want. These things were to be given yearly to her. If his wife becomes sick or infirm, then Amos is to procure her a good and careful maid who will be able and willing to nurse her and do her work well. Also gives his wife $500 in cash. The executors are to sell all other real estate, personal and mixed property and the estate is then to be equally divided between the five children: John H. Shuey, Amos Shuey, Catharine Long, Adam Shuey and Sarah Shuey. The signing of the will was witnessed by Thomas Gerberich and Jacob Weidle. This was ample provision for his wife after his death, but in making this will Christian did not anticipate that his son Amos would die within ten years, while his widow would continue to live about 20 years longer. But the terms of this will were faithfully carried out by the widow of Amos Shuey while she occupied the farm as a renter, and then by the two sons, Ephraim and Edward, who purchased the farm, according to appraisement, when they became of age. All of these supplies were not needed by the widow but she sold such portion not used and accumulated the funds not otherwise needed. The earthly career of Christian Shuey was ended on the 21st of September, 1843. He died in peace at the age of 59 years and 4 days. His remains and of his wife were buried in the Walmer's Church old graveyard.

Mrs. Shuey sprang from a real German family whose family history has been traced back several centuries. Her grandfather, Hans Adam Heylman, arrived in Philadelphia, Sept. 9, 1738, in the Ship Snow Two Sisters, James Marshall, Master, from Rotterdam, last from Cowes. He settled in Lebanon county, Pa., in what was later called Heilman Dale. Here he died, Sept. 25, 1770. He had one son, John Adam Heilman, born Aug. 2, 1745 (old style). The author is in receipt of a letter dated March 29, 1917, from H. H. Shenk, Custodian of the Public Records of Pennsylvania, in which he says: "Referring to your letter, I take pleasure in saying that Adam Heilman, sometimes John Adam Heilman and sometimes Heylman, was a soldier of the American Revolution. There is in existence a copy of his Second Lieutenant's Commission, bearing date of August 28, 1775, and with this statement signed by him fifty years afterward, as translated from the German, 'This August, 1826, it is fifty years since I was a soldier in New York, helping to bring about our freedom.' I cannot tell where the original is. I have a fac-simile copy before me." Dr. S. P. Heilman, Secretary of the Lebanon County Historical Society, and a grandnephew of Mrs. Shuey, says in a letter to the author, that John Adam Heilman (the immigrant) was born Nov. 20, 1715, who was a son of John Jacob Heylman, born Oct. 24, 1684, whose father, Hans (John) Dietrich Heylman, was born March 4, 1664, and whose father, also named Hans Dietrich Heylman, was born in 1610. He says he has this information from original sources in Zutzenhausen, where the original Heylman lived before coming to America.

Mrs. Shuey's father, John Adam Heilman, married Catharine, daughter of Peter and Barbara Schmidt, whose maiden name was Lobengut, on January 22, 1771. They had eight sons and five daughters. He died October 4, 1827, aged 82 years, 1 month and 20 days. This family is somewhat remarkable on account of arriving at a good old age, and we therefore insert the names and give the dates; one of the members of the family being Mrs. Shuey, the author's grandmother. John Adam Heilman, born October 4, 1771, died March 30, 1833, aged 61 years, 5 months and 26 days; John Heilman, born Aug. 4, 1773, died April 4, 1833, aged 59 years and 8 months; Anna Christina, married to Henry Miller, born Feb. 11, 1775, died Sept. 14, 1866, aged 91 years, 7 months and 3 days; Anna Catharine, married to Henry Mays, born Sept. 23, 1777, died Dec. 6, 1840, aged 63 years, 2 months and 13 days; John Henry, born Aug. 19, 1779, died Nov. 11, 1867, aged 88 years, 2 months and 21 days; John Jacob, born Oct. 8, 1780, died Feb. 17, 1842, aged 61 years, 4 months and 9 days; John Philip, born Dec. 28, 1781, died July 29, 1856, aged 74 years, 7 months and 1 day; Sabina, married to Valentine Mays, born Feb. 6, 1783, died April 29, 1871, aged 88 years, 2 months and 23 days; Maria Magdalena, married to Christian Shuey, born June 15, 1789, died Sept. 14, 1870, aged 81 years, 2 months and 30 days. Taking now the ages of the parents and the children here mentioned, we have an average for these 11 persons of 73 years, 6 months and 26 days. It is doubtful whether another such family existed. Four of the children are not mentioned here, who died young, and the dates are not at hand. Another peculiarity of the family is that each of the male persons bears the name John. The old family Bible of John Adam Heilman, in which are recorded very accurately the births of the children, even mentioning the hour of birth, descended to the youngest child, Mrs. Shuey, and is now in the possession of the author of this volume. It is more than one hundred and fifty years old.

This Bible was printed in Nuernberg in 1765. It is substantially bound in vellum on boards nearly half an inch thick, with brass corners and clasps. It is fifteen and one-fourth inches long, ten inches wide and four and one-half inches thick. It contains 1,181 pages of the Bible proper and 120 pages of other reading matter, a total of 1,301 pages, and weighs thirteen pounds. Its title page is in two-color type. It is fully illustrated with copper plate pictures, which are quite elaborate. It contains an alphabetical register of "the foremost faith and life-points of christian instruction." Also a chronological table of principal events recorded in the Old and New Testament. A register of the history and meaning of biblical names. A concordance of the prominent sayings of Moses and the prophets used by Christ and the Apostles in the New Testament. A history with the pictures of the princes, mostly of Saxony, who promulgated and protected the true faith, notwithstanding persecutions. It also contains the apocryphal books in full. This large Bible, Grandmother Shuey read through many times during her life; especially in her latter years it was her constant companion in her devotions.

1. John Heilman Shuey (4), was born Feb. 23, 1809. He was baptized on the 31st of May, 1809. His younger years were spent on his father's farm, but he made good use of his time while at school. He studied surveying in Harrisburg, taking great delight and interest in this subject, and for the sake of practice he surveyed every field on the old homestead and farm. He bought a store in Jonestown, and commenced general merchandising business, which, owing to his inexperience, proved unsuccessful. Feeling that his prospect for success in the future was not the best, he concluded to go west. At that time all traveling was by stage coach. He went to the southern part of Ohio, and settled at Hamilton, in Butler county. Ohio was then a new country, and was spoken of as "away out west." Here he entered a store as clerk, then became clerk in a bank, and thus continued to rise until he had a store of his own. Later he sold out and bought one-half interest in a paper mill in Hamilton, in which business he continued successfully until the Civil War, when he sold out. On December 17, 1840, he married Elizabeth Mayhew, a woman of culture, and four children were born: Anna, William, Alfred and Ellen. To afford them a better opportunity of acquiring an education, he left Hamilton and moved to Oxford, where three colleges were located. He was one of the founders of the Western Female Seminary, now the Western College, at Oxford. When this institution was destroyed by fire it was supposed that on account of financial embarrassment it could not again be rebuilt; but, as their next catalogue stated, it was through the energy of Mr. Shuey that the institution was again built up.

At a meeting of the Directors of the Second National Bank of Hamilton, and without first consulting him, Mr. Shuey was elected its cashier. He accepted this position, and drove to Hamilton every morning. He was considered one of the best penmen in the southern part of Ohio.

As Mrs. Shuey, an invalid, desired to move to a healthier climate, Mr. Shuey resigned his position as cashier of the bank in the spring of 1866, sold his fine property in Oxford, which was opposite Miami University, and moved with his family to Minneapolis. Here he built himself a fine residence on Tenth Street, but before it was quite completed, Mrs. Shuey died.

Mr. Shuey was a member of the Reformed Church in Pennsylvania; but when he came to Hamilton, and found no Reformed Church, he connected himself with the Presbyterian Church. After they moved to Minneapolis, they became members of the Congregational Church. He was a strict churchman, and reared a Christian family. He was highly esteemed by all who knew him. After an illness of but a few days, he died August 2, 1868, at the age of 59 years, 5 months and 10 days. He lies buried in the beautiful cemetery on the banks of Lake Calhoun at Minneapolis, beside his wife.

1. Anna Bodman Shuey (5) was born January 14, 1842. She was educated at the Western Female Seminary at Oxford, Ohio. On June 9, 1859, she was married to Dr. John L. Reynolds, making their home in Minneapolis after a short residence in Oxford, Ohio, and Knightstown, Ind. They had two children, Alice (6) now Mrs. Alice R. Hush, and Bertie (6) who died in infancy. Dr. Reynolds died soon after their removal to Minneapolis, where his widow is now living. She has for many years been a member of Plymouth Congregational Church.

2. William Henry Shuey (5) was born August 12, 1844, at Hamilton, Ohio. He was educated at Williston Seminary, East Hampton, Mass., and at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio. He served in the Civil War as First Sergeant in Company A, 86th Regiment, Ohio Volunteer Infantry.

On December 5, 1865, he married Eleanor Baxter Sanders, of Northampton, Mass., removing directly to Minneapolis, where they had three children, Elizabeth, Agnes, and Albert. Mrs. Shuey died January 10, 1872. Mr. Shuey was a partner in the firm of Barnard and Shuey, furniture manufacturers, Minneapolis, until the destruction of their factory by fire, March 5, 1872, after which he resided in St. Paul and New York City, locating in Chicago, December 6, 1886, where he now resides in the suburban village of Oak Park.

Immediately upon his arrival in Chicago he assumed the business management of the Railway Age, now the Railway Age Gazette, the most important railway journal published, from the active work of which he retired July 1, 1908.

During the winter of 1909-10 Mr. Shuey made a tour around the world, starting east from New York and returning by way of San Francisco, visiting the important cities of Italy, Egypt, India, Ceylon, Burma, Java, Borneo, Philippine Islands, China, Japan, and Hawaii.

He is a member of the First Congregational Church of Oak Park, where he is in charge of the music, having what is conceded to be one of the best, if not the very best, quartet choirs in Chicago and suburbs.

1. Elizabeth Mayhew Shuey (6) was born Oct. 6, 1867. She was educated at Mount Holyoke College, Mass., and at St. Mary's Hall, Faribault, Minn. She also graduated at the Library School of Armour Institute, Chicago, in 1896. On July 6, 1898, she was married to William John Southward, of Chicago, where they now reside. They have one child, William Shuey Southward (7), who was born June 7, 1906.

2. Agnes Shuey (6) was born June 30, 1869, and died March 30, 1870, aged 9 months.

3. Albert David Shuey (6) was born August 10, 1871, and died September 7, 1872, aged 1 year and 28 days.

3. Alfred Mayhew Shuey (5) was born April 9, 1847. He graduated at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, in the class of 1866. He was engaged in the Civil War in 1864 as a member of Company A, 167th Regiment, O. V. I., as musician. On the 28th of April, 1868, he married Cornelia E. Knowlton, of Worcester, Mass. They have two children, viz: Fanny and Florence. He is an excellent musician and is an accomplished organist, having served as organist and choir director for twenty-eight years in Minneapolis churches, occupying one position as organist and director at St. Mark's Episcopal Church for twenty years, during which time this church was noted for its fine music. He is engaged in the pipe organ business in Minneapolis, Minn., and has given hundreds of organ recitals in that city and the Northwest. The press notices speak very highly of his ability in these recitals. He is called the dean of Minneapolis musicians, being the oldest in service of those now in the city, it being a period of fifty years. He is a composer of national reputation, and a long list of his compositions are published and in use all over the United States. They comprise mostly music for choir and organ. He plays the violin, viola, cornet, French horn, and organ, but the last-named instrument is his favorite. He is an unusual combination of business man and musician, and has been quite successful in both.

He is very prominent in Masonry and is a member of all the Masonic bodies. He is the author of a display drill book which has a very ready sale.

1. Fannie Shuey (6), born March 2, 1869. Married to Birney E. Trask, Aug. 15, 1895. Residence, Minneapolis, Minn.

1. Alfred Mayhew Shuey Trask (7), born May 22, 1901.

2. Florence Elizabeth Shuey (6) born Dec. 29, 1870. Married John C. VanDeWater, June 21, 1892. Mr. VanDeWater died Dec. 1, 1912. She has a beautiful home in Flushing, New York. She spends part of her time in Minneapolis.

1. Cornelia Knowlton VanDeWater (7), born April 16, 1895.

2. John Burtis VanDeWater (7), born May 30, 1902.

4. Ellen Elizabeth Shuey (5) was born Sept. 2, 1849, at Hamilton, Ohio. She was educated at the Western Female Seminary, now the Western College, at Oxford, Ohio, and removed with her parents to Minneapolis in the spring of 1866. On April 15, 1873, she was married to Charles Amos Merrill, an attorney-at-law in Worcester, Mass., where she now resides. Mr. Merrill died April 30, 1907.

A member of a musical family, Mrs. Merrill early developed a voice of unusual sweetness and purity and for many years she was regarded as the leading soprano in the cities in which she lived. Her musical activities have been confined principally to church choirs and oratorios and it is said of her that never has she refused to use her God-given talents for charity. She is an active member of the Episcopal Church.

2. Amos Shuey (4) was born Aug. 17, 1815, and was baptized on the first of October, 1815, with Henry and Elizabeth Shuey as sponsors. His younger years were spent on his father's farm and he made farming his occupation. He married, Jan. 25, 1838, Anna Maria Boeshore, daughter of Peter Boeshore, of Swatara township, born Nov. 1, 1790. Died Nov. 4, 1849, who served in the War of 1812-1814, and his wife, Maria Schaeffer Boeshore, born April 21, 1790. Died May 6, 1859. Mrs. Shuey also was of French Huguenot descent. Probably her ancestor was George Bashore, who settled in Bethel township, Berks county, prior to 1738. Prof. I. D. Rupp, who was a descendent of this family, says the name Bashore is a corruption of Le Baiseur. They had nine children: Ephraim, Edward, Anson, Eliza, Dennis, Allen, Jacob, an infant, and Anna Maria. He rented the old homestead from his father and afterwards bought the farm. He likewise was the owner of several other tracts of land, and also of more than three hundred acres of woodland on the south side of the Blue Mountain. Though he had attained but a limited education, yet he was usually chosen the secretary of any meeting held for public interest in the community. He desired that his children should be educated, and all but one became school teachers. He was a faithful member of the Reformed Church and held different offices in said church, and when the new Walmer's Church was erected in 1850 he held the office of treasurer. He was one of the organizers, in October, 1843, of the first Sunday school in Walmer's Church, which was organized with but thirteen present the first Sunday, both Mr. and Mrs. Shuey being of that number. Like his father, he was also a military man, and was captain of a company of the State Militia. This military feeling and disposition was also inherited by his children and grandchildren, as will be noticed in their history.

Copy of the original Commission of Captain Amos Shuey, in the possession of the author of this history.

TO HAVE AND TO HOLD this commission, exercising all the powers and discharging all the duties thereunto lawfully belonging and attached, until the third day of August, one thousand eight hundred and forty-nine, if you shall so long behave yourself well, and perform the duties required by law.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have set my hand and caused the Less Seal of the State to be affixed to these presents, at Harrisburg, dated agreeably to law, the third day of August in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and forty-two, and of the Commonwealth, the sixty-seventh.

BY THE GOVERNOR:

David R. Porter,
(SEAL)

A. C. Parsons,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Having taken a severe cold, he contracted a bronchial affection which medical skill could not cure, and after several years' suffering, he died on February 1, 1853, at the age of 37 years, 6 months, and 4 days. Buried in the cemetery at Walmer's Church.

1. Ephraim B. Shuey (5) was born Jan. 1, 1839; baptized Jan. 24, 1839, sponsors, Joseph Long and wife. His younger years were spent on the farm, but he afterwards learned the blacksmithing and horseshoeing trade. He also taught school. At his becoming of age, the old homestead farm was divided, and he took that part containing the buildings, at the appraisement price. He thus became possessor of the old homestead. At the first township election, after he was twenty-one years old, without being a candidate, he was elected Justice of the Peace, to which office he was re-elected as long as he lived. At an election held during his service in the army, another man was elected to take his place in this office; but when application was made to Governor Curtin for a commission, he replied, "there is no vacancy on account of his being in the army." He carried on the farm, worked some at his trade, and attended to the duties of his office, all at the same time. He was a member of a militia company in Jonestown, prior to the war. During the Civil War, when more troops were required and a draft was made, his name was drawn on Nov. 25, 1863. Although three of his brothers were then serving in the army, he preferred not to avail himself of the privilege of paying $300, which could then be done, to be excused from service, he concluded to serve his country in person, and was mustered into the United States service in December of said year, and became a member of Company H, 104th Regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteers. He was shot through the shoulder at the battle of Cedar Creek, Va., on the 19th of October, 1864. This was on the morning of Sheridan's memorable ride of twenty miles from Winchester, Va. After the war had closed he was mustered out with the regiment on August 25, 1865. He married Sarah A. Hinterleiter, of Kutztown, Berks county, Pa., on the 18th day of October, 1866. He was a member of the Reformed Church and served as deacon and elder in Walmer's Church, and had been sent as delegate from Lebanon classis to two synods and the General Synod which met in Ft. Wayne, Ind., in 1875. He was secretary and for several years superintendent of Walmer's Sunday school. They had no children. Susan Hinterleiter, a niece of Mrs. Shuey, came to live with them and remained with them a number of years. She was married to Dr. Daniel P. Gerberich, who was prominent as a physician and politician, and was a member of the Pennsylvania State Senate and its presiding officer one term, residing in Lebanon, Pa. Ephraim was a useful man and wrote nearly all of the deeds and mortgages and other legal papers for the people of his community. He died Dec. 19, 1889, at the age of 50 years, 11 months and 12 days. Buried in the cemetery at Walmer's Church.

2. Edward Shuey (5) was born Jan. 22, 1841, and baptized Feb. 21, 1841. Christian Shuey and wife were the sponsors. His younger days were spent on the farm. He then learned the wheelwright and wagon-maker's trade, which he followed to a certain extent, in connection with his farming. When the war broke out he tendered his services, and enlisted on the 23d of September, 1861, and became a member of Company F, 97th Regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteers. He went with the second expedition south, and for more than two years they were stationed on the islands near Charleston, S. C. He served full three years, and was mustered out of service, Oct. 3, 1864, having escaped all harm and injury, though several bullets came very near, one shattering his musket in his hand, and another touched his cap on his head. He took part of the land of the old homestead, and put up new buildings near Walmer's Church. He married Fianna De Long, of Bowers, Berks county, Pa., and had three children, viz: Annie, Ida, and Andora. His wife having died he married Mrs. Rosanna Miller, nee Boyer, and the following children were born to them: Bertha May, Ephraim Garfield, Calvin Harrison, John Amos, Carrie Maria and Irwin Blain. He always took a very active part in politics as a Republican. On Nov. 6, 1869, he was elected assessor and tax collector in Union township, which office he held four years and was later elected school director, in which capacity he served twelve years. In 1883 he was elected trustee and treasurer of Salem Cemetery association, continued in office to the time of his death. In 1895 he took part in organizing the agricultural society of Lebanon county and was one of the vice-presidents for fifteen years. In 1904 he was appointed by the Deputy Secretary of Agriculture of Pennsylvania, chairman of county institutes of Lebanon county, which position he held to the time of his death. On January 15, 1916, he was elected a member of the State Board of Agriculture for three years. In 1905, he was elected to the office of Register of Wills for Lebanon County, for three years. In 1909 he was elected Road Supervisor for three years. Politics often causes a man to forget his religious duties, but not so with him. In 1865, he was elected Librarian of Walmer's Sunday school, which office he held until 1890, when he was elected secretary and was an efficient officer in the same Sunday school for fifty-four years in succession. When Lebanon county was divided into ten districts for Sunday-school convention purposes, he assisted in organizing the first district, consisting of Union and East Hanover townships and Jonestown borough, and was elected chairman and re-elected every year up to date. He served as deacon and for many years as elder in the Reformed Church, and represented his church many times in classis and the Eastern Synod, and was a delegate to the General Synod of the Reformed Church in its triannual session in Lancaster, Pa., in 1914. He was also a delegate to the Men's Missionary Congress of the Reformed Church in the United States, held in Allentown, Pa., Nov. 16-18, 1915. During all these years he also carried on farming until April, 1915, when he rented the farm. He was also a member of the G. A. R., and whenever possible attended his regimental reunions. Residing near Walmer's Church, his hospitable home was open to many visitors during the year. He was president of all the Shuey reunions held near Walmer's Church. He died May 18, 1919, and his body was laid to rest in the Salem Cemetery at Walmer's Church. This cemetery is a part of his farm and after several additions had been purchased from him, nearly reaches to the barn. His funeral was largely attended, representatives of the various associations to which he belonged being present. Most of these and many of the relatives came from a distance. More than 240 persons took dinner with his family after the funeral.

He joined a militia company in Jonestown, and when the civil war broke out and the first call for troops was made by President Lincoln, he enlisted for three months, and became a member of Company I, 15th Regiment Pennsylvania Volunteers. From this regiment (15th Pennsylvania Volunteers), and partly from Company I, were the first prisoners taken by the confederates in the Civil War, which occurred on July 2, 1861, by Colonel Ashby, and this capture was heralded through the South as a brilliant affair. The prisoners were kept in Richmond for a short time and then taken to the penitentiary in New Orleans. They were exchanged at Salisbury in April 1862, after six of their number died. Anson escaped this capture by a diligent run, he having been one of the advance pickets. He was mustered into service on April 20, 1861, and discharged therefrom on August 7, 1861. Feeling that his services were needed by the Government, he enlisted again on February 17, 1862, and became a member of Company C, 93d Regiment Pennsylvania Volunteers. This enlistment was for three years. He was a private until October 12, 1862, when he was made a corporal. This regiment saw severe service and fought in the battle of Gettysburg, in the 6th corps. At the battle of Winchester, on September 19, 1864, he lost a leg from a cannon shot, and was placed in the Winchester hospital. Here he was not properly attended to and probably through the carelessness of some one his wound commenced to bleed one night, and he died from loss of blood on September 27. He was rolled in his blanket, and buried about a foot under ground. His comrades, hearing of this act of the hospital men, went next day, took him out again, placed him in a strong wooden box and buried him decently on Lot No. 18, in the Soldiers' National Cemetery at Winchester, and placed a headboard at his grave. The following winter his body was brought home by his brother-in-law and buried in Salem's cemetery at Walmer's Church. Thus it will be noticed that he lost his life in defense of his country at the age of 21 years, 10 months and 15 days. He was married to Sarah A. Copenhaver, and had two children. They lived near Union Forge prior to his entering the army. His widow later lived in Lebanon, Pa., and subsequently near Jonestown. He was a member of the Reformed Church.

During the Civil War she often said if she were a man she would offer her services to the government as a soldier. Her husband was a soldier in the Civil War. In April, 1919, she moved to Ono, and lives with her son.

5. Dennis Bashore Shuey (5) was born Feb. 14, 1846, and baptized March 22, 1846. His younger years were spent on the farm during the summer, and during the winter he attended school in the old schoolhouse at Walmer's Church, when not obliged to stay at home to assist in threshing the grain, which was then done by means of horses treading out the grain. This slow and wearisome riding of horses often fell to his lot when he should have been at school. He, however, kept himself up with his classes. During the summer of 1859 he was employed in a brickyard as off-bearer, on their own farm, where 173,000 brick were made, part of which were used in building the new barn the following year on Edward Shuey's farm. During the summer of 1861 he worked for his uncle, John H. Shuey, in his woolen mill, one of the old kind. On May 4, 1861, he became a communicant member of the Reformed Church. During the summer of 1862 he was hired out on a neighboring farm, receiving $6.50 per month wages, but was expected to do a full grown man's work, such as plowing, cutting grass with the scythe and grain with the cradle. In September, he went to Harrisburg, with many of the young men of Lebanon county, and enrolled as a volunteer in the 127th Pennsylvania Regiment in the United States army. After being in Camp Curtin one week he was sent home as being too young for service in the army. Many of the school teachers of Lebanon county having enlisted in this regiment, he was employed as a teacher for that winter, at a salary of $20 per month, though but sixteen years of age. Prof. Henry Houck, who for thirty-five years was Deputy State Superintendent of Schools of Pennsylvania, was then the superintendent of the schools of Lebanon county. When school closed in the spring of 1863, he attended a course of normal studies in the Academy at Annville, Prof. W. J. Burnside, principal.

After school closed for the summer, the call for troops issued by President Lincoln, when General Lee's army invaded Pennsylvania, again appealed to him, and he enlisted in Company A, 26th

Regiment, P. V. I., on June 23, 1863, and on the following day they were transferred to Gettysburg, but the train being derailed by running over a cow, when but six miles from its destination, was delayed two nights and a day, did not reach Gettysburg until Friday morning, June 26. This regiment was under command of Col. W. W. Jennings, who had just returned from nine months' service as colonel of the 127th regiment. He was an officer who was both brave and tactful. This 26th Regiment was the first to arrive at Gettysburg. It was not then known that any Confederate soldiers were anywhere near to that place, but this regiment was to be used as a guard in one of the mountain passes near Gettysburg. Company A of this regiment was largely composed of students from the Lutheran College and Theological Seminary at Gettysburg. It was therefore a pleasure for them to come to Gettysburg, but their joy was of short duration. In one hour after their arrival, the colonel was ordered by Major Haller of the U. S. Regular Army, to march his men out on the Chambersburg pike, with Company A, as customary, in the front. Although fifty-six years have since elapsed, he distinctly remembers seeing three men on horseback approaching the regiment, but as soon as they saw them they wheeled around and galloped off. These men were, no doubt, Confederate officers. The 26th Regiment was marched to the right into a field near the woods and tents were soon put up, but as it was very wet ground after raining several days, he, with others, found a pile of newly-made shingles in the woods, which were appropriated for floors in the tents, and just then the order was given hastily, "Strike tents and march." One of his tent mates was detailed and had gone out on picket duty. He was likely captured as he never saw him afterwards. The march was in a northeasterly direction across the fields, through mud, until about three o'clock in the afternoon, when many from fatigue could no longer march and straggled, and some climbed cherry trees to eat cherries, when the order was quickly given to form in line of battle, in the field to the right of the road. All was confusion and many men lost their places in their own company. He found himself in Company E, which was from Lebanon, White's cavalry, a part of General Gordon's division, came in sight in their rear. They turned and opened fire upon the Confederates, to which they quickly responded with their carbine firing. The U. S. line was behind a fence, lying down to escape the Confederate bullets. Two bullets struck the rail in front of his face. All the stragglers and cherry eaters were captured, and White's cavalry, after some loss, retreated with more than one hundred men as prisoners, who were paroled the next day.

The march was resumed and after going a mile, he found Company A, and discovered roll call had been made to ascertain the number lost and he had been marked missing. He was glad to take his place in the ranks again. The following day, Saturday, this regiment was again drawn up in line for battle in Dillsburg, with Company A in the front, each man resting on one knee with bayonet set to meet the approach of cavalry, and each company to the rear was to successively fire over the heads of those in front to keep the enemy back. But it was a false alarm. The regiment reached Harrisburg on Sunday afternoon, having marched fifty-four hours out of sixty successive hours, without food and shelter, and appeared as if they might have been in hard service six months or a year, although they had but left Harrisburg the Wednesday before in their new uniforms. The nearest approach the Confederate army ever made to Harrisburg, some six miles out, was in their attempt to capture this whole regiment, and this they could easily have done had it not been for the tactful manoeuvring of Colonel Jennings. Later history informs us that Lee's whole army was delayed one day because Lee could not find out where this branch of his troops were, who were in search of this regiment. This one day's delay gave General Meade, with the army of the Potomac, a great opportunity to advance northward, to thwart the plans of Lee to sieze the northern cities and obtain supplies for his army. The 26th Regiment, therefore, was the cause of these two vast armies meeting at Gettysburg, and the greatest battle during the whole war was the result, which was the beginning of the end of the war.

On account of this strenuous march and exposure, he was not able to stand on his feet, the morning after reaching Harrisburg, and the surgeon sent him to the hospital, on account of articular rheumatism, which he had contracted and from which he has suffered ever since. On July 10 he left the hospital and joined the regiment again for further service, though not well. After further hard service in the Cumberland valley, endeavoring to prevent the Confederate army from the crossing the Potomac back into Virginia, this regiment, by order of the War Department, was honorably discharged, July 30, 1863.

On the main street toward the west end of Gettysburg, in a triangular plot, with a stone on each corner engraved U. S. between the Springs Avenue and the Chambersburg Pike, directly in front of the Meade School House, there has been erected a statue of a young soldier in the act of charging with bayonet fixed, as a memorial of the services rendered by this 26th regiment. The legislature of Pennsylvania made an appropriation for this purpose. On the north side on the base of this monument is a copper plate with this inscription: "26th Pennsylvania Emergency Infantry Regiment organized at Harrisburg and volunteered for the Emergency. Mustered into U. S. service June 22, 1863. Company A recruited from Pennsylvania College and Gettysburg. Total Enrollment 743. Captured and missing in Gettysburg campaign 176 officers and men. The First Union Regiment to engage the Confederates at Gettysburg and delaying their advance one day." On the south side is a similar tablet with this inscription: "Reached Gettysburg June 25 in advance of the Army of the Potomac. On the morning of June 26 marched out the Chambersburg Pike and met the Rebel column at Marsh Creek and forced by overwhelming numbers to withdraw. In the afternoon on the Hunterstown road had a severe engagement with the Rebel Cavalry, inflicting upon them some loss. Reached Harrisburg, June 28, having marched 60 consecutive hours and skirmished with the enemy. July 12 advanced from Harrisburg after the Rebels in retreat."

On the large monument erected by the State of Pennsylvania, on the Gettysburg battlefield are copper plate, giving the names of officers and men in each Pennsylvania Regiment engaged in this battle. Two of these plates contain the names of officers and men of this 26th Regiment. The short service of this Regiment seems to have been of sufficient importance to Pennsylvania to have received this recognition in permanent form. In Company A of this regiment, besides the author was Theodore F. Shuey of Virginia. Here they first became acquainted and later learned of their relationship to each other and formed the link by which the author found the facts for the Virginia branch of the Shuey family for this history. In Company E of this regiment was Allen P. Shuey, a brother of the author, and William Shuey Bordelmay, a second cousin. In Company F, which marched next to Company A, was Samuel W. Pennypacker, who afterwards was governor of Pennsylvania, and with whom the author sustained a close friendship ever since their service in this regiment, until the governor's death.

During 1864 and 1865 he farmed the old homestead, while his brother Ephraim served in the army, but continued teaching during the winter months. In 1864 he was assistant superintendent of the Sunday school, and the following year its superintendent. In the spring of 1866 he and his sister Eliza made a trip to Ohio, visiting his relatives for a short time, and spent several months in school in Lockland, with his home in the J. H. Tangeman family. After their return he became salesman and assistant postmaster at East Hanover, in Heilman and Brothers' store. Late in the fall he accepted the Uhrich's school, which he taught until spring. He then went to Mercersburg and entered the preparatory department of Mercersburg College under the presidency of Rev. Thomas G. Apple, D.D., occupying room 15 in the seminary building, and was a member of the Marshall Literary Society. The following two years of study, under the able instruction of Profs. Apple, Kieffer and others, will always be remembered as a very pleasant part of his life, and an incentive for usefulness and service for others. In the beginning of January, 1869, he was appointed a teacher in Bethany Orphans' Home at Womelsdorf, Pa., continuing one year, and was the first deacon in the congregation, organized in the Home, May 9, 1869. Some of the boys who were under his instruction in the Home afterwards became prominent men in life, such as Rev. Thomas S. Land, D.D., Hon. George W. Wagner, Judge of the Courts in Berks County, Pa., and others. He entered the Freshman Class in Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster, Pa., in January, 1870, and became a member of the Goethean Literary Society.

In the summer of 1872 he made an extensive trip to Kansas, Minnesota, and other places. He graduated with his class, June 26, 1873. The subject of his graduation oration was, "Correspondence of Light with Truth." During the following summer he read medical works, but in the fall entered the Theological Seminary in Lancaster, preparing for the holy ministry. During these three years, for want of means, he occupied a lonely attic room by himself on West King Street.

It was in this room, while a student in the seminary, he used his spare time in gathering the facts and wrote "The History of the Shuey Family in America," from 1732 to 1876, containing 279 pages, which left the press in the summer of 1876. During these three years he also used some time in reading Blackstone, under the instruction of the Hon. John P. Rea, afterwards Judge of the Courts in Minneapolis, Minn. He graduated from the Seminary in May, 1876. Graduating Theme, "The Huguenots." He was licensed to preach the gospel by Lebanon Classis at its annual meeting in Schuylkill Haven, on June 13, 1876. He accepted a call to the pastorate of the New Providence charge, in Lancaster county, and entered upon his labors July 1, 1876. He was ordained October 8, 1876 by a committee of Lancaster Classis, consisting of Rev. W. E. Krebs, Rev. J. S. Stahr and Rev. W. T. Gerhard. He did faithful work in this charge during the next six years and a half, doubling the number of members and greatly improving the properties, especially the parsonage and the Quarryville Church. He had as one of his co-workers and advisors, Elder George W. Hensel, who was a prominent member of various Boards of College and Seminary at Lancaster. During his pastorate here he received into the church Galen J. P. Raub, who has become a prominent elder and has largely taken the place of his father-in-law, Elder Hensel. He received the degree of Master of Arts in 1876 from Franklin and Marshall College.

On April 7, 1880, he married M. Viola Bushong, of Bird-in-Hand, Lancaster county, Pa., a faithful worker and organist in the Hellers Reformed Church. They moved to Emporia, Kan., in May, 1883, in response to a call from the Board of Home Missions of the Reformed Church, as superintendent of the missionary work in the West. He continued in this work fourteen years, when he was broken down in health. He assisted in organizing Wichita and Lincoln classes and the Synod of the Interior, which was organized, September 29, 1887, at Kansas City, Mo. He completed the organization of the missions in Cheney, Wichita and Holton, and organized missions in Kansas at Abilene, Enterprise and Scotia in Dickenson county; Iola, LaHarpe and Allen Center in Allen county; Circleville in Jackson county; Baker in Brown county; Topeka in Shawnee county; Hazelton in Barber county; Whitewater in Butler county, where he preached in the open air as soon as the stakes for the town were driven; Otis in Rush county; Ransom in Ness county and did the preliminary work for the missions in Kansas City and St. Joseph, Mo., and Grace Mission in Chicago, Ill. He also collected the necessary funds, made the plans and wrote the specifications and supervised the erection of the churches at Circleville and Whitewater in Kansas and the Zion church in Nebraska, and the parsonages in Emporia and Otis. He traveled as much as twenty-five thousand miles per year in this work, preaching often every evening during the week and three times on Sunday, spending the week days in visiting people, to interest them in spiritual work. He was also the Stated Clerk of Wichita Classis from its organization in 1887 to 1905, and part of the time its treasurer. He was president of the Synod of the Interior in 1889 and its Stated Clerk from 1893 to 1905, and its treasurer from 1897 to 1905, and member and officer of nearly all its various boards. Through his energetic work and zeal, along with others, Wichita University was established, as an institution of the synod, and was the president of its board of trustees from its organization until its close.

Surrendering the work as superintendent of missions, October 1, 1896, he accepted the appointment as business manager of "The Reformed Church Tidings," a missionary paper, authorized by the Home and Foreign Mission Boards and the Sunday-school Board, jointly, of the Reformed Church, with office at Reading, Pa. He organized a convenient method for transacting the business, and in one year's time had twenty-five thousand paid-up subscribers. During this year, the Sundays were always devoted, by direction of the Home Mission Board, to giving missionary addresses in the various churches in the East. His family had remained in Kansas during this year. Returning to Kansas, he accepted the pastorate at Iola, where he labored four years, and the next three years were given to Sunday-school work. He was a member of the executive committee of the Kansas State Sunday-school Association for a period of fifteen years, and one year held the position of president of the association, 1903-1904, and was one of its delegates to the World's Fourth Sunday-school Convention, held in Jerusalem in April, 1904. This cruise was made in the S. S. Grosser Kurfurst with 817 delegates, this vessel having been chartered for this purpose. This trip included visits on the Island of Maderia, Gibraltar, Algiers, Malta, Athens, Constantinople, Roberts College, Black Sea, Smyrna, Ephesus, Beirut and the American Protestant College, Caifa or Haifa, Mt. Carmel, Nazareth, Cana, Tiberias and crossed the Sea of Galilee, Capernaum, Bethsaida, Joppa, Jerusalem, Convention April 18-20, Mt. of Olives, Bethlehem, Bethany, Jericho, Dead Sea, Jordan, Gilgal, Hebron, Solomon's Pools, Solomon's Quarries under the city of Jerusalem, Alexandria, Cairo, Pyramids, Sphinx, Memphis, Heliopolis, Naples, Pompeii, and the many interesting places in Rome, then to Villefranc and Nice. During this entire trip he was a member of the large choir of this delegation and took part in all the services, lectures and entertainments of this cruise and the convention in Jerusalem.

At Villefranc he left the delegation and the good ship Grosser Kurfurst and made an independent trip by himself through Italy, Switzerland, Germany, Belgium and Holland. On this trip he visited Genoa, Milan, Como, Chiasso, Lugano, Bellenzona, Biasco, through St. Gothard tunnel in the Alps, nine miles in length, Amsteg, Altdorf, Lucerne, Zug, Zurich, Neuhausen, the Falls of the Rhine, Schaffhausen, Singen, Immendingen, Offenburg, through the Black Forests, Appenwier, Kehl, Strassburg, Oos, Baden-Baden, Carlsruhe, Bruchsal, Heidelberg, Neuenheim, Friedrichsfeld, Mannheim, Weinheim, Bensheim, Darmstadt, Frankfurt, Sachsenhausen, Wiesbaden, Mayence, Bingen, by steamer on the Rhine to Coblenz, then to Bonn, Cologne, Dusseldorf, Utrecht and Amsterdam, where he took sick and had to give up his trip through France, England and Scotland, as he had planned, and thus had to forego the pleasure of attending the Eighth General Council of the Alliance of the Reformed Churches holding the Presbyterian System, which was held in Liverpool, England, for which he carried his credentials, for June 21, 1904. This was a great disappointment. At Bremen he took passage in S. S. Kaiser Wilhelm II., and reached home after an absence of three months and twenty days.

Resigning all official positions in Kansas, October 1, 1905, he entered upon the pastorate at Mulberry, Ind. This was followed by pastorates at Sugar Grove, Apple Creek, Upper Sandusky and Galion, Ohio. He joined the Grand Army of the Republic, January 27, 1874, and has always taken great interest in its work. He has been chaplain of the G. A. R. posts in Emporia, Iola, Upper Sandusky and Galion, and commander of the posts at Iola and Sugar Grove. He has attended many of the Department and National Encampments as delegate, and was elected Chaplain-in-Chief by the National Encampment held in Washington, D. C., in 1902, and as such he officiated at the Encampment in San Francisco in 1903 and submitted his report of the year's work in that position.

He attended the tri-annual sessions of the General Synod of the Reformed Church, mostly as an official delegate, at the following places: 1878, Lancaster, Pa.; 1887, Akron, Ohio; 1890, Lebanon, Pa.; 1891, special, Philadelphia, Pa.; 1893, Reading, Pa.; 1896, Dayton, Ohio; 1899, Tiffin, Ohio; 1905, Allentown, Pa.; 1908, York, Pa.; 1911, Canton, Ohio; 1917, Dayton, Ohio. Likewise as official delegate he attended these conventions of the International Sunday-school Association: 1887, Chicago, Ill.; 1890, Pittsburgh, Pa.; 1893, St. Louis, Mo.; 1905, Toronto, Canada; 1908, Louisville, Ky.; 1914, Chicago, Ill. Also World's conventions, 1893, St. Louis, Mo.; 1904, Jerusalem, Palestine; 1908, Washington, D. C.

In the "Outlook of Missions" for March, 1917, Rev. Charles E. Schaeffer, D.D., General Secretary of the Board of Home Missions of the Reformed Church, published a sketch of the missionary work of Rev. Shuey, which is here inserted.

BRIEF BIOGRAPHIES OF EARLY HOME MISSIONARIES.

XII. REV. D. B. SHUEY, D.D.

The Reverend D. B. Shuey, D.D., who for many years labored as Missionary Superintendent in the Synod of the Interior, deserves a place in this list of Missionary biographies. In July, 1882, the Tri-Synodic Board of Missions, comprising the Eastern, the Potomac, and the Pittsburgh Synods, elected Mr. Shuey to take charge of the Mission work in the West, meaning the territory now covered by the Synod of the Interior. At the same time he was supposed to give one-half of his time to the Mission at Emporia, Kansas. He entered upon this work November 1, 1882, and for the first six months he applied himself to visiting congregations in the East with the view of raising money for this western work. He was successful in securing the amount of $3,000, with which the mortgage on the Emporia church, runing at 12 per cent. interest was paid off, and a lot purchased and a suitable parsonage erected. The salary of the Missionary and Superintendent at that time was $500 a year and this money came in very irregularly because the Board did not always have it on hand to pay. The Mission itself was to pay him $100 per year, but even this sometimes failed to come.

In July, 1885, he resigned the pastorate of the Emporia Mission and gave his entire time to the work of superintending the missions in this western territory. He was instrumental in organizing the following congregations: Abilene, Iola, Whitewater, Topeka, Circleville, all in Kansas. He would visit Reformed families in these places, preach the gospel to them, baptize their children, and regularly supply them until missionaries could be secured. For a time he also supplied the church at Wichita.

He was instrumental in organizing the Synod of the Interior. He prepared the necessary papers, fixed the geographical lines and pressed the matter before General Synod so that finally at Kansas City in 1887, the Synod of the Interior was constituted and he became the Missionary Superintendent of this Synod until Oct. 1, 1896, when, on account of ill health, he was obliged to relinquish his duties.

He built the churches at Whitewater, Circleville, Zion's, Nebraska, superintended their erection and purchased their furniture. He held successively all the positions of honor and trust in the bounds of the Synod. He was not only the Superintendent of Missions, but also the President of the Synod, the President of the Board of Beneficiary Education, President of the Board of Trustees of Wichita University, Treasurer of the Board of Missions of the Synod, President of the Board of Trustees of the Synod, Secretary of the Board of Publication, Stated Clerk of the Synod, and also the Treasurer of the Synod. Mrs. Shuey was also a descendant of the French Huguenots, as her maiden name Bushong indicates, which it is claimed originally was Beauchamp. Her ancestors on her father's side also came to America, about the time Daniel Shuey arrived, and they were likewise of the Reformed Church faith. Her mother, Fannie Landis, was one of that large and prominent Landis family, so well known in Lancaster county, Pa. Mrs. Shuey was of that genuinely devoted spirit, by which she always readily entered into the laborious and self-sacrificing missionary and pastoral work of her husband. She was the devoted mother who largely raised their children while the husband's duties in the mission field, demanded his absence from home a large part of the time.

To them were born eight children: Paul F., Ralph C., B. Marie, A. Carl, V. Frances, Esther A., Helen A., and Clara A.

1. Paul Francis Shuey (6) was born July 14, 1881, at New Providence, Pa. Baptized Aug. 27, 1881, by Rev. E. V. Gerhart, D.D., President of the Theological Seminary, Lancaster, Pa. Went with his parents to Kansas in 1883. He largely supported himself by doing different kinds of work, while he was taking a four year's course in the University of Kansas, at Lawrence, from which he graduated in 1907, and received the Degree of Bachelor of Science in Electrical Engineering. In the succeeding two years he was assistant professor of Physics in Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind. Then resumed telephone work which he had started while attending his studies in the University, but on account of ill health, changed locations a number of times, having received promotions each time before being compelled to change. He was trouble man for the Emporia Telephone Co., in the summer of 1905. During the school year of 1905-6 he was installer for the telephone company in Lawrence. During the summer of 1906 he was trouble man and assistant tester for the same company. During the school year 1906-7, he had charge of maintenance of private branch exchange at the University. Afterwards he was employed in various ways in telephone work in Columbus. Receiving an offer to become Research Fellow on the smoke investigation in the University of Pittsburgh, he accepted the offer, came to Pittsburgh in March, 1912. The following July, being weak and unwell, he entered the Hospital of the Tuberculosis League of Pittsburgh, where, besides being a patient he became consulting engineer and electrician in which he continued to the present, much improved in health. He became a member of the Reformed Church in Iola, Kansas, April 22, 1899, and has been a faithful and aggressive member at the various places where he resided. In 1916, after taking private instruction in X-Ray work in Pittsburgh and at Cornell University, he designed and superintended the installation of an X-Ray plant at the Tuberculosis Hospital, of which he became the technician.

He must like military service judging from the number of enlistments he has had and faithful service rendered. His trip around the world was a great opportunity for a young man.

"Lebanon, Pa., June 22.—Sergeant Perry R. Shuey, a son of former Squire and Mrs. Allen P. Shuey, of this city, has been awarded the Distinguished Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action with the American Expeditionary Forces.

The act which won Sergeant Shuey the cross was performed at Fleuville, France, Oct. 5, 1918. This work completed, he led the platoon forward, under intense artillery fire, to positions in advance of the infantry, to withstand the counter attack. Four of the neighboring district schools were closed on the day of her burial, in order to give the children an opportunity to attend the funeral, and the large Sunday school was present, thus evincing its esteem for the deceased. The funeral services were held in Walmer's church, which, though spacious, was not sufficient to seat all who were drawn thither by friendship and sympathy. Pastor C. H. When he was ten years old, the family moved to Pittsburgh, Pa., where he attended the public schools until he was fifteen years old. In 1875, with an older brother, he acquired a small printing outfit, consisting of a few fonts of type and a small press. With this outfit he printed many thousands of visiting cards, and the business grew until the brothers were able to do a general line of commercial printing.

In the early spring of 1880, the printing plant was disposed of, in order that the brothers might enter, with their father, the glass manufacturing business. A company was organized, and a factory was built that summer at LeGrange (now Brilliant), Ohio. That fall the factory was placed in the hands of a receiver.

At this juncture, he went to Wheeling, W. Va., where he secured employment upon the Sunday Leader, and where he made the acquaintance of Dana Hubbard, an editor. He married Margaret Elizabeth Conrad, and had ten children, viz: John, Catharine, Christiana, Martin, Barbara, Margaret, Henry, Mary, Eve and Adam. Here we have Adam and Eve as brother and sister, and Eve older than Adam. Martin received a plantation from his father, which was situated in Bethel township, for which he was to pay 800 pounds, 200 pounds of which he might keep as his share of inheritance. After he had paid for this farm, his mother and the executors of his father's will conveyed a deed to him for this tract of land. This deed is recorded in the office at Harrisburg, Book B, volume 1, page 319, and was granted in the year 1786, one year after Dauphin county was formed from the northern part of Lancaster county.

"Henry Shuey, of Hanover township and Barbara his wife, John Shuey, of Bethel township and Christiana his wife, and Ludwich Shuey, of Bethel township aforesaid yeoman (the said Henry, John and Ludwich being of the sons of Ludwich Shuey, late of Bethel township aforesaid, yeoman, (deceased) of the one part and Martin Shuey, of Bethel township aforesaid (another of the sons of the said deceased) of the other part. This is described as the same tract deeded by Daniel Shuey and wife, Mary Martha, to Ludwich Shuey, father of the parties hereto. It also refers to the will of Ludwich Shuey who bequeathed the said two tracts of land to his son, Martin Shuey. See Vol. R., page 381, in the office in Lancaster."

At the same time, Henry Shuey et. al. conveyed by deed to him another tract of land. This is recorded as above, on page 320. For this tract he paid 271 pounds and 5 shillings. Also Adam Paul and wife conveyed by deed to him a tract of land, which bears the same date and is recorded as above. In 1788, he sold one of the above-named tracts to Daniel Peffley and others. In 1803 he sold the one tract above-named to John Brechtbill for 489 pounds, 1 shilling, and 9½ pence. In 1805 he sold another farm, containing 129½ acres, to Henry Spitler for 1,426 pounds, and moved to the Twin Valley, and settled near Germantown, Ohio.

Martin Shuey, of Bethel township, Dauphin county, Pa., before moving to Ohio, gave a power of attorney (see vol. 21, page 154) wherein he "appoints and deposes my trusty and beloved Brother Christian Shuey, of Bethel township, Dauphin county, Pa., to sell the tract of land lying and being over the blue mountain in Norwitschen township, Berks county, Pa., containing 125 acres." This is dated April 27, 1805, and was acknowledged before Gottfried Rehrer, Justice of the Peace on the same day and was recorded May 9, 1805.

Martin Shuey had an interest as part owner of other lands in what is now Schuylkill county, Pa. In the office in Pottsville in Book 2, page 344, with date April 26, 1817. John Shuey, of Bethel township, Lebanon county, attorney in fact of his father Martin Shuey, of the State of Ohio, sold a farm to Christian Grim of Lower Mahantongo township. This is the same tract which Philip Kunselman deeded, bearing date May 22, 1790, to Ludwig Shuey, Martin Shuey and Christian Shuey, in Pinegrove township, Berks county, now lower Mahantonga township. Ludwig Shuey deeded his one-third share to Martin Shuey (by his attorney party hereunto), "And whereas, the said Martin Shuey, by a certain letter of attorney, bearing date at Lebanon, in the county of Warren and State of Ohio, the 13th day of April, 1816, for divers good cause therein mentioned, did nominate, constitute, appoint and authorize his son, the said John Shuey, to sell his right, etc., in said 100 acres." Now the said John Shuey, attorney in fact, sells to Christian Grimm for $866.67. This was granted to Martin Shuey, June 3, 1790. Patent issued Dec. 17, 1790. See Patent Book H., Vol. 13, page 98.

His children were all born in Bethel township. At this time Ohio was a new country, and thickly covered with timber. There were a great many emigrations made to Ohio about this time. Martin Shuey was a persevering man, and labored hard to make himself and his family comfortable. In his old age he had the pleasure of seeing himself surrounded with a noble and respectable family, which he had reared. He was a faithful member of the Reformed Church, and held the office of Trustee at Klopp's Church in 1798 and 1799, and in 1789 he was Treasurer of that church. He died in February, 1829, aged 79 years. His wife died January 5, 1838, at the age of 78 years, 6 months, and 3 days. She was a member of the Lutheran Church. She was a good woman, of a kind disposition, and was the mother of a noble family. Both are buried in the New Castle cemetery now within the corporate limits of Dayton, Ohio.

Martin Shuey was one of the prominent men of his time, in church as well as in civil affairs. He was highly respected by many, who sought his counsel and advice. He led a useful life, both to himself and to his family. He was a devout Christian, and set a noble example to his fellow-men. He was one of the executors of the last will and testament of his father, Ludwich Shuey. His career was a noble one, and worthy of imitation.

He died Aug. 26, 1851, at the age of 75 years, 6 months and 20 days. His wife was born February 15, 1781, and died April 27, 1859, at the age of 78 years, 2 months and 12 days. They both lie buried in the graveyard at Klopp's Church. John was rather tall, and was usually known by the name of Big John Shuey.

II. CATHARINE SHUEY (3)

Was born Aug. 4, 1781. She was married to Mr. Spitler, of Bethel township. The facts relative to her family and her descendants were not furnished.

III. CHRISTIANA SHUEY (3)

Was born Oct. 30, 1783. She lived in Germantown, Ohio, and was married to John Zeller, and had nine children, viz: Andrew, Henry, John, George, Sallie, Gilbert, David, Christiana Hoffman, Mary Zehring and Elizabeth Baker. She was a member of the United Brethren Church. Her whole family, which is now quite extensive, also belongs to said church. She was a good woman and reared a respectable family, most of whom are living in the neighborhood of Dayton.

IV. GENERAL MARTIN SHUEY (3)

Was born Sept. 28, 1785, in Dauphin, now Lebanon county, Pa. He went to Montgomery county, Ohio, in 1804. He married Margaret Shuperd, June 30, 1808. They were blessed with eleven children, viz: John, Henry, Olivia, Samuel D., Jacob, Robert M., Melvina A., and three sons and a daughter who died in infancy. Martin had a disposition for venturing out into the world, moving west by degrees, until he finally settled in California. He was a bold, persevering, and energetic man, and allowed no trifling things to come in to thwart his plans, which were never rash, but were fully considered in all their aspects so as to reach the desired end. In the war of 1812, he tendered his services to the government to assist in defending our country and her laws. He entered the army as Captain, which position he held with distinction, and for his services was promoted to Colonel, and then rose to the position of General before the close of the war. He received a pension for services rendered in that war.

In 1820 he moved to Shelby county, Indiana, where he engaged in farming. In 1829, he moved to Adams county, Illinois, where he again took to farming, and continued for thirty years at this place. In 1859, he again pulled up stakes, and went on his western-bound course, this time not to stop until the western coast was reached. His trip was "across the plains," and he had to endure many hardships with his venerable wife as a companion, during this tedious, as well as dangerous journey, having been six months on the way. We can easily imagine what the hardships and deprivations incident to such a journey would be, over uninhabited country for hundreds of miles. His strong, persevering nature gave him courage, and thus the hardships were not so keenly felt, though they were very severe. What is especially noticeable of this journey is, that General Shuey was seventy-four years of age when he undertook this trip, thus exhibiting great strength both in mind and in body. He lived in Brooklyn, Alameda county, California. Both General and Mrs. Shuey enjoyed good health until old age enfeebled them.

As to the personal appearance of General Martin Shuey, he was represented to have been a fine-looking old gentleman, had a high, broad forehead, a prominent nose, heavy side-whiskers, and impressed one as a very venerable personage. His figure was rather tall and prepossessing, his manner was always kind and pleasant, and his voice cheerful and strong.

Both General and Mrs. Shuey retained their mental faculties perfectly to old age. They were earnest, devoted Christians, and members of the Baptist Church in Brooklyn, of which Martin was deacon for many years. Martin had been permitted to live a long life, but it was also a useful life; and standing in the church militant for so many years, he longed to be admitted into the church triumphant.

We have been furnished with an account of his life, which appeared in one of the California papers. Inasmuch as it furnishes some new facts, an extract from it is herewith inserted:

A PATRIARCHAL PAIR.

Four Score and Ten and Four Score and Eight—The History of General Martin Shuey and His Wife Mary—A Remarkable Record.

There reside in this city, or rather its eastern suburb, Fruit Vale, a remarkable pair; remarkable not only for their venerable ages, but also their eventful lives and Christian faith and fortitude. We mean Martin Shuey and his wife Mary. The former, on the 28th instant, reached his ninetieth birthday; and the latter, should she live so long, will celebrate her eighty-eighth anniversary on the 22d of February, 1876. Both are enjoying good health for people so greatly advanced in years, and it is not improbable they may yet add several laurels of time to those already registered by them. Of the many souls born into this world it is allotted to but very few to walk this earth so long, and observe the developments and changes of three successive generations! They have by many days outlived the prescribed "three score years and ten" and been joined in bonds of wedlock for sixty-seven years.

In this sketch we shall show how they have traveled the rough road of life together, and maintained an unsevered alliance through all the vicissitudes of pioneer life—through war and want and many a wild danger, amid unbroken solitudes and savage men. Their lives show that their conjugal faith was strong, and their love for each other unbounded. They crossed the continent together, starting from the cradle of the Republic, halting on the way at different stages, stopping, as it were, to witness the birth of new States, and faithfully following "the Star of Empire" in its westerly course, until it finally set on the placid Pacific's golden shores.

General Martin Shuey was born in Lebanon county, Pennsylvania, September 28, 1785, and, therefore, completed his ninetieth year on Tuesday last. He is of French origin. * * * * When eighteen years old his father, attracted like so many others since his day, towards the promising west, removed to Ohio, then a Territory, taking his family with him. This was in 1805. Cincinnati, now one of the great cities of the Union, consisted at that time, according to his statement, of thirty-five log and frame huts, with only one two-story house. Ohio was then a wilderness, having but a few scattered settlements here and there. The family chose a farm five miles from Franklin, for a home.

The commencement of his military career.—Protection against the raids of the savages became at once a necessity of the new settlers, and it was determined to form a rifle company. This event took place in the year 1805, and Mr. Shuey, who was an intelligent as well as an active, able man, was at once chosen Lieutenant of the new organization. In 1810, he was elected Captain of his company, and was placed in command of the Eighth Military District of Ohio. In this capacity he served throughout the war of 1812, when hostilities broke out between the United States and Great Britain, the principal scenes of military operations having been the great lakes of North America and their borders. In 1815, after the war, in which Captain Shuey served with distinction, was over, he was elected Major of the battalion to which his company belonged, and in 1816 was elected Colonel of his regiment. In 1818 he received further promotion, and was made a Brigadier-General. The Military District in which he commanded embraced Forts Brown, Winchester, Laramie, St. Mary's, Amanda and Jennings. Fort Winchester was an outpost, and there he was stationed for most of the time. In 1826 he resigned his military position, having become a married man in the meantime with a family growing up around him, and removed from Ohio.

In the "New Territory."—In 1820 General Shuey removed with his wife and family into the present State of Indiana, which was then known as the "New Territory." The West still wooed him on, and he followed at her beck. He settled in Shelby county, and there cultivated a farm for nine years, and attended to the education of his children.

Still westward.—In 1829 he left Indiana and removed to Illinois, then a territory. He settled in Adams county. The State was but very thinly settled. The present important city of Quincy, on the Mississippi river, then consisted of but a few small log cabins and one frame kitchen. The solitude of the vast rolling prairies was only broken by the war-whoops of the Indians—the Pottawatamies and Winnebagoes—and the cries of the chase. For twenty years he tarried in the new State, aiding in the development of what has since become one of the foremost centers of population and wealth in the Union. The Western fever, however, was still upon him; and California, with her tales of teeming wealth—of her golden ore, her productive soil and delightful climate—was destined to be his future home, and the ultimate resting-place of himself and his numerous descendants. In 1859 he crossed the plains, scaled the high Sierras, having been seven months on the way, son John met them at mouth of Carson river and brought them through and they settled in Brooklyn with his son, R. M., and daughter, Melvina, where they have since remained.

Here the paper contained an extended notice of Mrs. Shuey; but, according to our plan this is properly not a part of this book, and therefore, is not inserted.

Both of them were members of the Baptist Church previous to their coming to California. As they had believed, so had they brought up and educated their children. They joined the Oakland Baptist Church the first Sunday after their arrival in California, in October, 1859; and when, in 1860, a new church was organized in Brooklyn, General Shuey was chosen one of its deacons. Their selection of California as a future home was the cause of a considerable acquisition to the population of our State. Their progeny alone is very respectable in numbers. They were the parents of eleven children.

Their present condition.—General Shuey, now in his ninety-first year, and successively a soldier, merchant and farmer—a resident of five States, and a pioneer of three of them—is in the full possession of all his faculties. His sight is good and his memory clear, and he can narrate events in his eventful life with animation and exactness. He is a great reader, and devours the contents of books with avidity, and describes their contents consecutively and clearly. He is not able to walk out, being rather feeble in his limbs. When he came to California at seventy-five years of age, he was erect and graceful of figure. The old lady is not so well off. On account of an accident, she has lost the use of her limbs, but she still reads and does needle-work. Their three generations of children are much devoted to them, and when they die they will undoubtedly have many mourners. A more remarkable old couple is difficult to find. We are proud of them.

At one place the account in reference to his ancestors was not quite correct, and it is, therefore, omitted in this extract. Writing to General Shuey in reference to this point, after receiving this notice, and requesting a personal letter from him, he authorized his granddaughter to state that the account was no doubt faulty at that particular point, and he wrote the following letter:

I have not written any for some time. I was ninety years of age last September. I spend the most of my time reading, and enjoy it very much. My hand gets tired very quickly.

Yours truly,

MARTIN SHUEY.

October 22d, 1875, Fruit Vale, Cal.

Scarcely had the author closed the above sketch of the life of General Martin Shuey, in 1876, when he received a notice of his death, which took place February 12, 1876, he having arrived at the ripe old age of 90 years, 4 months and 12 days. His granddaughter, in announcing his death, says: "My dear grandfather quietly passed away last Saturday. Our house is again a house of mourning. Dear grandfather was great in goodness. Few have lived such a long life, and done so much good. Even a few months before he died, he appeared as vigorous as in his younger days. He was, in my mind, a type of true manliness, scorning to do a mean act, and showing by every deed his great strength of character and true nobleness. He was ill not quite a week. He was taken with a violent cold, as we supposed. We applied all of the simple remedies that we knew of, and wished to call in medical advice, but he would not allow it. He was anxious to die, and be free from pain. He often said, 'It is all right; I shall soon be across the river.' He suffered most intense pain through his lungs and left side, but retained his reason to the last moment. We sent for a doctor Friday morning; he told us that nothing could be done for him. His disease was typhoid pneumonia. About an hour before he died, his suffering ceased, he lay quiet, and finally closed his eyes like a tired child and softly breathed his last. We do not feel as if we can mourn for one so saintly; but his wife, the one who has been his constant companion for over seventy years, will feel as if she is desolate indeed. For the last eight years he had hardly left her for a moment, and a great part of the time waited upon her. She has the consolation that only a few years at the most will separate them. The loss of such a good man to the church and his friends is great indeed. He was intuitively a gentleman."

General Shuey was not permitted to see the Centennial Independence Day, but up to the close of his life he took as much interest in the welfare of our country as when a much younger man. He was a connecting link between the old and the new. When Washington died he was a boy fourteen years of age. Thus one life carries us back a long distance. When he was a boy the whole population and wealth of the Western States were not equal to the New York of to-day. A single western city has now more inhabitants than the whole State of Pennsylvania had when he left it. There were no steamboats on our lakes or rivers, no railroads, no traveling from sea to sea in luxurious sleeping coaches, no electric wires to carry the swift messages. To go as far west as Illinois was a great undertaking. The Mississippi river was a long, long way off. It almost broke the heart to think of moving so far away. He was emphatically a pioneer. He was a progressive spirit. The first thing after clearing a place for a home was to erect a school-house and chapel. He always paid great attention to education and religion.

In 1833, General Shuey became a deacon of the Baptist Church, by the choice of his brethren and the laying on of hands by Revs. Logan, Chapman and Clark. For over thirty years he held that office, until too feeble and infirm to regularly attend to his duties.

Though unable to attend the services of the church, Father Shuey forgot not her interests. Almost with his last breath his prayer was for her prosperity, and the welfare of the church was dear to his heart. With him religion was more than a mere belief or a creed; it was a life which became his own more and more as he grew in years. For the last four years his health was feeble. Most of this time he was confined to his room. He was at times a great sufferer, but all was borne with Christian fortitude and patience. These otherwise lonely hours, while confined to his room, he spent in useful reading, and no doubt many an hour was passed in meditation on heavenly things and the life to come, which he so soon expected to enter. Loving hands ministered to the wants of his declining years, and he murmured not, though his afflictions at times were great. After a week of extreme pain and suffering, he gently passed away, as a weary child who seeks rest in sleep. He died on the morning of Saturday, February 12, 1876.

His funeral took place from the East Oakland Baptist Church, on Sunday afternoon, February 13, 1876. The services were simple but impressive. His pastor, spoke from the words, "Enoch walked with God, and was not, for God took him." Many gathered to look for the last time upon the face, now cold in death, of one whom all loved. While the coffin was resting in the church, before the altar, and fragrant flowers, contributed by loving hands, were sweetly glowing upon the bosom of the deceased, a solemn stillness pervaded the assembly of mourning friends who were sitting close by, gazing upon the corpse, while listening to the words of wisdom as they fell from the lips of the man of God. The sun shining through the stained-glass windows, throwing its colored light upon the corpse, produced a halo of glory which seemed to foretell the glorious mansions to which the spirit of the deceased had gone. Thus passed away a great and good man.

1. John Shuey (4) was born March 27, 1811, in Montgomery county, Ohio. He married Lucinda Stowe, January 16, 1834, in Adams county, Illinois. They had ten children, viz: Cephas M., Virgil H., Elizabeth S., Homer S., Margaret M., Marcus M., Sarah I., and Mary A. (twins), John W. and Henry W. (twins). John went to Oregon in 1847, making the trip over the plains and Rocky Mountains with the earliest emigrants, and finally came to California. Later he returned to Illinois. In 1856 he went by Panama to the Pacific Coast, and landed in California. Returning a second time to Illinois, he brought his family in 1856 to California by way of Panama. In 1870 he visited his friends in Ohio, and was present at the Shuey picnic held at Dayton, Ohio. He consequently made the trip no less than seven times between the East and California. His experience of traveling was therefore extensive, and he manifested a considerable degree of perseverance in his life. He might be thought to have been of a roving disposition, but this was not the fact. After finding a place in California where he wished to make his future home, it was necessary for him to bring his family, which necessitated several trips across the continent.

John served in the Black Hawk war in 1832, under Capt. Hood. This was of short duration, and happened during President Jackson's administration.

John was a member of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church. He was a good man, and his life was a remarkably pure one. He endeavored to lead his children by example as well as by precept, in the paths of industry, temperance, honesty and holiness, and to instil principles of truth. He endeared himself to all who knew him by his strict integrity and by his Christian walk and conversation. He was a farmer, and lived near Brooklyn, California.

John Shuey died July 31, 1875, aged 64 years, 4 months and 4 days. He died a peaceful, happy Christian death, and quietly breathed his last soon after kind friends had sung a beautiful hymn. The letter announcing his death says: "It is certainly a great consolation to know that he rests securely in a loving Saviour's arms, and is free from all care and suffering, but our home seems so desolate, and everything about us awakens tender recollections of him, and everywhere we turn, we see something that he had done." Though he had to suffer long, yet he was very patient, and never murmured. He was willing to depart, and quietly fell asleep to awake with Christ in the resurrection of the just.

nam (6), Minette Alice Putnam (6), William Henry Putnam (6), Charles Albert Putnam (6) and Mary Isabel Putnam (6).

4. Homer Stowe Shuey (5) was born Aug. 17, 1840, and died of pneumonia, March 14, 1911. He also had been a merchant at Walnut Creek. He married Geneora Daugherty, July 2, 1868. She is a graduate of the State Normal School, and after teaching a certain length of time she entered the State University at Berkeley, where she took a full scientific course and graduated in 1876. She also took a course in medicine and has been a successful practicing physician since in Oakland, Cal. She is the family physician for some of the most prominent and wealthiest families in Oakland and Berkeley. She has made two trips to Europe, both times as the attending physician of some wealthy family on their journey abroad. In October, 1911, she went under a surgical operation for appendicitis and her health was fully restored. In a friendly letter to the author in December, 1912, she says: "I am so thankful to be alive and hope that I may be spared for many years of service. I realize more and more the privileges of the physician and the great joy that comes from service. So much heroism is shown often where least expected, and self-denial and courage under dire loss and deprivation. And, besides our patients are friends and welcome us always. * * * Good friends took me to Europe last year and it was a great rest and pleasure, and made me more ready than ever for work. I had a chance, too, to attend the Psychological Clinic in the University of Pennsylvania for several months. I am much interested in the Juvenile Court work, and am satisfied that much of the delinquency in a moral way that appears in children is due to a physical disability. The careful examination of eyes, throats, ears, teeth, nervous system of derelict children showed that to be the case very often. I trust the day is not far distant when that subject will be taken up by all of the universities in the land." In August, 1903, the author had the privilege of several day's visit at Doctor Shuey's house in Oakland, and it was at her home where the Shuey re-union was held at that time in honor of the birthday of her uncle, Robert M. Shuey, and the author as Chaplain-in-Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic. The author also gratefully acknowledges her assistance in obtaining the facts of the Shuey family in California, for the pages of this history.

Six children were born to them, viz:—Evaline, Sarah J., Lucinda C., John A., Awilda L., and Granville E. Robert was a man who was not afraid to venture out into the world and went to California in 1849, across the plains and reached "Hangtown," now Placerville, Aug. 25, 1849, and worked in a gold mine near Coloma, where gold was first discovered. He took cholera in Sacramento, which unfitted him to work in the mine. On Jan. 15, 1851, he left San Francisco by water by advice of the physician as his only chance of recovery, went by way of the Isthmus of Panama, and then by the Mississippi river to his former home in Adams county, Ill., about fifteen miles east of Quincy, with his health fully restored, surprising his family on reaching home. In 1854 he bought a farm in Hancock county, Ill., where he farmed until 1859, when he sold out and with his family again went across the plains, via Omaha and the Platte river, Ft. Laramie and Sweetwater river, and arrived in the Moroga Valley on Oct. 15, 1859. Again he was in the mine until 1864, when he began farming until 1883. They moved to East Oakland in 1901 and his beloved wife died Nov. 16, 1901. Buried in Mountain View cemetery. He was a faithful and devoted member of the Baptist Church. The author had the privilege of meeting Robert M. Shuey at the pleasant home of his daughter, Mrs. Sarah J. Mann, in San Francisco, and at the home of Doctor Sarah I. Shuey in Oakland, in Aug., 1903, when his eighty-third birthday anniversary was celebrated and a Shuey re-union held, at which time many of the above facts the author obtained from him personally. His memory was remarkable in readily giving all of the above dates. At this re-union the following registered as present, viz:—Robert M. Shuey, Rev. D. B. Shuey, Sarah J. Mann, Homer Stow Shuey, Mrs. Edward Irvin Shuey, Ethel Lorena Shuey, Dr. Granville Eugene Shuey, Morris Homer Shuey, Edna M. Shuey, Florence Shuey, Charles Shuey, Mrs. Homer S. Shuey, Hester Lucinda Shuey, Catharine Louisa Shuey, Mabel Joanna Shuey, Sarah Lucinda Young and Dr. Sarah I. Shuey, the hostess who had provided a splendid supper. The few hours spent together were very pleasant and profitable. Each of the above, as they registered, gave their ancestral branch of Shueys after their names, which became of value in the preparation of this history. Robert M. Shuey died June 26, 1911, in his ninetieth year. He was a member of "The Society of California Pioneers." After his death this society, through a committee appointed for the purpose, prepared a beautiful "In Memoriam," covering a number of pages, much of which is similar to that given above of his life and character, which was adopted by said society, at a regular meeting, Aug. 5, 1911. He was a staunch Republican; so are all the California Shueys.

their dealings with others, and with one or two exceptions are all highly respected. None of them have distinguished themselves by being highly educated or as possessing literary talents in any noticeable degree, but most of them have a fair common school education. #### IX. EVE SHUEY (3)

Was born May 25, 1797. She lived in Dayton, Ohio. She had but one child, a son, John Dodds (4), a manufacturer, of Dayton, Ohio, who was born in 1822, accumulated considerable wealth and died May 2, 1903. Mother and son were members of the United Brethren Church. Mr. Dodds had two children, one of whom died in early childhood. The other, Orion (5), of Dayton, Ohio, (deceased), had two children, viz: Mays (6), of Cleveland, Ohio, and Lilian (6), (Mrs. Earl L. Reeder), of Dayton, Ohio, (deceased), who had one daughter, Marjorie Jane (7), and one son, John Dodds (7).

X. ADAM SHUEY (3)

Was born in Bethel township, Dauphin county, Pennsylvania, Sept. 21, 1799, and was baptized on the 16th of Nov., 1799. He was brought up on the farm. In 1805, when he was only in his sixth year, his father moved from Dauphin county, Pennsylvania, to Montgomery county, Ohio, and settled in the Twin Valley, near Germantown. The father traveled with his family by wagon to Pittsburgh, where, with their household goods, they took passage on a flat boat for Cincinnati, from which town they continued their journey to their destination.

On the 5th of August, 1819, he married Hannah Aley, daughter of Isaac Aley, of Montgomery county, Ohio, but formerly of Washington county, Maryland. They had four children—three daughters and one son. One of these daughters died in infancy; the other children were Mary, Catharine and William John. Early in their married life they settled in Miamisburg, Ohio, where Mr. Shuey followed his trade of cabinet maker and carpenter; he was also the first postmaster of Miamisburg and assessor of Montgomery county. In their youth they became members of the United Brethren Church, and, during all the years of their long and active lives, their house was not only a house of prayer and worship, but a home for the weary itinerants of the United Brethren Church. In 1836 they removed to a farm of one hundred and seventy acres, only ten of which were cleared, near Lagonda, in the vicinity of Springfield, Ohio. Here they found no religious organization, and in 1843 they were the means of planting there a flourishing church and erecting a house of worship, called Newcomer Chapel, which has been succeeded by the Lagonda Avenue United Brethren Church, in Lagonda, now a part of Springfield. In 1854 they moved to Dayton, Ohio, where Mr. Shuey was for some time foreman of the mailing department of the United Brethren Publishing House. Here they were faithful members of the First United Brethren Church, in which Mr. Shuey served as class-leader and steward. For three years Mrs. Shuey was comparatively helpless, and during the last thirteen months she was confined to her bed. Death relieved her of her sufferings on the 21st of February, 1876. She died in peace at the age of 76 years, 10 months and 24 days. Mr. Shuey was very devoted to his life companion during her protracted illness, and he keenly felt all her sufferings. After the death of his wife Mr. Shuey lived with his only son, Rev. William J. Shuey, in Dayton, Ohio, until his death from pneumonia, April 22, 1882, at the advanced age of 82 years, 7 months and 1 day. His remains and those of his wife rest in Woodland cemetery, Dayton, Ohio.

Mr. Shuey was a large man, being six feet in height and weighing about one hundred and eighty pounds. He was very industrious, and was highly esteemed by all who knew him. He was of high standing in the community, and his acquaintances looked upon him as being an excellent man and a perfect gentleman. In politics he was a Whig and afterward a stanch Republican. At different times municipal offices in Dayton were tendered him, and every time he was elected by large majorities, irrespective of party distinctions. He was of pleasant speech, and his conversation was very entertaining. He was a man of sterling integrity, a devout Christian, and firm in his religious principles.

3. Rev. William John Shuey, D.D., (4), was born in Miamisburg, Montgomery county, Ohio, Feb. 9, 1827. The house in which he was born was built by his father, Adam Shuey, and is still standing. It is located on the west side of Main Street, near the center of the town. In 1836, when he was nine years of age, his father moved to a farm near Springfield, Clark county, Ohio, where he grew to manhood and acquired the physical strength which served as the foundation for his arduous labors in after life. After pursuing his studies in the common schools of Montgomery and Clark counties, he entered the Ohio Conference High School, a Methodist institution, in Springfield, Ohio, where he took a partial academic course. In March, 1843, he made a profession of religion, being then sixteen years of age. His mind and heart were now set upon the ministry, which he entered at the age of nineteen. He received an appointment as junior preacher on a large circuit embracing Dayton, Ohio, and it was during his pastorate, in 1847, that the First United Brethren Church of Dayton was organized. For a time he taught school at Lagonda, near Springfield, Ohio. On the 7th of March, 1848, he married Sarah Berger, a daughter of Daniel and Esther Berger, who then lived on a farm near Springfield, Ohio, but had emigrated in 1838 from Berks county, Pennsylvania, where Sarah was born Oct. 9, 1827. The ceremony was performed by Rev. William R. Rhinehart, the first editor of the Religious Telescope. The home which was then established has always been notable for its generous hospitality.

In September, 1848, he became a member of the Miami Annual Conference of the Church of the United Brethren in Christ, at its session in Farmersville, Ohio. He was pastor of the Lewisburg Circuit from 1849 to 1851, of the First United Brethren Church in Cincinnati, Ohio, from 1851 to 1854, from 1856 to 1859, and from 1862 to 1863, and of the First United Brethren Church of Dayton, Ohio, from 1859 to 1861. He was presiding elder of the Miami United Brethren Conference from the autumn of 1855 to 1856, from 1861 to 1862, and from 1863 to 1864. In June, 1854, he was appointed the first foreign missionary of the United Brethren Church, the field selected being Africa, and sailed from New York City, Jan. 23, 1855, with Rev. D. K. Flickinger and Dr. D. C. Kumler, appointed later, landing at Freetown, Sierra Leone, West Africa, Feb. 26, 1855. After assisting in locating a mission near Freetown, he returned late in the summer. This mission has since grown until now it is one of the largest and most important in Western Africa.

In 1864 he was chosen Assistant Publishing Agent of the United Brethren Publishing House, at Dayton, Ohio, and in 1865 he was elected by the General Conference Principal Agent, becoming sole Publishing Agent in 1866, and served the Church in this position until 1897, a total period of thirty-three years. During this time the net assets of the Publishing House increased from about $11,000 to over $322,000. The present net assets are over $659,000. During Mr. Shuey's administration the business was firmly established and its credit was of the highest order. Mr. Shuey is an excellent business man, and his strict integrity and strong perseverance amply qualified him for the responsible and laborious position to which the greater portion of his active life was devoted.

It was mainly through the instrumentality of Mr. Shuey that the first and only theological seminary of the United Brethren Church, at first called Union Biblical Seminary, now Bonebrake Theological Seminary, located at Dayton, Ohio, was founded in 1871. He first suggested the idea to the General Conference, in 1869, advocated it, and finally secured the action of the General Conference which led to the establishing of the institution. For many years he was a member of the Executive Committee of the Seminary, and upon his retirement from the management of the Publishing House, in 1897, the General Conference elected him Business Manager of the Seminary, which position he held for four years, when, in 1901, he retired from official work in the Church, at the age of seventy-four.

Mr. Shuey has been a minister in the United Brethren Church for a period of seventy-one years, and has never missed a session of the Miami Annual Conference, to which he has belonged during this whole period. He has been a delegate to nine General Conferences and the secretary of one; a member of the Board of Missions twenty-six years; one of the first directors of the Church Erection Society; for twelve years from its organization the superintendent of the General Sabbath-school Association, and for many years its treasurer; for four years a member of the Church Board of Education; for twenty-two years a trustee of Otterbein University; a member of the Executive Committee of Union Biblical Seminary; a member of the Church Commission on Revision of the Confession of Faith and Amendment of the Constitution of the Church; and for many years a member of the General

Board of Trustees of the Church. He was a trustee of the First United Brethren Church of Dayton, Ohio, for forty years, a member of the Montgomery County Bible Society, president of the Dayton United Brethren Ministers' Association, a member of the Dayton Board of Education and of the Board of Trade, for twenty-seven years a director of the Fourth National Bank, and for a number of years vice-president of the Union Safe Deposit and Trust Company, of Dayton, a director of the Associated Charities and a director and vice-president of the Miami Valley Hospital of Dayton, and has occupied still other positions of trust in the Church and community.

In 1859 he became the joint author with Rev. D. K. Flickinger of a volume entitled, "Discourses on Doctrinal and Practical Subjects." He also originated and edited for many years the Year Book of the United Brethren Church; was editor of the General Conference Minutes from 1865 to 1893; contributed an article on the United Brethren Church to McClintock and Strong's Cyclopedia; has issued a number of pamphlets, and has been a frequent contributor to the Religious Telescope. In 1880 the title of Doctor of Divinity was conferred upon him by Hartsville University, but was declined. At a later date, when the title was bestowed upon him by Otterbein University, he was persuaded to accept it.

One of the most difficult and delicate tasks which fell to Mr. Shuey's lot was the management for the Liberals of the prolonged litigation between the Liberals and Radicals following the secession of the Radicals from the United Brethren Church in 1889. Trials were held in many States and in the Federal courts, resulting finally in the awarding of the Church property to the Liberals in nearly all cases. The Publishing House, of which Mr. Shuey was at that time the manager, was required to pay the expenses of the Liberals, and Mr. Shuey employed and instructed the numerous attorneys engaged in the controversy on the side of the Liberals. One of the chief legal counselors was Hon. Lewis B. Gunckel, whose mother, Barbara Shuey Gunckel, was a sister of Mr. Shuey's father. Among the judges who decided the case in favor of the Liberals was Hon. William H. Taft, then a judge of the United States District Court, and later President of the United States.

In politics Mr. Shuey was at first a Whig, but has been a Republican since the organization of that party, though often voting independently on local issues. From his youth he favored the abolition of slavery, and he has always advocated the prohibition of the liquor traffic and believed in the extension of the suffrage to women.

On March 7, 1898, Mr. and Mrs. Shuey celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage at their home in Dayton, a large number attending the reception in their honor. Soon after Mrs. Shuey's health declined, and after nearly three years of illness, during a large part of which she was unable to walk, she died of paralysis on June 27, 1901, at the age of 73 years, 8 months and 18 days. Mr. Shuey tenderly cared for her until the end came. Since then Mr. Shuey has continued to live most of the time in his own commodious house, which he had built for himself and family in 1882, at 35 South Perry Street, where he receives every possible attention from his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Shuey.

On the 9th of February, 1917, he celebrated his ninetieth birthday anniversary. He received many letters, cards, and telegrams, and numerous beautiful plants and bouquets. About six hundred called to congratulate him upon his having attained such an advanced age. Among them were numerous general officers of the United Brethren Church. The United Brethren Publishing House ceased its operation for an hour, and publisher, editors, and employees, nearly three hundred in number, called at Mr. Shuey's home, about two blocks distant, and, passing before him, each laid a carnation on a table at his side. An address was then presented to him by the publisher, and another by the secretary of the Foreign Missionary Society of the Church, to both of which he replied in fitting words. Later about forty members of the Dayton United Brethren Ministers' Association called and conducted an interesting program, including addresses by the resident bishop and the pastor of the First United Brethren Church, to which Mr. Shuey made an extended and impressive response.

Mr. Shuey has in his possession a precious heirloom in the form of an old wall clock, nearly eight feet in height, which, so far as known, has been in the Shuey family ever since it came from its maker. As indicated by inscriptions on the clock itself, it was made in 1774, by Daniel Rose, Reading. It belonged to Mr. Shuey's father and grandfather, and was brought to Montgomery county, Ohio, by his grandfather, in 1805. It has stood in Mr. Shuey's home for forty-three years, and at the age of one hundred and forty-five years, with the original brass works, it still keeps excellent time.

Mr. Shuey, with his son William A. and his son's wife, passed unharmed through the great flood in Dayton, March 25-28, 1913, having eight feet one inch of water on the first floor of the house. They lived for three days and nights on the second floor, with no fire, and very little light at night.

Mr. Shuey is a large man, being about five feet, ten and one-half inches in height and weighing in his prime about one hundred and eighty pounds. He is of a quiet disposition and humble bearing, and has the full appearance of a deep thinker, which he undoubtedly is. He is kind and friendly in manner, and is universally respected by those who have the pleasure of a personal acquaintance. He not only possesses business qualifications of a high order, but has been a wise counselor, an able preacher, and a successful pastor. He has been one of the most influential men in the Church to which he has devoted his life, and in the community in which he has lived for more than fifty years.

Mr. and Mrs. Shuey had four children, viz: Albert Lawrence, Edwin Longstreet, William Applegate, and Lincoln Chase.

1. Albert Lawrence Shuey (5) was born in Cincinnati, Ohio, July 6, 1852, and died in Dayton, Ohio, November 28, 1855, aged 3 years, 4 months and 22 days.

2. Edwin Longstreet Shuey, A.M., LL.D. (5), was born Jan. 3, 1857, in Cincinnati, Ohio. Educated in the public schools of Dayton, graduating from the high school in 1874, with the highest honors of his class and the gold medal for scholarship. He graduated at Otterbein University in 1877 with honors. Received the degree of A.M. in 1880. After graduation he studied law for one year, then taught seven years—at Green Hill Seminary, Indiana, Fostoria Academy, Ohio, and his Alma Mater, Otterbein.

In 1885 he became the head of the Book Department of the United Brethren Publishing House, Dayton, where he remained twelve years, making the "U. B. Book Store" a prominent and successful feature of the business and of the city. It was during his superintendency that the "International Teacher's Bible" was introduced into this country and the American Edition made. He was the American Editor of the Teachers' Aids accompanying this Bible, which were new and practical in their methods. The "Word Book" method he employed here has since been enlarged and adopted by other Bibles. He also wrote a hand book of "The United Brethren in Christ."

In 1897 Mr. Shuey became head of the newly planned Welfare Work of The National Cash Register Co., doing pioneer work in organizing social betterment work in neighborhoods and practical comfort among factory people. From his studies during these three years here, he wrote "Factory People and Their Employers," containing practical examples of welfare work in this country and Europe. He has written numerous articles on this subject and on educational themes.

Three years later Mr. Shuey became associated with the Lowe Brothers Company, Dayton, among the largest paint and varnish manufacturers of the country. In this business he continued until 1918. At the same time he has been engaged in other business enterprises in his own and other cities.

Much of Mr. Shuey's time and effort has been given to church and other organizations: Since 1887, trustee of the Dayton Young Men's Christian Association; five years its president; for eighteen years chairman of the Educational Committee, developing a complete scheme of night school work.

Since 1893, member of the International Committee of the Y. M. C. A. In 1894 one of its representatives at the Jubilee in London, and in 1898 president of the International Convention. As a member of the sub-committee on Education, has had part in the great educational work organized in all parts of the country.

Among other interests: Member of the Ohio State Committee, Y. M. C. A.; member of the International Sunday-school Lessons Committee (1902-1908); Board of Foreign Missions of the United Brethren in Christ; member of the Committee of Direction of the Commission on Inter-Church Federations in the Federal Council of Churches; trustee of Otterbein University; trustee of the Dayton Public Library (1897-1912); and other civic and church organizations, and president of the Association of National Advertisers (1916).

At the beginning of the war with Germany, he was appointed a member of the Advisory Committee on Labor of the National Council of Defense. At the same time he was named a member of the National War Work Council of the Y. M. C. A., and as a member of its Executive Committee and its Personnel Committee gave nearly a year to the selection and training of Y. M. C. A. workers for overseas service. In 1918 he received the degree of Doctor of Laws from his Alma Mater.

In his own church—the First United Brethren of Dayton—he is president of the Board of Trustees and teacher of the Young Men's Bible Class. In 1916 his class celebrated his fortieth year of continuous Sunday-school service, all but four having been given to teaching, and thirty-one years having been occupied in the one Sunday school.

In 1882 he married Effie Mitchell, of Springfield, Ohio, who has been his active associate in his work in all his interests. "She is the real inspiration of all that has been done and has shared the labor of all these years." They have three children:—Amy Mitchell, Edwin Lincoln, and Sarah Catharine.

1. Amy Mitchell Shuey (6) was born in Westerville, Ohio, March 19, 1885. She graduated at Oberlin College in 1907, with Phi Beta Kappa honors. In 1908 she was married to Alfred G. Bookwalter, now secretary of the Y. M. C. A. of Cincinnati, where they live. They have four children: Alfred Shuey (7), Emily Guitner (7), Amy Edwina (7), and Lewis (7).

2. Edwin Lincoln Shuey (6) was born in Dayton, Ohio, Jan. 3, 1887. He graduated from Oberlin College in 1909. Is engaged in business and farming, and is actively connected with the Y. M. C. A. of his city and county.

3. Sarah Catharine Shuey (6) was born in Dayton, Ohio, Feb. 7, 1893. Spent three years at Oberlin College, specializing in music and sociology. Is an active worker in the Y. W. C. A. of Dayton.

3. William Applegate Shuey, A.M. (5), was born in Cincinnati, Ohio, Feb. 24, 1859. Since 1863 he has been a citizen of Dayton, Ohio. He attended the Fourth District School and Central (now Steele) High School, of Dayton, graduating from the latter institution with distinction on the 14th of June, 1876. He stood high in his studies, and had the honor of being the valedictorian of his class. A gold medal of the value of twenty-five dollars, for the best scholarship in the senior class, was awarded him by the Board of Education. He graduated from Otterbein University, at Westerville, Ohio, with the degree of Bachelor of Arts, in 1879, at the age of twenty years, and from Union Biblical Seminary (now Bonebrake Theological Seminary), at Dayton, Ohio, in 1883. In 1882 he received the degree of Master of Arts from Otterbein University. From 1878 to 1879, while in college, he was secretary of the College Oratorical Association of the State of Ohio. He was pastor of the United Brethren church at Miamisburg, Ohio, for a brief period in 1884. Between the years 1879 and 1898 he was employed the greater portion of the time as clerk, proof-reader, and book editor in the United Brethren Publishing House at Dayton, Ohio. As proof-reader and book editor the manuscripts and proofs of many important publications were submitted to him for criticism and correction. He is the author of the "Manual of the United Brethren Publishing House, Historical and Descriptive," published in 1892, and of portions of other publications, and he also edited the Year Books of the United Brethren Church from 1886 to 1888.

Mr. Shuey was a charter member and for several years a member of the official board of the High Street United Brethren Church of Dayton, organized in 1881; statistical secretary of the Miami United Brethren Conference from 1884 to 1887; and one of the organizers and the first librarian of the United Brethren Historical Society, founded in 1885.

On the 9th of February, 1913, Mr. Shuey married Hulda Werner, of Dayton. Mr. and Mrs. Shuey reside at 35 South Perry Street, Dayton, Ohio, with Mr. Shuey's father. They are members of the First United Brethren Church of Dayton.

4. Lincoln Chase Shuey, A.B. (5), was born in Dayton, Ohio, April 23, 1865. He was educated in the Fourth District School, Central (now Steele) High School, and Prof. J. A. Robert's Academy, in Dayton, Ohio, and in Otterbein University, at Westerville, Ohio, graduating from the latter institution, with the degree of Bachelor of Arts, in 1884, at the early age of nineteen years. He stood in the first rank in scholarship. He immediately entered the work of the Young Men's Christian Association, and was general secretary at Xenia, Ohio, from 1884 to 1885, at Toledo, Ohio, from 1885 to 1887, and of the Harlem Branch of the New York City Association from 1887 to 1890. In 1888 he went to Europe as a delegate to the World's Conference of Young Men's Christian Associations at Stockholm, Sweden. He traveled extensively in Great Britain and on the Continent, visiting England, France, Belgium, Holland, Germany, Denmark, and Sweden. In 1890 he made a second visit to Europe, this time confining his attention to England and Paris. While abroad he wrote a number of very interesting letters to members of the family, descriptive of his travels, which are preserved in typewritten form by his father.

In the autumn of 1890 ill health compelled him to resign his position in New York, and he spent a large part of the year following at Asheville, North Carolina. He visited his home in Dayton twice during this period, and was planning to return to Dayton permanently when he was stricken with diphtheria and died suddenly on the 23d of October, 1891, at Asheville, after an illness of only two days. Thus his promising life was cut short at the early age of twenty-six years and six months. His remains now rest in the family lot in Woodland cemetery, Dayton, Ohio, beside those of his mother.

Mr. Shuey's work in connection with the Young Men's Christian Association was very successful, and his broad education and exceptional talents, together with his intense application in that field of Christian endeavor, resulted in his rapid promotion to positions of great responsibility. He was genial in his manner, and possessed the confidence and esteem of a wide circle of friends.

III. JOHN SHUEY (2)

John Shuey, third son of Ludwig Shuey, was born Dec. 10, 1752, as given in the Dayton picnic paper, but in the Swatara Church book his name is given with the date Dec. 7. 1752. His sponsors at baptism were his uncle John Shuey and wife Catharine. His younger days were spent in Bethel township, Lancaster county, Pa. He married a Miss Russell, and had three children, viz: John, Christina and Elizabeth. He moved to Washington county, Maryland, about two miles from Boonsboro. Here he followed farming. The date when he moved to Maryland is not known; but we find in the Recorder's office at Hagerstown, that he sold a piece of land to Yost Deaner, in 1796. This is recorded in Book G, page 243. Then in 1798 he bought a tract of land from John Kore, Book K, page 825; at the same time he sold two tracts to John Kore, Book K, page 827-829. He also sold a tract of land to Yost Deaner in 1798, Book L, page 131. His name in all these cases is written John Shua. In 1801 he bought a tract of land from Joseph Chaplin, Book O, page 36. Here his name is written John Sheney. We thus see that he was possessed of considerable property. He was a farmer all his lifetime. He was a member of the Reformed Church. He died about the year 1811. Mrs. Shuey died a few years afterwards. They died in Washington county, Maryland.

"Wm. D. Shuey enlisted on the first call for three years' volunteers, in 1861, in Company K, 31st Indiana Volunteers, under Captain Charles Smith, Colonel Charles Cruft. The regiment joined the 1st Brigade, 1st Division, 4th Corps, Army of the Cumberland.

"Doshier, as he was familiarly called by his comrades, was a good soldier, and always found at his post in time of danger. He was quite a favorite among his fellows, and re-enlisted as a veteran at the expiration of his first term of service. He was finally discharged at Victoria, Texas, Nov. 18, 1865."

thousand acres of land on the headwaters of Middle River, a stream passing through the center of the county and one of the three forming the Shenandoah River, lower down the valley. This land was a part of the Burden grant. Burden was a young Scotchman, who visited the valley of Virginia about 1730, and having on a hunt captured a buffalo calf at what is now Buffalo Gap, in Augusta county, carried it to the capital, then Williamsburg, and presented it to the Colonial governor, who was so pleased with it and Burden's description of the valley that he induced him to go back to Scotland and get emigrants, promising to every head of a family a thousand acres.

In our former edition we selected Christian Shuey as a type of the older Virginia Shueys. He was erect, robust, hardy, fearless, and honest; over six feet in height, and his weight above 200 pounds. He was modest and unobtrusive in his manner, and temperate in his habits. He never drank any intoxicating beverages nor used tobacco in any form. His father's house was a general rendezvous for the preachers of the United Brethren Church, who near the beginning of the last century pushed their way on horseback into the upper valley of the Shenandoah. For many years Henry Shuey's barn had been used as a preaching place, and the plain teaching and artless manner of these primitive pioneers awakened a calm religious fervor in young Christian's breast. In the summer of 1814 Catharine Geeding (born in Shenandoah county, Virginia, in 1795), a granddaughter of one of the three founders of this sect, was married to Christian Shuey. They began life together on a farm of several hundred acres, a part of the original tract, to which by thrift and industry Christian added a valuable flouring and grist mill. In the early days when Richmond, 130 miles away, was the chief market, flour from Shuey's mill would be passed without inspection and, being sold on its brand alone, would command the highest price. At this mill Christian Shuey had a fine opportunity to display the charity and love for his fellow-man, however lowly, which so strongly marked his character. For almost a generation after his death people in the neighborhood would recount how poor settlers along the mountain would trudge, often through winter's snow and storm, to Shuey's mill, and he would cheerfully give them what they could carry away, without any recompense save the comfortable feeling that follows an act of charity.

He was a staunch Whig and was strongly opposed to secession. His last days were embittered by the spectacle of his country torn asunder. The slavery question did not trouble him. By his will, executed before the outbreak of the Civil War, he provided for the manumission of his slaves. For the elder ones a term of five, ten or fifteen years was fixed, during which time they were "to continue in servitude in the family of the son or daughter to whom given, to serve the family, for the benefit of the family, provided they behave and conduct themselves properly. If they do not, they are to be hired out for the benefit of my said children." The younger slaves were to be freed at the age of thirty, that being regarded as an age when they would have rendered sufficient service to repay the cost and care of raising and still young enough to provide against want in old age. All children born after the date of the will were to become free along with their parents. It is needless to state that the Civil War abolished slavery forever in this country.

Christian Shuey passed through life to his 70th year in perfect health of mind and body. Then one of the most painful of maladies, cancer in the stomach, afflicted him. He bore the pain for months in silence, even concealing it from his devoted wife. He waited before consulting a physician until business called him to the State Capital. He was then told the nature of his ailment and that he could live but a few months longer. This was in November, 1861. He returned home, disclosed his condition to his family, met his fate with Spartan fortitude, and Feb. 24, 1862, died the death of a true Christian. His body was laid to rest in Bethlehem church yard, that being a church building for which he had given the land, and he had been the principal contributor to its construction, and of its congregation he was a devout and unostentatious member. After his death the mill property was sold, but his widow continued to live in the old home, and she farmed with prudence and care until she died in her 88th year. The farm is now owned by Lee Trimble, whose first wife was a granddaughter of Christian and Catharine Geeding Shuey.

1. George Adam Shuey (4) was born at what was then known as Shuey's mill, in Augusta county, Virginia, June 7, 1815. His baptismal name was that of his great-grandfather, George Adam Guething, (Geeding), one of the founders of the United Brethren Church. He showed a great aptitude for books and study in his boyhood, and learned much of Greek and Latin under the tutelage of a country school teacher. He then attended a classical academy in Stanton, and also helped on his father's farm. He made a journey on horseback through the West, as the States of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois were then known, and, returning home prepared to enter the ministry. His first year as an itinerant preacher was spent on the Winchester circuit, and the second year in Frederick county, Maryland. During his second year's labor he attended a camp-meeting in Franklin county, Pennsylvania, and there met Miss Martha Coldsmith, the niece of Rev. Samuel Huber, a leading member of the Pennsylvania Conference. They were married Sept. 1, 1840, and had six children, viz: Sarah Catharine, Mary Eliza, Theodore Frelinghuysen, Marie Antoinette, Ephraim Geeding, and another son who died in infancy. He then purchased a farm seven miles north of his father's home, midway between Buffalo Gap and Churchville, and devoted the rest of his life to agricultural pursuits, though preaching occasionally and performing the other functions of a minister of the gospel.

During the Civil war George A. Shuey remained true to the Union, and in this he was strongly upheld by his patriotic wife. After the war, the former officials having been disqualified, he was appealed to by his former political enemies to fill certain minor offices, as register and justice of the peace, and he performed the duties in a manner satisfactory to all. This showed the high esteem in which he was held by the community. In March, 1872, his faithful wife died of dropsy. His second wife was Miss Susan Ryan, the daughter of Nicholas Ryan, a prominent farmer and stockman in the western part of the county. They were married Feb. 2, 1875, but before the end of the year, he suffered from exposure, due to a sudden change in the weather, and was attacked with a congestion of the lungs from which he never recovered. He died Oct. 25, 1876, soothed by the kind ministrations of his Christian wife and happy in the love of God.

George A. Shuey possessed many of the characteristics of his father. He led a just and upright life, was humane, generous, modest in his manner and temperate in his habits, a stranger to the use of tobacco, and intoxicating liquors. At the time of his death, Rev. Dr. J. W. Hott, afterwards a bishop of the United Brethren Church, was assistant editor of the Religious Telescope, the principal church organ, at Dayton, Ohio. Rev. Dr. Hott, soon after the death of his friend, the subject of this sketch, wrote for his paper a fitting and beautiful memorial, from which the following brief extract is taken:

"Forty years ago his name stood on the itinerant list. Reasons sufficient to his mind caused him to prefer a local relation for the greater part of his life. Still he was a preacher.

He was an honor to the cause he espoused in youth, and his life reflected a beauty and praise to the church of his ancestors of which any company of Christians might be justly proud. As I look back upon his life of uniform consistency and Christian purity, it shines adorned with a luster of peculiar beauty. His tenderness and quietness of spirit made him a model of simplicity and honesty of character. Few men were more real than he. His reading and observation opened the widest field of thought, and furnished him with a basis for a good view of any great question. There were few men not given wholly to literary pursuits who were so well informed upon the living questions of the day. His exercises in public at once impressed one with his familiarity with the word of God. Its spirit commingled with the spirit of his life, and its form was the mold to which his thought and speech were conformed."

1. Sarah Catharine Shuey (5), eldest daughter of George A. and Martha Shuey, was born on the farm of her parents, near Churchville, Va., June 25, 1841.* In 1858-59 she was a student at Otterbein University, Westerville, Ohio, one of the first co-educational institutions of learning in the country. She was married Dec. 22, 1863, to George Christian Hanger, of the Churchville neighborhood, who was then serving in the Confederate Army. After the war they settled on a farm a mile east of Churchville, and there resided until Mr. Hanger's death, Nov. 23, 1904. He was a highly respected citizen and for many years prior to his death had been an elder of the Presbyterian church at Churchville. immigrant inspector at Key West, Florida. In 1916 he became a junior lieutenant in the Florida Naval Militia, and is now a captain in the United States Navy.

3. Theodore F. Shuey (5), eldest son of George A. and Martha Shuey, was born Feb. 2, 1845. He lived upon his father's farm until 1862, when he entered Otterbein University. However, at the close of the school year, as he was about to enlist in an Ohio regiment, a dear, kind uncle in Franklin county, Pa., sent his son, then a student at Pennsylvania College, Gettysburg, to Ohio to bring his bellicose nephew to his home. They arrived just as General Lee was invading the State. The students of Pennsylvania College and Theological Seminary were the first to respond to President Lincoln's call for emergency troops. Young Shuey and his cousins went to Harrisburg and enlisted in this company and were sent to Gettysburg to join their regiment. They reached Gettysburg after the regiment had been routed and as the Confederates were taking possession of the town. Thus these would-be soldiers witnessed the great battle, seeing it from the Federal side the first day and from the opposing side the two following days. After the battle they joined their regiment at Harrisburg and went with it to the Maryland border. By a singular coincidence the only two members of Company A., 26th Pa. Volunteer emergency men, who were not students at the college and seminary, were the subjects of this sketch, and the author of this family history. The same kind uncle got young Theodore a school to teach, but soon growing tired of it he ran off to Philadelphia and enlisted for three years or the war." As a member of the 18th Corps he saw hard service in the campaign of 1864 around Richmond and Petersburg, and in the spring of 1865 he would have died in a hospital if the same kind uncle, Samuel Garver, had not come to his rescue. In June, 1865, he was able to go to Harrisburg, and obtain a discharge from the army, and before the end of the following month he was at his father's home in Virginia. In the fall he returned to Otterbein and remained until near the end of 1866, when he again went to his home and began applying his knowledge of shorthand to the newspapers of his native State. It should be stated that when in his fifteenth year an itinerant minister had his home at George A. Shuey's house, and he, Rev. Samuel Evers, when a student at Otterbein, gained some knowledge of shorthand. Young Theodore became interested in the art and pursued the study with vigor. Considering the time, soon after the war, he met with much encouragement, but in the latter part of 1868 he went to Washington in search of a better field. He was employed by the official reporters of the United States Senate and in the following year was given a place on the corps. That has been his life work. In 1896 his chief died and Theodore was given his place by a unanimous vote of the Senate. In addition to his regular duties he has reported Congressional committees and conventions in nearly all the principal cities of the country, and he spent more than half a dozen of his vacations in Europe, some of them extending from early in March until late in November.

On the death of his father in 1876, Theodore F. acquired the old home place, and to round it out properly he bought six distinct parcels of land, not aggregating altogether fifty acres. During all the ensuing years this has been his country home, a place of rest and recreation. He has been twice married. His first wife was Miss Martha Summerfield Mayes, a native of Alabama. They were married July 7, 1881, in Charlottesville, Va., and three children were the issue of this marriage, viz: Agnes Louise, Paul Garth, and Philip McGregor. His second wife was Miss Willie M. Mayes, a native of Mississippi, and they were married in Mobile, Alabama, Nov. 7, 1887. They have two children, viz: Katharine Goode and Dorothy Jefferson. Mr. and Mrs. Holland removed to Salem, Va., about 1858, where he continued in the mercantile business. At that time their eldest son was a student in Roanoke College, and their object in removing from Augusta county was to be near their sons, while attending that college. Mr. Holland was a captain in the Confederate Army, and lived, a highly respected citizen, until his death at a ripe old age in 1887. His widow survived him for many years and died at the age of 85, at the home of her son, Robert, in Charlotte, North Carolina. They had three sons, George W., Robert C., and Newton.

1. George William Holland (5) was born July 16, 1838. After graduating at Roanoke College and Gettysburg Theological Seminary he entered the ministry of the Lutheran Church. However, in July, 1861, he enlisted as a private soldier in the Confederate Army, but in the following October, when returning from outpost duty, he lost his left arm by the accidental discharge of a gun in the hands of one of the company. Soon he was a teacher at Roanoke College and captain of a company of reserves. Re-entering the ministry he was united in marriage, Aug. 21, 1867, with Miss Pauline, only daughter of Rev. D. F. Bittle, D.D., the distinguished president of Roanoke College. For seventeen years prior to his death, Sept. 30, 1895, Rev. Dr. Holland was president of Newberry College, South Carolina. A beautiful memorial volume was prepared under the direction of the college authorities and printed at Charleston, S. C., and a handsome structure, Holland Memorial Hall, was erected on the college campus. His widow, a noble woman who shared all her husband's toils and triumphs, is still living at Newberry, South Carolina. Of their two children the daughter died in infancy and the son was killed in his fourteenth year by the accidental discharge of a gun in the hands of a companion.

2. Robert Christian Holland (5) was born April 20, 1840, in Churchville, Augusta county, Va., was the second son of Robert Harper Holland and Eliza Ann Holland (nee Shuey). His early years were spent at school in Augusta county, taught by his mother in her own home and by his father at Oakland and Shiloh. At the age of twelve to fifteen he attended school in Middlebrock, Va. In 1855 his parents moved to Salem, Va., and he entered the preparatory department of Roanoke College, graduating in 1860. He pursued a post-graduate course in Hebrew and French, a more or less indistinct purpose of preparing for the ministry having been entertained, fostered largely by that great and good man, Dr. D. F. Bittle, president of the college, whose blessed influence both as pastor and teacher was often recognized with pathetic tenderness and affection. To his honored parents and to Dr. Bittle, he was wont to attribute the chief share, under God, in shaping his life.

In the spring of 1861 he volunteered as a Confederate soldier, joining the Salem Artillery, and was stationed on Craney Island in Hampton Roads, where he remained one year. Desiring a more active service, he made application for a transfer to the twenty-eighth Virginia regiment of Pickett's brigade. He reached his new command just in time to engage in the battle of Seven Pines. Then followed the Seven Days Battle around Richmond, and participating in all the engagements of his command, his gallantry was rewarded by promotion to position of Color Guard, and afterward to that of Sergeant.

Following the fortunes of Pickett's brigade, he was at Second Manassas, where he was severely wounded. Rejoining the army as soon as possible, he participated in engagements on the Rappahannock, and in Eastern North Carolina, and in the summer of 1863 he was again marching with his surviving comrades, toward the Potomac, through Maryland into Pennsylvania, pressing toward Gettysburg, which was reached for that memorable third of July, and participated in the famous Pickett's Charge. He was among a number who reached the breastworks, and captured the cannon in front of them. Here he was wounded in both arms. Wounded and a prisoner, he landed after a lapse of two weeks on David's Island near New York. Here during the summer he had a hard siege of sickness from his wounds, and being disabled for military service, was released on parole, and in November reached his home in Salem, Va. After recovering sufficiently, he went to the University of Virginia in 1864, to study law, graduating in 1866. He practised the profession in Salem two years.

In 1868 he entered the ministry of his Lord and Master. His first charge was at Hebron Church, Madison Court House, Va., which he served until 1875, when he was called to Shepherdstown, West Virginia. He remained in Shepherdstown only three years, because of urgent solicitation to fill the vacancy in the faculty of Roanoke College, caused by death of Dr. Bittle, being elected Vice-President, but performing the duties of President, and occupying the chair of Moral and Intellectual Science. His extreme modesty would not allow the title of President to be affixed to his name, so sacred did he hold the name of D. F. Bittle. After three years of active service as President and professor at the College, he accepted a call to Martinsburg, West Virginia. This call furnished a not unwelcome opportunity to return to the Gospel ministry, and from 1881 to 1888 was pastor of St. John's Church, which was largely rebuilt and remodeled during this time.

In June, 1888, having accepted a call to Charleston, South Carolina, he entered upon the work there as pastor of Wentworth Street Church, now St. Andrews, Oct. 14, of same year, and remained there nearly ten years. In 1892 the degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred upon him by Roanoke College. Also in this year of 1892 Dr. Holland was called by the Board of Missions to go to Japan to begin work for the United Synod in that country, but this call he felt compelled to decline, but held himself ready to obey the call of the Church for anything here at home that he could do for the work. In the providence of God he did a great work for his Church in Japan.

At the time of going to Charleston, S. C., Dr. Holland refused an urgent call to St. Luke's Church, Baltimore. Also in 1892, he received a unanimous call to the Church of the Ascension, Savannah, Georgia, and in 1896, a similar call to College Church, Salem, Virginia. These flattering calls he felt constrained to decline, for his work as pastor in Charleston. He was elected to the highest positions the Church had to offer, among them that of president of the Board of Directors of the Theological Seminary, and he was thus in position to foster a deep interest in the Seminary of the Southern Church.

This intense interest in this institution was greatly manifested in 1900 by inaugurating a movement for the endowment of the Seminary, called the Century Memorial. He was made chairman of this fund, the Century Memorial Fund, and in two years it was carried to a successful issue, which caused great rejoicing throughout the Church.

In 1888 he yielded to a pressing call to become pastor of St. Mark's Church at Charlotte, North Carolina. While in Charlotte he also taught in Elizabeth College for women. Work seemed to heap itself upon him, filling a term as president of the North Carolina Synod. also.

In 1904 he was placed by the United Synod at the head of the Mission Work, Home and Foreign. The work developed along all lines. The founding of a school for boys in Japan marked a special development in the foreign work. Beside being a busy pastor and teacher, he had the Century Endowment and other official work in the Church. These eleven years in Charlotte perhaps proved the busiest years of his life.

Later the Mission work was divided, and he was placed at the head of the Foreign Mission Board, and having resigned as pastor of St. Mark's, Charlotte, at the request of the Board of Missions, he devoted his entire time to that work. The school for boys in Japan was perhaps the crowning joy of his life-work, at the same time the heaviest (at a cost of nearly seventy-five thousand dollars for building only). He was signally successful in leading the hosts of God's people into large undertakings for the Kingdom of Christ. He filled with marked ability all the highest positions in the Church, being president of all the Synods in which he lived, and of the general body, the United Synod in the South.

He was often heard to say that he never wanted "to be laid on the shelf," and also hoped the Lord would spare him a lingering illness. Both these wishes were granted, for he passed away in Columbia, South Carolina, his home for the last few years of his life, after an illness of only two weeks, having worked up to the last.

He entered into Life on the seventeenth day of November, 1915. His body rests in East Hill cemetery, Salem, Virginia, with his two little ones, his father, mother and brother Newton, awaiting the glorious resurrection. He was trusted and loved by the whole Church as it is the privilege of a few to enjoy. In his death the Church sustained a great loss.

Dr. Holland was twice married. The first marriage was to Kate Brown Shirey, Sept. 25, 1866. They had three children, two dying in infancy, and one living to the age of seven years. His second marriage was to Mary Virginia McClanahan, Jan. 12, 1893. There were no children. His wife survives him. His lovely home life, so sacred, so blessed, words fail to depict. His own words of tribute to a friend are well fitting here, for in his home were "shrines hallowed by the heart's sincerest devotion, shrines consecrated by tenderest thought, most sacred vows, love's sweetest ministrations and the incense of pledged affection."

To his home his friends loved to come. Being of tender and sympathetic affection as pastor he was loved by all. As a citizen he enjoyed the highest honor and esteem. Every church and community was better for his having served in it.

"He was gentle as he was brave and as courtly in the tender offices of affection as he was princely and undaunted amid the disasters of war." Much is expressed in the beautiful inscription on his tombstone by his devoted friend and pastor.

"Exemplary as a citizen both in war and in peace ;

Eminent as a Christian through forty-seven years in the Lutheran ministry ;

Consecrated to the work of the evangelization of the world."

At the time of his death he was residing at (Eau Claire), near Columbus, S. C. For many years before his death he had been devoting himself particularly to the Japan mission field, and since his death his devoted Christian wife has been striving in the same field.

VII. GEORGE SHUEY (3)

Was born Sept. 10, 1794, in Bethel township, Dauphin county, Pa. The following year, 1795, his father moved to Augusta county, Virginia. He was brought up on the farm, and himself became a practical farmer. His farm occupied the middle of the large tract of land bought by his father when he located in Virginia, his brother Christian having the tract adjoining his on the north side and his brother Jacob, the tract south on which the original home stands.

He married Elizabeth Misor, and to them six children were born, viz: George Washington, Sarah Margaret, James William, Elizabeth Jane, Benjamin Franklin, and John Jacob.

He was a man of striking personality. Tall, broad-shouldered, erect, smooth-shaven, well proportioned, dignified, and quiet in his manner, brave, daring and stalwart in character; conscientious in the discharge of every duty, of unquestioned business integrity, temperate and clean in his habits, using neither intoxicants nor tobacco in any form.

He was not merely a life long member of Mt. Tabor Lutheran Church but a faithful active deacon in it most of his life, and a constant attendant and active participant in its every public service.

The last twenty years of his life were saddened, first by the death of his capable and worthy son on the field of battle, later by the loss of all of his slaves who were so much capital in those days, and finally by the failure in business of two influential old friends for whom he had gone security for thousands of dollars. The richest heritage he left his family is the memory of those years of patient toiling and self-denial in the decline of life to pay off other men's debts. The burden was shared as all his burdens were, by his faithful wife and both lived to see the last note of this surety paid and their own home free of encumbrance.

His devoted life companion died Feb. 14, 1881, and on Aug. 27, of the same year, 1881, he peacefully followed her, aged 86 years, 11 months and 17 days. Their bodies lie buried in the same double grave by that of their son, Frank.

1. George Washington Shuey (4) was born in Augusta county, Va., Sept. 26, 1824. He was brought up on his father's farm in the sturdy methods of those early days before the building of railroads in Virginia, and many were the long and perilous journeys he made even as a young boy with four-horse loads of grain and farm produce to their two markets of that day, Scottsville and Richmond, his only companion being a negro slave boy a little younger than himself. He was given a country school education, however, which was supplemented by two year's attendance at the Virginia Institute (now Roanoke College), then located within the bounds of Mt. Tabor congregation. On Sept. 24, 1846 he married Sarah Margaret Beard and to this union six children were born, namely Elizabeth, Catherine, George, Jacob, Franklin and Margaret. In 1855 he bought from his uncle Jacob Shuey the old first Shuey home in Virginia and in it lived the remainder of his life, and from it passed to the life beyond, Dec. 6, 1901, at the age of 77 years, 2 months and 10 days.

In build and appearance he was a typical Shuey. Six feet tall, broad shouldered and stout, weighing about 200 pounds; fearless and brave, happy-faced and cordial in his manner, and strictly temperate in his habits, using neither intoxicants nor tobacco. He was a bountiful provider, hospitable and open-hearted, kind to the poor, true to his friends, helpful to his neighbors, honest in all business transactions, loyal and devoted to his home and family, strong in his faith in God, patient in suffering, triumphant in his death.

In politics he was a Democrat; during the Civil war he took sides with the land of his birth, the Southland.

In religion he was a lifelong Lutheran, having served Mt. Tabor congregation as a deacon the greater part of his life and up to his death. He saw the old church built and was chairman of the building committee for the present structure; was instrumental in procuring more land around the church and in enlarging its cemetery.

He was a man of unusually good judgment, well read, public spirited and progressive, but cared nothing for civic offices or honors. He did, however, in his younger years, succeed his cousin, William H. Shuey, as captain of the Middlebrook Rifles.

When the C. & O. R. R. was building through that section of Virginia he furnished for it both lumber and labor in consideration of which he was made a stockholder of the company, in which capacity he attended meetings in Richmond, going then through the mountains over whose icy slopes he had so courageously driven as a boy.

He was confined to his room and most of the time to his bed for the last fourteen months of his life by rheumatism, which settled in a fractured kneecap. He suffered intensely, but was conscious and rational to the last. Just as his spirit was departing he looked up, then closed his eyes, folded his hands across his breast, took one deep breath and was gone. "Mark the perfect man and behold the upright for the end of that man is peace."

His faithful wife survived him by fourteen and one-half years, making her home with their youngest daughter, Margaret (Mrs. C. W. Foss), at 3808-8th Ave, Rock Island, Illinois, in which home she fell peacefully asleep May 15, 1916, at the age of 87 years, 7 months, and 15 days. Her body rests in Mt. Tabor cemetery between that of her husband and their little son, Jacob.

1. Elizabeth Virginia Shuey (5) was born Sept. 19, 1847. She was given a good country school education, and on Feb. 14, 1869, was married to J. Luther Hailman, of Augusta county, Va. With him she has shared many vicissitudes of both prosperity and adversity.

They have lived in a number of different towns in Virginia, in Florence, Alabama, and in Washington, D. C.

They are members of the Lutheran Church and are the parents of seven children: Harriet or Hattie Shuey, George Franklin, Sarah Katharine, Clifton Luther, Hubert Victor, Eugene Vernon, and John Allemong.

In 1892, during the period of their greatest financial prosperity, and while they were owners of a beautiful old southern home in Front Royal, Va., their two daughters passed away. Hattie (6), on July 14, at the age of 22, of typhoid fever. Katie (6), on Oct. 15, aged 16 years. They were both consistent members of the Lutheran Church and passed consciously and triumphantly to the life beyond. Their bodies lie buried side by side in the Front Royal cemetery in plain view of their old home. Hattie was an artist of some promise.

Clifton Luther Hailman (6) is also gone. He was engaged in magazine photographic work on the Pacific Coast, and in the spring of 1909 he left his boarding home for a few day's rest on account of a severe headache from which he was suffering, and has never been heard of since, though diligent search was made for him. He was intensely fond of sea-bathing and having poor heart action the family believe he was drowned while bathing.

George Franklin Hailman (6) lives in Chester, Pa., where he is superintendent of the Southern Pennsylvania Traction Co.

Hubert Victor Hailman (6) is a physician in Government employ, and is now located at Ft. Simcoe, in the Yakima Indian Reservation in the State of Washington.

Eugene Vernon Hailman (6) lives in Atlantic City, N. J. He is in the employ of the Singer Sewing Machine Co., and is unmarried.

John Allemong Hailman (6) is with the Merchants' Express and Storage Co., in Washington, D. C. He and his little family (wife and two small children), are living at present a short distance from Washington, with his parents who need his care in their declining years. Their address is Vienna, Va., Route 2.

J. Luther Hailman died Sunday morning, Nov. 25, 1917, and was buried by the side of his two daughters in Front Royal, Va.

2. Catharine Ann Shuey (5) was born in Augusta county, Va., April 12, 1851. Like her older sister she was given a good country school education. She was married June 5, 1870, to John C. Firebaugh, who died six years afterwards. On Dec. 18, 1883, she was married to John Thompson, who died in 1892. Their daughter, Margaret Catharine Thompson (6) was born Sept. 25, 1887, was married to John King, and is the mother of five children: Thompson (7), Marshall (7), Theodore (7), Catharine (7), and Shuey (7). Mrs. Thompson is a member of the Mt. Tabor Lutheran Church and lives on her farm near the village of West View, her address being Swoop, Va., Route 2.

3. George Eugene Shuey (5) was born April 2, 1854. After attending the public schools near home he was educated at Roanoke College, Salem, Va., and Wittenberg Theological Seminary, Springfield, Ohio, and ordained to the Lutheran ministry by the Virginia Synod in Sept., 1886.

On July 9, 1889, he married Doris Bruning Hoppe, of Richmond, Va., and they are the parents of five children: Elise (6), Theodore (6), Marguerite (6), Doris (6), and Marion (6).

Professionally, Rev. Shuey was original striking and fearless in his presentation of truth, being a gifted and forceful speaker. He served during his ministry, Lutheran congregations in Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio, and Illinois.

Socially, he was witty, companionable, and sympathetic. In his family he was home-loving, kind, self-denying and intensely loyal.

When failing health forced him from the active ministry he moved to a farm he had bought near Churchville, Va., and there he peacefully fell asleep May 12, 1917, after a patient, uncomplaining struggle with Bright's disease. His mortal remains lie buried in Mt. Tabor Lutheran cemetery, near by those of his parents and grandparents.

Rev. Dr. Theodore George Shuey (6) was born Feb. 13, 1893, in Rock Island, Illinois. He was educated at Shenandoah Collegiate Institute, Roanoke College, Hamilton College of Law, McKinley University Law School, and Western Theological Seminary. Is now a minister of the Pittsburgh Synod Evangelical Lutheran Church, and pastor of St. Marks English Evangelical Lutheran Church, corner North Avenue and Middle St., N. S., Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. Has been in the work of the active ministry for two years and conducts the Garden Theatre meetings where he has an audience of a thousand Sunday afternoons. He is not married.

Precocious, unusually religious, always planning what he was going to do when he became a man, but adding invariably, "That is if I live to be a man."

5. William Franklin Shuey (5) was born in Augusta county, Va., Jan. 27, 1860. His public school education was supplemented by one year at the Valley Institute and one at the Shenandoah Music School.

After finishing the public school at the "Glebe" she entered Staunton Female Seminary in September, 1879, graduating from that institution in June, 1882. She afterwards taught in Marion Female College in Virginia, Burkittsville Female Seminary, in Maryland, and Fairview Academy in Rock Island, Illinois.

On August 2, 1887, she was united in marriage to Claude W. Foss, Professor of History and Political Science in Augustana College, Rock Island, Illinois. Since then she has been his constant companion and helpmeet, having with him traveled not only in this country, but in Europe, the Orient, Egypt and Palestine, when in 1908-9, he was given a year's leave of absence and sent as a commissioner by the General Council of the Evangelical Lutheran Church to inspect its mission fields in India and by the Augustana Synod to inspect its field in Persia.

When Augustana College became co-educational she was appointed its first lady principal in 1888, which position she held for three years.

In infancy she was baptized, and at the age of twelve years was confirmed a member of Mt. Tabor Lutheran church. In February, 1888, she transferred her membership to become a charter member with her husband of the First (Grace) English Lutheran church in Rock Island, in which she still worships. Besides her church's organized activities she is also much interested in a number of women's organizations of various kinds.

Dr. and Mrs. Foss have no children of their own, but an orphaned niece, Martha Foss, has taken the place of a daughter in their home since 1895.

At this writing, Dr. Foss still occupies the chair of History and Economics at Augustana College, being in point of continuous service the oldest professor at the institution, and their home address is 3808 Eighth Ave., Rock Island, Illinois.

5. Benjamin Franklin Shuey (4) was born Sept. 19, 1835. As soon as the Civil War broke out, he entered the Confederate Army, and held the position of Lieutenant of a company in the 5th Regiment Virginia Volunteers, Infantry, which served in the Stonewall Brigade. At the first battle of Manassas, July 21, 1861, he was wounded, and died the following day, July 22, aged 26 years, 10 months and 3 days. He was a member of the Lutheran Church.

6. John Jacob Shuey (4) was born Nov. 10, 1837, near Swoope, Augusta county, Va. He grew up on his father's farm and received a common school education. The late Dr. D. F. Bittle, founder and first president of Roanoke College, was his pastor during early manhood, and tried to prevail upon him to enter college in preparation for the Gospel ministry. But he stoutly declined, an act that he sorely regretted in maturer years.

In boyhood, he was received into communicant membership with Mt. Tabor Lutheran Church, of which he has remained a consistent, faithful, and influential member. At different times, he has held long terms as superintendent of the Sunday school. For forty years he was the efficient treasurer of the congregation. He has been a trustee of the church property since young manhood. Being a good singer, he led the music of his congregation for many years in the days when musical instruments were unknown in most country churches.

In the year 1858, he married Julia Frances Mizer and, receiving sixty acres of land and a little log cabin from his father, off the home farm, they set out together upon the voyage of life. When the Civil War broke out, he volunteered and entered the ranks of the Confederate army as a soldier. He was wounded at the first battle of Manassas, which terminated his career as a soldier, excepting some time spent in the ranks of the Home Guards near the close of the war, when Hunter made his raid through southwestern Virginia. He served his government, however, on detail, as shoemaker for the army.

After the war, prices were high on all farm products, and the couple went to work with a will. They were prosperous and happy and soon accumulated sufficient money to purchase additional land and build a handsome large brick dwelling house to take the place of the humble cabin.

As a farmer, he was eminently successful. He always kept his fences and roads in good repair and his land in a good state of cultivation.

He has always been a good citizen, taking active interest in all matters relative to the public welfare. In politics, he has always been a staunch Democrat, voting the straight Democratic ticket in all national elections. Yet, he has taken a decided interest in the temperance movements. Yielding to the Prohibition movement, he once consented to become a candidate for the State legislature, upon the Prohibition ticket, polling the highest vote ever cast by the party, and was defeated by only a very small majority.

He has ever been a free and liberal supporter of all benevolent objects. Few ever went away from him empty handed.

In Jan., 1904, his wife died, who had been to him a true companion and helpmeet for thirty-six years. She was buried in the family plot in old Mt. Tabor cemetery. They had three children: Benjamin F., John W. and James L.

After the departure of his beloved wife, he sold his farm and all his personal property to his youngest son, with whom he makes his home, but much of his time he spends with his other two sons.

Considering his age (he is now in his eightieth year), he is a remarkably well preserved man. A man of indomitable will, he has been strictly temperate in all his habits all his life, and, to-day, his step is as elastic and his carriage as erect as that of a man of forty years.

1. Benjamin Franklin Shuey (5) was born June 20, 1861, near Swoope, Augusta county, Va. After completing the instruction given in the public schools, he attended the Augusta Male Academy at Fort Defiance, for two years. He then entered Roanoke College, which he attended for three sessions and a half. Owing to a small-pox scare in the town of Salem, he left college just before graduation and never returned.

On Dec. 22, 1889, he married Sallie V. Miller and took charge of a large farm owned by his father-in-law. They were very successful and prosperous, working hard and living economically. After the death of the wife's parents, they bought the farm which they now own free from debt, besides having recently purchased a large additional tract of land for grazing purposes. The first tract is an old homestead and one of the most valuable farms in the county.

Both he and his wife are members of the Mt. Tabor Lutheran church. Highly respected and honored by everybody, they live a quiet and unassuming life, attending strictly to their own business. They have five children.

1. Mead F. Shuey (6) was born March 31, 1892. He attended the public schools. In 1915, he married Miss Manley. They live on the home place.

2. John Jacob Shuey, Jr. (6), was born Sept. 9, 1895.

3. William Haller Shuey (6) was born June 9, 1899.

4. Lewis Hermon Shuey (6) was born June 22, 1901.

5. May Alberta Shuey (6) was born May 25, 1905.

All are at home with their parents.

2. Rev. John William Shuey (5) was born May 20, 1867. His boyhood days were spent on his father's farm, where he learned to do all kinds of farm work. On account of defective vision he was taken from the public school in his sixteenth year and devoted all of his time to farm work until, at the age of nineteen, he entered a business school, graduating in ten months. He then returned to the farm and assumed largely its control for his father.

When approached by his pastor and other clergymen upon the subject of making preparation for the ministry, he pleaded the excuse of being unable to pursue a classical course on account of his eyes. One eminent divine answered this excuse by asking the question: "Where did you get your eyes?" "Possibly," said he, "if you were to use them as the Lord would have you, He might overcome the difficulty, oculists are accomplishing wonderful things nowadays." After this conversation, much time was devoted to prayerfully considering the subject of the ministry.

Baptized in infancy, and confirmed in boyhood, he had always been an active worker in the church and Sunday school. Now that the difficulty as to eyes had been settled, there arose the thought of the deficiency of early education, but, after much thought and fervent prayer, he decided to enter college. At the age of twenty-three he entered Roanoke College, bearing credentials from his pastor. The first thing done after matriculating, was to see an oculist who informed him that his trouble was, in plain English, farsightedness which could be easily corrected with the proper lenses.

Owing to the lack of preparation, he was compelled to enter the boy's preparatory class. This made him the butt of many jokes and cruel ridicule from the upper classmen. At the end of five years, however, he graduated at the head of his class, bearing away with him five certificates of First distinction, one for each year, and the orator's medal.

After completing his academic course in college, he entered the Lutheran Theological Seminary of Chicago. Owing to a very virulent attack of typhoid fever at the close of his second year, his physicians and teachers advised against returning to Chicago. But the Dean of the seminary gave him a letter to the president of his synod advising ordination.

In May, 1897, he accepted a call to a small Lutheran church, near Lexington, Va., and, in the following August, after passing an examination by the regular examining committee of synod, was solemnly ordained to the Gospel ministry of the Evangelical Lutheran Church. He served the little congregation to which he was first called until called by his synod, in 1907, to take charge of a mission that it was contemplating starting in Portsmouth, Va. He labored in this new field very successfully for five years, gathering, in that time, a congregation of ninety-five members, in a city where he was the first Lutheran minister to hold a service.

When this mission was transferred to the oversight of the general body, he received and accepted a call to return to his first parish. This congregation was one of the smallest and weakest congregations in the synod. To-day it stands fourth from the top of the list, regarded from the standpoint of contributions.

On the 17th of April, 1900, he married Beulah von Bora Shank, of Rockingham county, Va. To her faithful companionship and devotion to the work of the Church is due, in great measure, whatever success has attended his labors. They have three children: Julia, John and Clarence.

1. Julia Ellen Shuey (6) was born May 15, 1901. She was baptized in infancy, confirmed a member of her father's church on Easter, 1915. She lives with her parents and is in the high school.

2. John Harry Fred Shuey (6) was born June 12, 1904. He was baptized and, died at the age of seven months.

3. Clarence William Shuey (6) was born July 8, 1906. Baptized in infancy, he is now in the grade grammar school. He has a very inquiring mind and devotes a great deal of time to the study of birds. He is very fond of all kinds of animals and soon wins their confidence.

3. James Luther Shuey (5) was born on March 12, 1871. He has spent all his days upon the home place. When all his brothers had left the old home, he remained and cared for his parents. In infancy, he was baptized and, in boyhood received into communicant membership with the church of his parents. For years he has held an official position in the congregation to which he belongs.

Though his education is limited to that furnished by the public school, he is a man of good, sound judgment and well informed upon the topics of the day. A very close observer, as well as a careful reader of the farm journals, he may be considered a very successful farmer. As a citizen, he is public-spirited, taking an intelligent and active interest in all affairs pertinent to the public welfare. In politics, he is a Democrat, though, in no sense, a politician. Generous and liberal, almost to a fault, the needy never go to him in vain. Possessed of more than ordinary mechanical skill, he is handy with all kinds of tools and loves to run machinery. Consequently, he keeps well posted as to the latest improvements in farm machinery.

On Nov. 3, 1897, he married Ella Belle Bosserman, a very frugal and industrious lady. After the death of his mother, he bought the home farm from his father, there they live with their family, highly respected and honored by everybody who knows them. They have five children:

1. James Armand Shuey (6) was born Oct. 18, 1899. He is a bright and industrious young man and lives with his parents.

2. John Lewis Shuey (6) was born Oct. 19, 1901.

3. Mary Elizabeth Shuey (6) was born April 26, 1903.

4. Maggie Virginia Shuey (6) was born Oct. 17, 1906.

5. Berta E. Shuey (6) was born July 21, 1916.

All are baptized members of the Lutheran Church. The boys have both been confirmed.

VIII. JACOB SHUEY (3)

Was born June 20, 1797, in Augusta county, Va. He was reared on the farm and farming was his chosen occupation. He was united in marriage to Elizabeth Lowman, March 22, 1822. They had nine children: William Henry, Mary Margaret, Bernard Lewis, Catharine, Caswell Bell, Jacob Augustus, Jason Harrison, Robert Glossbrenner, and Virginia Elizabeth. The two latter are now the only survivors. Through frugality, economy, and industry he amassed a considerable property and owned one of the finest farms in Augusta county, Va. In appearance he was tall, slender, fine featured with dark hair and eyes. Was genial, quiet and mild tempered and withal a devout Christian gentleman. Was a member of the United Berthren Church. Through the earnest entreaty of his son, William, in Oct., 1855, he disposed of all his property and moved to Johnson county, Iowa, by wagon, being seven weeks on the road. There he bought 1,500 acres of land and laid out the little village of Shueyville.

He donated the land in the next county of Linn, one mile distant, on which to build Western College, To that institution he gave much money. In recent years this school is known as the Leander Clark College and is at Toledo, Iowa. He furnished the ground and built the present United Brethren church at Shueyville. To each of his children was given a fine education and more than all the example of a good Christian home. Of the land which he bought a share was given each child and sufficient retained for his own needs. He died Oct. 30, 1867, aged 70 years, 4 months and 10 days.

Interment was made in the family lot in the cemetery, which he had laid out.

His wife was a small, active woman of a humorous disposition. The latter trait being inherited by most of her children. She was a noted cook, a fine housekeeper, having a great store of beautiful bed and table linen.

Their home was known for its generous hospitality and good cheer. Mrs. Shuey died at Western, July 12, 1875, and was buried by the side of her husband at Shueyville.

1. William Henry Shuey (4), eldest son of Jacob and Elizabeth Shuey, was born in Augusta county, Virginia, Aug. 11, 1823. His father was an extensive farmer, and, like most of farmers' sons in that day, the son labored on the farm through the summer, and attended country schools through the winter. He attended a classical school one year, and gave some attention to the study of practical surveying, and did considerable business, both in the East and West, as a surveyor. On the 20th of April, 1847, he married Catharine Virginia Baker, a daughter of Frederick Baker, of Boonesboro, Washington county, Maryland. They had six children, viz: Charles L., Frederic B., Ann E., Amanda S., Ella V. and William H.

In the days of the Virginia Militia, when "big musters" were the days to which all others had to be subservient, Col. Shuey took his part in home military duty. At the age of twenty-one he was elected Captain of an armed uniformed company, known as the Middlebrook Rifles, and at the age of twenty-seven was elected Colonel of the 93d Regiment of Virginia Militia. He kept in his possession the original commission signed by John B. Floyd, then Governor of Virginia. All able-bodied men, from the age of twenty-one to forty-five, were then compelled, by law, in that State, to do military duty; and in the parades and drills of that day he was frequently associated with men who afterwards became noted in the Confederate service, such as Stonewall Jackson, Imboden, Baldwin, and others.

In 1852, he became editor of the Northwestern Observer, a Whig paper published at Buckhannon, West Virginia, and in 1854 removed to Johnson county, Iowa. In 1861 he entered the United States Army, and served as Captain in Company F, 14th Regiment Iowa Infantry. His regiment commenced active duties at the battles of Donelson and Shiloh, and at the battle of Corinth, Mississippi, on the 3d and 4th of October, 1862, he was the senior officer of his regiment. He was with his regiment in the Mississippi and Tennessee campaign, and in Bank's Red River Expedition, in 1864, and for a year served on the staff of General A. J. Smith, and won his respect as a brave and efficient officer. He served his three years in the army, and was discharged in November, 1864.

From 1865 to 1868 he served as a member of the Board of Supervisors of Johnson county, Iowa, and part of the time as President of the Board. Col. Shuey was connected with the Western College Advocate and Reporter, the most of the time from 1856 to 1864, as one of the editors and with the Western Gazette from its first numbers, in 1869, to 1872. He was a member of the United Brethren Church. He was one of the incorporators of Western College, Linn county, Iowa, where he resided and much was due to his efforts and influence for the location of the College, and he was ever one of its warmest friends.

going down to its mouth, and then up the Mississippi River to Keokuk, thence by land to Iowa City, and to where Shueyville now stands, which was to be their home.

Of trials, hardships and illnesses incident to a new country, it was theirs in full measure. Here in a rude log cabin on a farm given them by their father, Jacob Shuey, they made their new home.

VI. CHRISTIAN SHUEY (2)

Christian Shuey, the fifth son of Ludwig Shuey, was born Oct. 10, 1760, in Bethel township, Lancaster county, Pa. He was reared on the farm, and became a practical farmer. He married Magdalena Edris, and had seven children, viz: John Henry (3).

George (3), Christian (3), Maria Catharine (3), John (3), Elizabeth (3), and Magdalena (3). He had an excellent farm in Bethel township, about half a mile south of Klopp's Church. It is a beautiful farm, having an excellent spring of water adjacent to the house. He was a member of the Reformed Church, and held his membership in Klopp's Church, where he at different times held office, and in 1798 and 1799 was one of the trustees of said church. He lived in three different counties without changing his residence. This may appear a little singular to the reader, but it is nevertheless a fact. The explanation is that the county changed names. He was born and grew up in Lancaster county. He reared his family in Dauphin county, and he died in Lebanon county. In 1785 the northern part of Lancaster county was formed into a separate district, and received the name Dauphin county. In 1814 the eastern portion of Dauphin county was formed into a separate district, and was called Lebanon county. During this whole time the name of the township was not changed, but continued in the name of Bethel, to which many references are made in this volume. During the same year in which Lebanon county was organized, Christian died, and his will is one of the first recorded in the new county, being inscribed on page 60, volume A. His will is dated June 12, 1814. He disposed of his worldly possessions in the following manner: to his wife Magdalena, he gave 300 pounds in gold or silver, and all household and kitchen furniture; the use of two rooms in the house, and all privileges of the house, kitchen, cellar, garret and springhouse, and she was to receive yearly six bushels of wheat, six bushels of rye, 200 pounds of pork, 40 pounds of beef, 12 pounds of hackled flax, 10 pounds of tow, firewood, and she shall have the right to take as many apples, potatoes, hens' eggs, and cider as she wants. These supplies are to be furnished her by her two sons, Christian Shuey and John Shuey. To these two sons he gives to each one half of 170 acres contained in four pieces of land, and to each of these two the one half of his personal property. To Henry he gives 800 pounds, but as he had loaned him 600 pounds, that sum must be deducted. He is also to receive one sorrel colt. To George, 765 pounds, ten bushels of wheat, and all that he had received before. To Magdalena, 700 pounds, also a kitchen dresser and table, a two-year-old bay colt, 10 bushels of wheat and all that she had received before. All the money in the distribution was to be paid out of bonds and money which he had. He named his friend John Shuey as executor. He died Aug. 30, 1814, age 53 years, 10 months and 20 days. Buried in the graveyard at Klopp's Church. Christian had been an active participant in the Revolutionary War, as is shown by the following certificate:

Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, U. S. A.,
March 20, 1916.

He had a pleasant little home, with clear, cool mountain water running but a few steps from his door. The house was built of rough mountain stone, very thick walls and only one story high. All the buildings were torn down some years ago. George found great pleasure in having children around him, and with cherished feelings does the author remember some very pleasant days which he spent there when a boy of about six years of age. In winter time George would treat his little friend to some very fine chestnuts, and in summer time there was always an abundance of watermelons about, which he took great pains to cultivate. Then again, he would entertain his young friend by relating stories of the experience which he had with wild birds and savage beasts on the mountains.

George spent most of his time on the mountains, being engaged in hauling wood. Nearly all the timber on the south side of the mountain was reduced to charcoal for use in the neighboring forges and furnaces. George was engaged for many years in hauling this wood together, preparatory to burning it and reducing it to charcoal. With his little sled and white horse, he would move about on the mountain, and this white horse could be seen for miles around by farmers who were plying their occupation in tilling the soil. A few miles from the mountain it appeared like a movable little speck, now visible and then obscured by bushes.

George was a man of large proportions, well built and of tall stature, hence his popular name, Big George Shuey. He had a deep, heavy voice, and he used some singular expressions, which afforded amusement to some. On Jan. 25, 1864, George made a will, in which he bequeathed everything of his worldly goods to his wife, Anna Shuey. He died Dec. 2, 1864, aged about 75 years. He lies buried at Walmer's Church. He says he was enjoying the best of health at the time the letter was written, Oct. 20, 1918, but will not regret any harm or suffering, even to the supreme sacrifice, if only the effort ends in a victory and punishment of the Huns for their atrocities and meanness.

Was born Nov. 27, 1796, and baptized Dec. 26, of the same year. He was born and reared on his father's farm, near Kloop's Church in Bethel township, Dauphin county, Pa. At 22 years of age he was married to Catharine Fisher, of Hanover township, Lebanon county, Pa., at Lebanon, by the Rev. William Heister, of the Reformed Church. John was a member of the Reformed Church. He bought a farm in Hanover township from Mr. Zehring, and invested his whole patrimony, probably amounting to five thousand dollars. He did not manage very well on this farm, and in a very few years was compelled to sell out and lost by his ill-managed business everything he had received. This farm was later owned by Jacob G. Walmer, and is situated near the Blue Mountains, and close to the noted Smith's Fort. He then concluded to go west, but he had barely enough money to pay the expenses of moving, so that when he came to Wayne county, Ohio, in March, 1826, he had but one hundred dollars, and this was a present from his father-in-law, Mr. Fisher. He bought a tract of woodland containing eighty acres situated about eight miles north of Wooster. He now set to clearing it, and managed in the eleven years he lived there to clear about fifty-five acres of this woodland. In 1837 he sold this farm for fourteen hundred dollars, and moved to Elkhart county, Indiana. Here he again commenced farming, and continued for thirteen years at this place. In 1850 he caught the California gold fever, and started to cross the plains, en rout for the gold coast. He never accomplished his object, having died on his way somewhere near Fort Laramie; but the correct circumstances relative to his death have never become known to his family. In settling up his effects, his estate, at the time of his death, was found to be about two thousand dollars. He had seven children, viz: Sarah, Catharine, Michael F., John H., Elizabeth, Mary M., and Susannah. His widow lived with her son Michael, in Elkhart, Indiana. Although John never accumulated wealth, he nevertheless was always very industrious, after his first failure in Lebanon county, Pa., and made a comfortable living for his family. He was respected by his neighbors and was very devoted to his family.

In the fall of 1848 he moved to Whiteside county, Illinois, where he again continued working on a farm. He had a strong inclination for the Bar, and consequently while engaged on the farm he devoted all his spare time to reading law under the instruction of Miles S. Henry. In 1852 he was admitted as an attorney-at-law, to practice at the Bar of the Supreme Court of Illinois. Hon. Lyman Trumbull signed his license, he being then on the Supreme Bench. In 1853 he moved to Elkhart, Indiana, where he was engaged in his profession of law. He was a strong Republican in politics, and in 1860 made speeches in Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota, in favor of the election of Abraham Lincoln, with whom he was personally acquainted. This gave him considerable prominence, and in 1865 he was elected to represent his district in the State Legislature, and was re-elected in 1867; both times his party honored him with a nomination by acclamation. In the election his majority was considerably above the other candidates of his party, thus giving proof that he was a popular man and had the confidence of the people.

His course in the Legislature was such that even his political opponents could find no fault with him. He had the pleasure of casting his vote to ratify the fifteenth amendment to the Constitution of the United States. He also particularly interested himself in the establishment of a House of Correction for juvenile offenders and an institution for the care of the incurable insane, a fire-proof building for the State offices and archives, a separate prison for females, and several other bills, all of which he had the pleasure of seeing permanently established during his term of office. He held no public offices after 1870, and inasmuch as he found his law office more profitable and lucrative, and his own home more agreeable than the scramble for public office, he did not wish any further public favors in that direction. He had not accumulated any great riches, but had plenty of the world's goods to enjoy a very comfortable living. He was surrounded by a very fine family of children, there being seven of them, viz: John W., Mary A., Charles F., Cora, George E., Emma K., and Edwin Stanton. He was a popular man in Elkhart and had a large circle of friends.

The author addressed the family several times for the dates of birth and other facts which would be interesting to insert; but for some reason or other they neglected to furnish the answers to the author's questions to them. This is to be regretted, as it makes the book incomplete, and breaks in upon the original idea of the book, viz: that it shall be an authentic record of the Shuey family in America.

The author could not get into communication with this family for the Revised History.

II. JOHN SHUEY (1)

JOHN SHUEY, the second son of Daniel Shuey, was born presumably in the year 1728, and grew up as a farmer. When he became of age he entered in the Land Department in Harrisburg, for 150 acres of land on Jan. 4, 1749. The patent deed for this land is dated Jan. 5, 1764. It is in Hanover township, Dauphin county. His wife's name was Catharine, for John Shuey and wife Catharine were sponsors at the baptism of John Shuey, son of Ludwig Shuey, in 1753. He was one of those who desired that his sister Elizabeth should have the fifty pounds, conditionally designated to her in Daniel Shuey's will, and signed the bond of indemnity to Martin Shuey the elder and Martin Shuey the younger, executors of the will of Daniel Shuey.

John Shuey's will, dated Jan. 22, 1808, probated April 23, 1816, stands recorded in Book D, page 101, in the Register's Office at Harrisburg. At the time of making the will he lived with his son Daniel Shuey, in West Hanover township, Dauphin county, Pa. Daniel was to have the homestead and pay out as follows: To daughter Catharine (2), 97 pounds, 16 shillings; to son Martin Shuey (2), 107 pounds, 15 shillings; to daughter Margaret (2), 102 pounds, 2 shillings; to son Conrad (2), 90 pounds, 15 shillings; to son Bennevel's (2) children—to son, 60 pounds; to daughter, 40 pounds, when they arrive at age; to daughter Barbara (2), 127 pounds; to son Frederick's (2) children, equal shares of 167 pounds, 10 shillings; to son Michael (2), 36 pounds; to son Jacob (2), 142 pounds, 19 shillings and 1 penny. Son Daniel Shuey (2) and friend David Ferguson, Esq., were appointed Executors. According to this will he had seven sons and three daughters. As his wife Catharine is not mentioned in this will it is presumed she had died. The death of John Shuey was shortly before April 23, 1816, when his will was probated.

The author was unable to trace the history of the children of John Shuey, except Daniel, Conrad, Frederick, Michael and Jacob. Daniel was likely the ancestor of those living in Schuylkill county, Pa., Conrad of those living near Greensburg, Westmoreland county, and Jacob of those residing in Dauphin county, Pa.

I. DANIEL SHUEY (2)

Daniel Shuey (2), who is supposed to have been the eldest son of John Shuey and grandson of Daniel Shuey, the original, was born in Lancaster county, afterwards Dauphin county, about the year 1756. The author is of the opinion that he later moved across the mountains into Schuylkill county, where he invested in real estate.

His wife's name was probably Anna Maria, formerly Berger. They raised a large family. The sons were John Shuey, Daniel Shuey, Peter Shuey, Michael Shuey, Joseph Shuey, Henry Shuey, and Benjamin Shuey. Some of these sons moved to Center county, Pa., and were the ancestors of the numerous families in that county named Shuey.

It is ascertained from official record that one Daniel Shuey was a Private in Captain John Barnett's Company, 2d Rgt., Dauphin County Militia, commanded by Colonel William Allen, July 21, 1794. See page 261, Volume 5, Pennsylvania Archives, Sixth Series.

III. MARTIN SHUEY (1)

MARTIN SHUEY was the third son of Daniel Shuey. He was one of the executors named in Daniel Shuey's will. He lived in Bethel township, Berks county, Pa., where he owned a farm of 236 acres, which he purchased from his father, Daniel Shuey. Deed Book A, Vol. 2, page 118, in the Reading office. It bears date Dec. 1, 1762. He also owned other lands and was a farmer. Martin Shuey's will is recorded in Vol. 4, page 62, in the Reading office, and bears date March 7, 1795; probated Nov. 25, 1801. He bequeathed to his wife Margaret a tract of land of seven acres and twenty perches, for life or while she remains his widow. The transition from the hearth to the stove was taking place about this time. Also the wife was not supposed to own anything except what the husband bequeathed her, as appears in this will. He bequeaths to his wife, bed and bedstead, one cow, "my pipe stove," table, house clock, chest, "her clothes and her side saddle," and as much household goods and furniture as she stands in need of while she remains his widow. If she marries she shall immediately release the same by quit claim, both land and movable goods. To John (2), his eldest son, he gives five pounds over and above his equal share for his first birthright. To John (2), Catharine (2), the wife of Philip Moyer, Anna Maria (2), the wife of Henry Holtzman, Barbara (2), wife of John Nicholas Seerer, Margaret (2), wife of John Moyer, five hundred pounds to be equally divided. The balance equally to the said children with one share to the grandchildren: Elizabeth (3), John (3), and Jacob Seerer (3), children of his daughter Magdalena. George Seerer, his son-in-law, was to retain the one hundred pounds which he received from him (Martin Shuey), and no more. Martin Shuey, of Dauphin county, was named as executor. Samuel Royer and Christian Walborn subscribed as witnesses.

From the Administrators' Book, Vol. 6, page 313, it appears that Martin Shuey had moved away and therefore renounced his right as executor. The Register of Wills therefore appointed John Shuey, son of Martin Shuey, administrator Dec. 1, 1806.

Some explanation for the restrictions in Martin Shuey's will as to his wife Margaret Shuey might be ascertained. The author is of the opinion that Margaret was his second wife, and not the mother of his children mentioned in his will, but perhaps the mother of his son-in-law Philip Moyer and others, as might be discovered from the will of Margaret Shuey, widow, dated May 30, 1806, Vol. 4, page 361. Here she bequeaths "to the children of my deceased son, Henry Moyer, one dollar, to be in full. To granddaughter, Elizabeth Moyer, a child of my deceased son, Philip Moyer, one dollar in full. To my eleven children, viz: Christian Moyer, John Moyer, Jacob Moyer, Michael Moyer, Peter Moyer, Rudolph Moyer, and Abraham Moyer, and to my daughters, Anna, wife of Jacob Lesh; Elizabeth, wife of Michael Frantz; Barbara, wife of Jacob Kline, and Margaret, wife of Rudolph Hunsicker, to be equally divided between them." God-fried Rehrer, of Bethel, to be executor. Witnesses, Martin Walborn and Andrew Graff. Probated Aug. 4, 1806.

In the Commission Book P, Vol. 1, page 79, Berks county, Martin Shuey grants a water right to Jacob Rohrer for ten pounds consideration. In the Index of said record this is the first indexed under the letter S. Dated Jan. 17, 1784.

Some of these Shueys must have been land speculators, for on May 22, 1790, Philip Kunselman, Jr., of Pinegrove township, Berks county, sold a tract of land containing 208 acres to Ludwig Shuey, Martin Shuey, and Christian Shuey, of Bethel township, Berks county, for which Kunselman was to receive eighty pounds, "good hard money, gold or silver of Pennsylvania." On May 23, 1794, Ludwig Shuey, Martin Shuey, and Christian Shuey, of Bethel township, Dauphin county, sold this 208 acres tract, situated in Pinegrove township, to John Shuger, Jr., for 120 pounds. It joined lands of Martin Shuey.

Then on Dec. 4, 1816, the widow and heirs of John Shuger, deceased, signed a release for 80 pounds, received from John Shuey, Bethel township, son of the within named Martin Shuey, "in full satisfaction for all damage sustained by widow and children of John Shucker, on account of older right and title of heirs of Samuel Jones, deceased, and these now release Ludwig Shuey, Martin Shuey and Christian Shuey, and their heirs all claims from the beginning of the world to the date of these presents." This release surely goes back far enough in time to satisfy all parties in this transaction.

I. JOHN SHUEY (2)

John Shuey, born Sept. 18, 1760, was the only son of Martin Shuey. He lived in Bethel township, Berks county, not far from Millersburg, and was a faithful member of the Reformed Church, at that place. A deed dated Dec. 24, 1812, from Godfrey Rehner and his wife Eve, transfers to "John Shuey and Leonard Miller, Jr., both of the same place, Gentlemen, Trustees and Wardens duly nominated and appointed, to and for the only use and purpose and behalf of the Protestant German Church or Congregation, called by the name REFORMED CHURCH, in Bethel township, in the county of Berks, and in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, containing 2 acres, 76 perches strict measure. Consideration, $1.00 forever for the use of said congregation." Recorded Jan. 6, 1813. Also a deed from George Schneider and Catharine, his wife, dated Dec. 24, 1812, to John Shuey and Leonard Miller, Jr., (here uses the same language as in the former deed), containing one acre and 4 perches strict measure to the REFORMED CHURCH as above. Consideration, $40.00. Recorded Jan. 6, 1813. A public proclamation was made by John Shuey and Leonard Miller, Jr., dated Jan. 6, 1813, Vol. 25, page 553, declaring that they held the above mentioned two tracts as "Trustees for Said Protestant German Church or Congregation" in Bethel township, Berks county, Pa., and that they laid no further claim to such land. The author is of the opinion that the above is now known as Salem Church at Millersburg, Berks county, Pa.

John Shuey's will is recorded Vol. 7, page 310. Bears date Feb. 26, 1835. Probated Oct. 3, 1835. His wife's name was Catharine. He had a farm and three pieces of land in Bethel township, and a house and two lots in Millersburg. He wills his whole property to his wife for her use during her lifetime. He is more liberal than his father was in his will, for John gives all his property to his beloved wife, Catharine, "to do therewith at her pleasure during her natural life, and spend, and do with the personal estate whatsoever she thinks proper." After her death all the property was to go to John Holtzman, son of Peter Holtzman, Sr. From this we infer that John Shuey had no children, consequently the name Shuey in this family became extinct with his death. He died Sept. 13, 1835. Buried at Millersburg, Pa.

II. CATHARINE ELIZABETH SHUEY (2)

Catharine Elizabeth Shuey (2), daughter of Martin Shuey, was born June 3, 1762. She was married to Philip Moyer. She died April 15, 1842, aged 79 years, 10 months and 11 days. Her husband, Philip Moyer, was born March 6, 1757, and died March 6, 1819, aged 62 years.

The author ascertained no further information concerning the other daughters of Martin Shuey.

IV. PETER SHUEY (1)

PETER SHUEY was the fourth son of Daniel Shuey. In the will of his father it reads, "I give and bequeath unto my son Peter Shuey one shilling lawful money, over and above of what he hath received of me already and no more, which said shilling my executors shall pay unto him after my death, he having before in my lifetime received his share from me." Further on in the will it says, "I will yet remember the heirs of my said son, Peter Shuey, and I now bequeath unto them the sum of one hundred pounds lawful money, which my Executors shall pay them, when they shall have arrived at their full ages, but not sooner. No Body shall make any Pretentions, save his bodily Issues or Children, as many as there are." According to Deed Book A, Vol. 2, page 236, dated June 8, 1760, Peter Shuey bought a farm containing 185 acres from George Derr and his wife Maria Elizabeth, of Heidelberg township, Berks county, Pa., for the consideration of 500 pounds. This tract was a part of the Manor of Plumton, containing 1165 acres which "John Penn, Thomas Penn and Richard Penn, Esqrs., true and absolute Proprietaries and Governors of the Province of Pennsylvania, by Patent under the great Seal of the Province," bearing date Sept. 17, 1735, and recorded in Philadelphia, in Patent Book A, Vol. 7, page 264. The above tract of 185 acres was sold to George Derr and his heirs forever, for the consideration mentioned therein with this additional clause, "and the Quit rent of one Red Rose yearly." When George Derr sold this land to Peter Shuey the same condition is mentioned, "under and subject to the Quit rent of one Red Rose yearly." This peculiar consideration is worth mentioning in this family history as a fact of record, and the only one found in all our researches.

The very first deed placed on record in the county of Berks, describes a farm which joins this Manor of Plumton above referred to. See Vol. 1, page 1. This same land above mentioned, Peter Shuey and his wife Magdalena mortgaged to Wendel Weber for 150 pounds, dated Aug. 1, 1769. This mortgage was released May 14, 1771.

The author has no positive information as to what became of Peter Shuey and his children, and whether those children were sons or daughters. It may be that he sold the above described farm and moved to York county, Pa. The author found a record in the court house in Gettysburg, Adams county, Pa., in which the Hon. John Penn and Richard Penn, Esqrs., by their Attorney, Edmund Physick, Esq., conveyed a tract of land to Peter Shuey, dated March 31, 1798, described more fully as follows: "Between the Hon. John Penn, of Stoge Poges, in the county of Bucks, in the Kingdom of Great Britain, Esq., one of the late proprietaries of Pennsylvania, and of the lower counties of New Castle, Kent and Sussex, now the Delaware State, and the Honorable Richard Penn, of Queen Ann Street, west, in the county of Middlesex in the Kingdom of Great Britain, aforesaid, Esq., brother of the late John Penn, by Edmund Physick, of the City of Philadelphia, Esq., their Attorney Constituted by Letter of Attorney, dated March 14, 1796. See Book No. 5, page 332, Rolls office for Pennsylvania, at Philadelphia, of the one part and Peter Shuey, of Mount Joy township, in the county of York, in Pennsylvania, Yeoman, of the other part." This tract is a part of the Manor of Maske. An agreement had been made between said above named parties, dated Feb. 4, 1797. Also states that the settlers have obtained an Act of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania, whereby all claims of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, to the said Manor of Maske, were released as by the said Act entitled, "An Act to Release all Claims on the part of the Commonwealth to certain Lands within the Manor or reputed Manor of Maske in the county of York, passed the 23d day of March, 1797." "And Whereas the said Peter Shuey has represented and alleged that he is in possession and is the rightful owner of the tract or piece of land hereinafter described and intended to be granted by these presents and having complied with the terms of purchase agreed on in the above recited contract hath requested a conveyance to be made to him for the same agreeably to the above recited agreement. Now this Indenture Witnesseth that for and in consideration of forty pounds, twelve shillings and six pence Current money of Pennsylvania in specie, thirteen pounds and six pence part thereof being a Balance due for purchase money and the remainder for Interest Computed to this day." Then follows a long description. Containing 277 Acres and 96 Perches, and the usual allowance of six per cent. for Roads and Highways. Adams county was at that time a part of York county, and in 1800 was formed into Adams county. On Feb. 27, 1804, Peter Shuey, of Cumberland township, and Magdalena, his wife, made a deed to Samuel Eichelberger, Book B, page 263, for a consideration of 2,077 pounds and 10 shillings. It is described as lying in Mt. Joy township and Cumberland township, being a part of the Manor of Maske, 277 acres and 96 Perches and the usual allowance of six per cent. This deed proves that this Peter Shuey is the same that resided in Berks county, formerly, for in both cases the wife's name is Magdalena.

V. ANNA MARGARET SHUEY (1)

ANNA MARGARET SHUEY (1) was likely the oldest daughter of Daniel Shuey. In the Pennsylvania Archives, Second Edition, Volume 17, on page 50, is a copy of the original names of the persons who came in the Ship with Daniel Shuey. In the first column are the names of Maria Schwe and Margarettia Schwe, while in the second column are the names of Daniel Schwe and Lodawick Schwe. This was the Shuey family giving the names with the French pronunciation. Anna Margaret Shuey was married to Nicholas Pontius, whose name appears on the tax list for 1754, in Bethel township, Berks county, Pa. Their home was therefore close to that of Daniel Shuey.

VI. BARBARA SHUEY (1)

A daughter of Daniel Shuey, was born in Bethel township, Lancaster county, Pa. In the Swatara Church book the date of her birth is given June 26, 1741. Her sponsors were George and Barbara Moyer. She was married to George Feeser and lived in Bethel township. Her father, Daniel Shuey, sold a tract of land containing  $268\frac{3}{4}$  acres with the usual allowance of six per cent. to George Feeser, for a consideration of 2,200 pounds, which would be \$11,000.00, which proves that it was valuable land. Sixty acres of this, however, is not transferred, because this was granted previously to Ludwig Shuey. This land was bounded by lands of Michael Albrecht, John Gunckel, Philip Houts, Christian Brechtbill, Thomas Sowers and other land of the said Daniel Shuey. This deed bears date May 1, 1777. See Vol. R, page 362. As this deed was made but seven days before Daniel Shuey made his will, and as Mrs. Feeser was a daughter of Daniel Shuey, the author is of the opinion that Daniel divided his property before making his will. This would account for the fact also why most of Daniel Shuey's children were to receive one shilling, according to his will. Daniel Shuey had bought this farm of 268¾ acres, Nov. 12, 1753. The author saw this original deed, which was in the possession of Joseph Hunsicker, with other ancient documents, when he gathered the material for the first edition of the Shuey History.

VII. CATHARINE ELIZABETH SHUEY (1)

A daughter of Daniel Shuey, was born June 8, 1747. Her sponsors at baptism were Peter and Maria Catharine Shell. This record is found in the Swatara Church book. She was married to Jacob Giger, and lived in Warwick township, Lancaster county, Pa.

VIII. ELIZABETH SHUEY (1)

A daughter of Daniel Shuey, was married to Henry Moser and had one son, viz: Christian Moser. Reference is made to this in Daniel Shuey's will, which is inserted in another part of this book, where her father bequeaths her fifty pounds if she should become a widow or in need. The son also is to have fifty pounds according to the will. We have no further account of Mrs. Moser until 1784, where we find her name again, but now as the wife of Adam Paul, of Gedockten township, Frederick county, Maryland. This is gleaned from a record in Deed Book B, Vol. 1, page 320, in the Recorder's Office in Harrisburg. The record is a bond of indemnity given by the heirs of Daniel Shuey to the executors of the last will of Daniel Shuey, so as to allow them to pay to Mrs. Paul the fifty pounds which were conditionally designated to her use in the will. The record is a relic of antiquity, strangely composed and curiously expressed, a paper which does not reflect so much on the heirs of Daniel Shuey as it does on the "squire" who drew up the paper. When the author first found the record it amused him considerably, and thinking it might be interesting to the reader, it is here inserted in full with all the flaws of orthography and composition.

These names are all written in German, except those of Baker and Pontius. Schroy's first name could not be deciphered. This writing shows that the heirs of Daniel Shuey were well disposed toward Elizabeth, and were desirous that she should have the portion of fifty pounds, although she was not at the time a widow, nor needy, because the last part makes reference to it, that if she should come in need or want they, the heirs, promise to give satisfaction to the executors if she should molest them in any way.

At some places words are omitted altogether, as the word thousand at the close. At other places capital letters are used improperly, and many other errors occur, which taken as a whole makes it an interesting paper to put on record.

IX. DANIEL SHUEY (1)

DANIEL SHUEY, a son of Daniel Shuey, is mentioned in his father's will, wherein it is decreed that son Daniel is to have "one shilling lawful money to be paid to him by my executors after my death, and he shall demand no more of my estate, because he has received much in my life time of me." What became of Daniel is not positively known, but there is a family of Shueys living in Carroll county, Maryland, whose ancestor's name was Daniel. The date corresponds to the Daniel of this history, and the members of the family claim that their ancestor came from Lancaster, or what is now Lebanon county, Pa. The facts of Daniel Shuey's family as they have been fragmentarily furnished by some members of the family, and partly from official records, are here given.

Daniel Shuey was also in military service, as is shown by the following official record: Daniel Shuey was a Private in Captain Peter Ford's Company, York township, York county Militia, War of the Revolution. See page 448, Volume 2, Pennsylvania Archives, Sixth Series.

Also—Corporal in the Eleventh Pennsylvania Regiment, Continental line. "List of Non-Commissioned Officers and Privates." See page 627, Volume Three, Pennsylvania Archives, Fifth Series.

Also—Corporal, Eleventh Pennsylvania Regiment. "List of Soldiers who received Depreciation Pay for services in the War of the Revolution." See page 181, Volume 4, Pennsylvania Archives, Fifth Series.

According to this record it would appear that he resided in York county, Pa., before moving into Carroll county, Maryland.

Daniel Shuey was married to Rosanna Sample, and had seven or eight children. He was an extensive farmer, and lived in Frederick county, Maryland, and afterwards in Carroll county, after that county was organized. The date of his birth and death have not been ascertained, but it is likely that he was buried in the graveyard near New Windsor, Maryland.

We gather some additional information from the will of Daniel's wife, Rosanna Shoeey, as the name is written in the record in the court house in Westminster, Carroll county, Maryland. The will bears date Dec. 11, 1830, but was not proven until April 22, 1839. Oath was made by George Yandis, as a witness to the will. It is recorded in J. B., Folio No. 1, page 87. The estate is to be equally divided between six children, except 138 dollars, which son Henry Shoeey is to have extra, which she laid aside for him, because the others received that much before. Of the residue, one-sixth shall be given to daughter Mary Cook, widow of Mathias Cook, deceased; one-sixth to daughter Barbara Greenwood, wife of John Greenwood; one-sixth to daughter Elizabeth Hinning, widow of Thomas Hinning, deceased; one-sixth to Catharine Greenwood, wife of Ludwich Greenwood, and one-sixth to Daniel Shoey. It is stated in the will that John Shoey received his full part before, and, therefore, he is not to have any portion. David is not mentioned in the will, though he was a son of Daniel Shuey. The two Greenwood families lived in Carroll county, Maryland. They have quite a number of descendants living near New Windsor, and are engaged in agricultural pursuits. Henning's family lived in Baltimore. In the will the name is written Hinning.

He was an extensive farmer, and was in possession of considerable property. In his younger days he was captain of a militia company. He served as captain in the war of 1812. In some respects he was a very peculiar man. He was fond of traveling; several times he went to Ohio in a light carriage, and stayed for nearly a year. When he took a notion to go West he gave hardly an intimation to any one, and started off with but little preparation; his neighbors not knowing it until he had gone, and his own family had but a few days notice. His family was left to take charge of the farm in his absence. He requested that no tombstone should be placed at his grave. He died in 1858, near New Windsor, Carroll county, Maryland.

After the close of the Civil War he sold his large farm and moved to Waterford, Loudoun county, Virginia, with a view of living retired. There this aged couple lived peacefully, having had a son and a granddaughter to keep them company and to take care of them in their old days. All the members and descendants of Lewis Shuey write their names with two e's, thus, Shueey. They, however, cannot account for the change, and acknowledge that Shuey is correct.

III. DANIEL SHUEY (3)

The third son of John Shuey, was born March 16, 1803. His early life was spent on his father's farm, and he chose farming as his occupation for life. He married a daughter of Paul Maurer, of Lancaster county, Pennsylvania. They lived in Carroll county, Maryland, until May, 1831, when they moved to Muskingum county, Ohio, where he bought a farm on which they lived until he retired from farming, and they moved to Alexandria, Licking county, Ohio, where he died. He was successful as a business man and had plenty of means to enjoy life in his declining years. They had sons and daughters, but not all the names could be ascertained. Those known are Samuel Paul, Daniel, Lewis and John (commonly called Jack), Kate and Harriet. In his letter to the author, before the first History of the Shuey Family was published, he stated that all his brothers and sisters were dead. But it will be noticed that his brother Lewis then resided at Waterford, Virginia. The families had not been in correspondence for a number of years, and as he had not heard from the others he concluded they were dead. In the author's answer to his letter he was informed of his brother Lewis and his place of residence.

1. Samuel Paul Shuee (4), (he always insisted on writing his name Shuee), was born about the year 1820, in Carroll county, Maryland. He likely came to Ohio before his father moved there. He married Katharine Ayers of Ohio. They had seven children: George W., Sarah Jane, Mary Anne, Samuel Paul, James Leslie, and Celia, also another daughter, whose children reside in Chicago. They had moved to Missouri, where Samuel Paul Shuee was a patriot of his country. At the beginning of the Civil War, he paid the great price for his loyalty, by being shot during a raid and his house burned to the ground with all it contained. Soon thereafter his three sons enlisted in the U. S. service.

1. George Washington Shuee (5) was born in Ohio, Sept. 7, 1840. He married Eliza Jane Powell, at Stockton, Missouri, April 18, 1861. They have five children: William Samuel, George Washington, Daniel Marion, Henry Clay, and Daisy Lillian. He served on scout duty, before enlisting at Pleasant Hill, Kansas, Feb. 3, 1864, as a Private in Captain Charles F. Coleman's Company D., Ninth Regiment, Kansas Volunteer Cavalry. Promoted to corporal of new Company D., March 22, 1865. He received honorable discharge at Duvall's Bluff, on July 17, 1865. He is a member of Hugh Wilson Post, No. 21, G. A. #### IV. JOHN SHUEY (3)

The youngest son of John Shuey, was born Sept. 30, 1804. He married and moved to Missouri, where he engaged in farming. He has a number of descendants, but the author could not get into correspondence with them. They live in Franklin county, Missouri, in the neighborhood of Oakfield, Union or Franklin.

CONCLUDING CHAPTER

A personal sketch of the different members of the Shuey family is given in the preceding pages ; but it would seem necessary to make some additional remarks, in order to close this volume with some satisfaction to the reader. There are some things which can be mentioned in common, regarding the Shueys as a family. Individuals have certain peculiarities, which leave their almost indelible imprint on their characters. This is true likewise of States, countries, and nations, and if true of all these, we can look for certain characteristics in a family. On account of the separation of the family, and the length of time it has been separated, it would, perhaps, be more proper to give this part of the history in sections, indicated by the different localities where they now reside. But that in itself would give sufficient material to write a volume which would be both interesting and useful. What is here written is given in a very general way, which may not always apply to all the persons represented in this book. The idea of these additional pages is at once manifest to the reader who has carefully perused the personal sketches. We give the peculiarities under certain heads.

NAMES

In several branches of this family the names of Adam and Eve, as husband and wife, can be traced ; and owing to this fact many, no doubt, can boast that they are more closely related to Adam and Eve than persons of other families. This relationship is claimed in all earnestness and with legal propriety ; but at the same time let it be understood that no reference is had here to the garden of Eden and the forbidden fruit. This family is not willing, on account of these names, to take upon itself a greater portion of the sin and disobedience of our first parents when they made that fatal choice between right and wrong, obedience and disobedience.

It is a noticeable fact, likewise, that family names have been well preserved. The same names we find repeated again and again, from one generation to the other. By merely referring to the names of a few families, the reader will readily ascertain this fact. Then examine the Index to this book and notice the many similar names. John is a popular name, and if it were not for an additional name, or a nickname, it would be almost impossible to distinguish all the members of the Shuey family who bear that name. Hardly a family can be found where the name John is not represented.

There are other names which appear quite often on these pages which cannot here be enumerated. On the old homestead many apple trees in the orchard and shell-bark trees in the adjoining fields were named after certain members of the family. These names were used to such an extent that whenever reference was made to any of those trees it was always done by using their proper names. One might hear them speak of grandfather's tree, or grandmother's tree, or other trees which were named after uncles or aunts, father or mother, or even back to great-grandfather. One tree bearing sour apples was named after one of the horses many years ago, and the tree has been known as "Billy tree" to this day. It is said that a favorite horse called Billy was sick, and the horse-doctor who sought cures by pow-wowing made use of this tree in connection with his magical art by boring a hole in this tree and driving a plug into the hole, whereupon it is said the horse was restored to health; hence the origin of the name.

MORALITY

To speak in a general way of the Shuey family in America, we can without any hesitancy say, that there are no very bad persons in this family. True, of such an extensive family, we would not presume to say that they are all first-class people, and that crime, wickedness and immorality are not found among them. Not one member of this large family has ever been imprisoned, or compelled to appear before the bar of justice to plead his innocence of any crime with which he had been charged. They believe in moral reform rather than legal reform, and they seek to keep clear of the law by not allowing any occasion which might necessitate a resort to law.

It is substantially a moral family, and many of its members who make no profession of faith, nor have any connection with a Christian Church, are nevertheless strictly moral. The number of non-church-goers and anti-churchmen is very limited in this family. Drunkenness and debauchery are an exception, if found at all, and intemperance is scorned by all. A certain member of the Virginia family, in speaking on this point, says in a letter to the author, "No one ever saw a dissipated Shuey, or one intoxicated, which is an honor to our name in Virginia." Similar expressions came from Ohio and California. This cannot be strictly affirmed of the Pennsylvania Shueys, though in general it is true; but there are a few exceptional cases, where certain members have allowed themselves to come under the influence of liquor, and have thus violated the strict principle of the Shuey family as a whole.

In their financial transactions they are strictly honest, scorning to do a mean act; and whatever promises are made by them in a business way are sure to be fulfilled, and all financial obligations are promptly met. "Honesty is the best policy" has been their motto of old, and they have endeavored to carry it out to its fullest extent, not for the sake of policy, but on account of that higher idea contained in the word honesty. Honesty itself is the incentive, and for its sake alone is it practiced. Some have always been poor in this world's goods, or probably were in indigent circumstances; but they have regarded a good name better than riches, and have preferred poverty to rascality. It is always much safer to bear, and to be worthy of, a good name, than to have great riches, which may be ill-gotten gains and perhaps were obtained by making others poor. Generosity is one thing especially for which this family is noted. A hungry wayfaring man is never turned away from their door, without an abundance to eat. The poor are always assisted where their claims are made known. They endeavor to scrutinize, however, between the worthy and the unworthy, and the worthy have never been permitted to remain in want. Their sympathy can easily be enlisted, and more than once has imposition been practiced by scoundrels in an unguarded hour.

EDUCATION

It has ever been an established custom in this family to have the children educated; in earliest times even, as will be seen by referring to Ludwich Shuey's will, recorded more than a century ago, where mention is made that his children should be educated. Nearly all the members of this family have rather bright minds, and very ignorant persons are not known among them. Many who have had the opportunity of mental culture, have become prominent in the literary world. Others who were not so fortunate as to acquire an extended education, have nevertheless sufficient to make them prominent in their different spheres of life; and in many, yea very many cases, they are termed the leaders of the people in the neighborhood in which they reside. Many have had the benefit of a full classical course in college or university, and are now in the ranks of the higher professions.

In this family can be found editors, school teachers, clerks, book keepers, lawyers, doctors and ministers of the Gospel. Indeed, all professions are well represented, and considerable original research work in the sciences has been done by some. Wherever professional men are found, they give dignity to the positions which they fill. At least every one in the whole family is sufficiently educated to have common sense, and to possess and practice proper manhood. Insanity or mental derangement is unknown in this family. If there are any who are non compos mentis, they have not come to the knowledge of the author of these pages. In this respect this family is indeed exceptional and worthy of particular notice.

THE OLD SCHOOL-HOUSE

Quite a number of our ancestors, and many whose personal sketches are given in the preceding pages, received their primary education in the "Old School House." This school-house is situated in Union township, Lebanon county, Pa., and only a few steps from Walmer's Church. Before the system of free schools was introduced in Pennsylvania, this school-house was used for the purpose of a parochial school by the church. The building was owned by the church, and contained both the school-room and the sexton's house. At that early time, however, the sexton had more duties to perform than he has now. The man who lived in the same house where the school-room was, occupied at the same time the positions of teacher, leader of the singing in church or "Fore-singer," as he was then called, and he was also the sexton of the church. In these churches where they had a pipe organ, this man was also the organist. It was also his duty to assist the pastor in his work; and in the absence of the pastor he had to catechise the young, and conduct funerals with a full service for the burial of the dead. What will our modern school teachers say to this, who complain that they have too laborious duties? Think for a moment of the teachers of olden times and their duties, and it will perhaps inspire you to work harder and seek to accomplish more in the future in your work.

In some cases in this history every member of the family was a school teacher.

Our forefathers believed in having church and school-house near together, and in having the work of the school go hand in hand with the work of the church. It would undoubtedly be much better now if our schools were pervaded by a stronger church and religious idea in educating the young. The schoolhouse under consideration, was the place where our forefathers attended school a hundred and more years ago. The same building is standing to this day, and is still occupied by the sexton of the church. When the free school system was introduced, the church kindly consented to give the use of the school-room to the district, rent free, if the district keep the room in proper repair. This old school-room remained in use for school purposes until the year 1870, when the district erected a new school-house about half a mile east of the old building. The old school-room is at present also made use of by the sexton's family. Three, if not four, generations of the Shuey family attended school in this old building, and in it the author of this book received his primary education, and attended here until he was employed by the district as a teacher, and afterwards taught awhile in this building of bygone days.

The building was constructed of very heavy logs, weather-boarded on the outside, and the school-room was only partly plastered within. The floor was laid with oak plank—made to wear—which the thousand little feet, running over it, could not wear out. A heavy log extended through the room on which the joists were resting; the ceiling was unplastered, and the top floor had no less than five pipe-holes, which one would think should be sufficient egress for the smoke; but by looking at the dark ceiling, on which rests the smoke of a century, it would appear that even five were not sufficient. In approaching the school-room from without, it is necessary to ascend several steps, which brings you on the porch. This porch extends along the whole length of the building. About the middle of it is a double door—one door extending from the floor about three feet high, and the other then reaches to the top of the door frame. This upper door was open most of the time; the lower was closed. Enter this door and you are in a small ante-room, having one door leading to the kitchen, a stairway, and the school-room door. There were only board partitions between the rooms. Whatever conversation was going on in the kitchen by the members of the family could be distinctly understood by the scholars in the room. Immediately above the school-room was a room used by the sexton's family for sleeping purposes. But two rows of desks were in the school-room, and six or seven pupils were crowded on one bench behind each high desk. The benches were so high that none but the larger scholars could reach the floor with their feet while seated at the desks. This old school-house was built in 1783, as shown on a stone in the east wall, and is therefore considerably more than a century old. It was an old school-house when our grandparents attended at this place.

POSITION IN SOCIETY

This family always occupied a prominent and a medium position in society. We might say that the members of this family are a representative class of people. Their place was a very useful one, they being ever ready to do good where opportunity afforded, and to fall in with any movement which carried in itself the principles of morality and true manhood. In many places they might have done more than they actually did, but this could be said of every family, and it is a defect which is common to all. Although the places of trust committed to them were not always of the highest grade, yet we have the assurance that such responsibilities as were placed upon them were promptly met, and fully discharged. This family never was very ambitious to get into public offices, or strove to place itself into high positions. We have found many people whose ambition brought them into public offices which they were not able to fill, and who found themselves incompetent to discharge the duties pertaining to the offices in which they had been placed. The members of this family were contented with such offices and positions of trust as were offered to them, and in accepting such positions they endeavored to meet the full responsibilities of the office, with the full approval of their constituents. They cannot boast of a President of the United States, nor a Governor of some Commonwealth: but Congressmen, Legislators, Cashiers of National Banks, commissioned officers in the U. S. Army, and officers down to small municipal places of trust, can be found in this family. Ministers of the Gospel, the highest office on earth, doctors, lawyers, musicians, and teachers, are also found in this family in large numbers; and such as have professions are persons of no ordinary qualifications, and occupy prominent places in their different vocations. Respectability is characteristic of this large family, and when we make mention on these pages of a certain member of the family as being respectable and esteemed we do so without any exclusion of other members whose history is given without such mention. The members of this family are, as a general thing, the prominent men and women of the communities wherein they reside. They are regarded to a great extent as the leaders of the people. Without seeking prominence, they are nevertheless influential people in their own communities. They boast not of their qualifications, but pursue their work and profession in an unpretending manner, with satisfaction to themselves and to others.

OCCUPATIONS

Many of the members of this family are engaged in agricultural pursuits—a noble occupation—and they have as a general thing been very successful in this branch of diversified life. To a great extent this family has had its home in the country as tillers of the soil, and made a living by honest toil and by the sweat of the face, as was commanded by our Creator in the days of our first parents. This living in the open air, and spending youthful days in tilling the soil, has made them robust, strong and muscular. Very few can be found in the family who are delicate or weak physically. Hundreds, however, of the family have their homes in cities, towns and villages, and are attending to their share of usefulness in such business and occupations as are adapted to those places. Such as are mechanics have useful trades, and are flourishing in their business. Wherever we find them, we discover that they are masters of the trades they represent. We also find that they represent the better class of trades and occupations. They have no desire for any business which would be degrading, or which might lessen their respectability.

LOVE OF HOME

Perhaps no family can be found which is more attached to home than the Shuey family. The members of this family have great reverence for the homes of their fathers, and the old homesteads, as they are called, have become sacred places to the later generations. This is strongly manifested by the fact that the old homesteads are kept in the family name from generation to generation. Some of these homesteads are known to have carried the name Shuey, and have been occupied by different members of the family for a period of at least a hundred years, and they may possibly remain in the Shuey ownership for another century. Many of the letters which the author received contained references to the fact of the high estimation in which the homesteads are held. Being so much attached to home, they are loath to give up the places which have sheltered their ancestors. Very few of the family have what may be called a roaming disposition, inclining them to move about from place to place, like Noah's dove, seeking a place of rest. The family, however, has become considerably separated, as it necessarily must; for it can be easily understood that not all could live on their fathers' farms, and therefore some would venture out to a new place, and their posterity as it increased would soon spread the name Shuey in that community. The principal settlement of the Shuey family was in Lebanon county, Pennsylvania, near the original home. There is also quite a large settlement of Shueys in and near Dayton, Ohio.

Another extensive portion of the family is near Staunton, Virginia. The family is represented in Pennsylvania, New York, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Maryland, District of Columbia, Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Colorado and California—indeed, in nearly all the States of the Union. The reader can form some idea of the labor and patience of the author to find where the members of the family live and then ascertain their individual histories. Notwithstanding this wide scattering of the family, we nevertheless find that Continuity is largely developed, and the different members take pleasure in tracing their connection with the old homesteads.

THE SHUEY PICNIC

In July, 1870, a Shuey picnic was held near Dayton, Ohio, where, it is said, several hundred members of the family were present. A small paper was read and published concerning the Shueys around Dayton. This paper was of some assistance to the author in compiling that portion of the history for this book. The paper gives the dates of birth of the children of Lewis Henry Shuey, but does not give his name, for the reason that his name was not known to them at that time. It also states that these children were all born in Dauphin county, Pennsylvania, whereas it should say Lancaster county, now Lebanon county, Pennsylvania. The place was Dauphin county from 1785 to 1814, but the youngest of the children was born in 1768, consequently nearly twenty years prior to the formation of Dauphin county. John Shuey, of California, was the only Shuey present from abroad, and he was really a member of the Dayton family.

REUNIONS OF THE SHUEY FAMILY

The reunion suggested by the author in his first history to be held in 1876, near the place where Daniel Shuey, the ancestor of all the Shueys in America, resided, could not be arranged for and was not held. But many reunions have been held since by different branches of the Shuey Family, notably those in Lebanon county, Pa. These have been attended by large numbers of the family, both those with the name Shuey and others whose maternal ancestors were of the Shuey Family. Those present registered, in a book, their name, date of birth and present residence. This record book became valuable to the author in compiling the revised edition of the history of this large family. It was at such a reunion held in the fall of 1915, in Lebanon county, Pa., that the author, by invitation, came from Ohio to give the address and told many important facts not contained in the original history, and that he was then requested and strongly urged to revise the history and prepare a new book, bringing the history down to the present time. This encouraged him to undertake the vast project, adding forty-three years more to the history, during which time more than a thousand young persons have come and joined the Shuey family. These reunions are valuable in many respects and should be continued. The Michael Shuey family at Germantown, Ohio, has for some years been holding a family reunion, lasting several days about the 4th of July.

The author suggests that another Shuey reunion should be held on a grander scale; let it be of the whole family in America, by having representatives present from the different branches of the family. This reunion should be held in Lebanon county, Pennsylvania, on the farm where Daniel Shuey, the ancestor of all the Shueys in America, lived; and to make it more complete it should be held on or about the 19th day of September, when we could celebrate the anniversary of the landing in this country of the first Shuey. Persons of the different branches of the family should be delegated to attend this anniversary. It should be a real family reunion.

The reason is at once apparent why this reunion should be held in Bethel township, Lebanon county, Pa. It would bring to mind many recollections, and would have a tendency to unite the present generation of the different branches of the family by such an intermingling on the very soil where lived and tilled the first Shuey of America. Papers could be prepared and read by representatives of the different branches of the family. These papers could be preserved for future use and publication, if so desired. The French blood in our veins would become manifest in such pride of ancestry, or at least we would pay a proper regard to the memory of the parents who gave birth to this extensive family.

LANGUAGE

This is perhaps the most difficult subject that we are called upon to treat in this volume, because it is no easy matter to make it intelligible to the different portions of the family, on account of the peculiarity of the Pennsylvania German language. It is a well-known fact, that the first Shuey families in this country were German. Their language was of a high order, and might be called classical German. In course of time the families in Pennsylvania fell in with and appropriated that peculiar dialect denominated "Pennsylvania German," which is a peculiar dialect used, not in the whole State, but especially in the counties where the Shuey family resided, and the counties adjoining. This dialect was prevailingly spoken at that time in the rural districts of those counties. The Pennsylvania Shueys made use of this dialect to a great extent, and some few no doubt could be found who are not able to make good use of the English nor the pure German language. The author was brought up in a neighborhood where this dialect was prevailingly used. One must be able to use the language in order to understand its peculiarities.

It is a very limited language; that is, it takes but few words to express a thought, and the vocabulary of the language is not very extensive. The purity of the German words is lost in this dialect, and the words and sentences are made much shorter than in the pure German language. Quite a number of English words have been introduced. These introductions are becoming more numerous as the people come in contact with the English language, and no doubt in course of time this dialect will be dropped and the English used in its stead.

An extraordinary fact, which may appear amusing or even incredible to some, is the manner in which this dialect was made use of in the schools of those sections of country where this language was spoken at the time the author attended school. The children when they first came to school were not able to speak English; yet they commenced with the English language, and had all their studies in English. Their studying and their recitations were English, while their conversation was in Pennsylvania German. On the play-ground but little English was heard. To some readers it might appear to be an impossibility, that children who cannot speak English should have all their studies in English; but this was a fact well-known to all Pennsylvania Germans. Of the German alphabet and German studies they knew nothing. Then, as they grew older and became more advanced in their studies, they learned to speak the English; but this they did more from their book knowledge than by conversation with others.

There were no books printed in the Pennsylvania German language; and, therefore, the children were compelled to take up another language. It was consequently the study of a foreign language to them. This fact goes to show that the children of these German counties labored under great disadvantages, and it might seem were much embarrassed in the progress of their studies, which, no doubt, was a fact in reference to beginners at least; but it is also a well-known fact, that many of our most eminent men of Pennsylvania and other States, possessing superior literary abilities, are the sons of just such families, and are persons who were compelled to labor under just such difficulties as are stated above. This assertion is not made without reflection. Let the reader look at the great men of our country, and then examine into their parentage, and he will be surprised to find that many of them are of Pennsylvania German descent.

To give the reader a proper idea of this Pennsylvania German language, the following poem is inserted, which the author of this book composed in 1870. No particular claim is based on the poetry of the production, but it serves the purpose of giving an example of the language. The English letters are used, so that there may be no difficulty in reading it. Those who are unable to understand it will confer a favor by not asking for a translation, as that would be more difficult than to write or compose the original. The subject is "The School-house at the Church," a sketch of which is given on a preceding page, where it is called "The Old School-house." That portion of the family using the Pennsylvania German will readily understand the poem. Others may be enabled to understand the greater part of it with the aid of our sketch of the house under consideration.

 So gehts do in der sinde Welt
 Now hab ich euch vum Schulhaus g'melt.

MIDDLE NAME SHUEY

The reader will notice in many of the names mentioned in this history the letter for the middle name is S and this almost always stands for Shuey even to the third generation, indicating that they desire to continue carrying the name Shuey, though otherwise changed by marriage into other families. The author noticed this particularly as the information for the new book came in from the different States. Surely they are entitled to wear the name with honor if by so doing they also continue to maintain the noble characteristics of this wonderful family.

THE FAMILY LIFE

This family has always believed in the sanctity of the marriage relation, the beautiful home and the congenial family life. Divorce is almost unknown. In the history of this family covering nearly two hundred years and spread over many of the States the author has learned of two divorces only, and it is purported that in neither case did the fault lie on the Shuey side.

One of the members of the Shuey family in Iowa writes: "I am happy to say there have been no divorces—no drinkers, gamblers or in any way bad characters in the family. On the other hand, all have been true Christians, upright, honorable, leaders in the church and community and great lovers of family and home."

THE DISCOVERY OF ANTHRACITE COAL

In I. D. Rupp's History of Schuylkill county, Pa., he says coal was first known in 1790. See page 298. In 1795 a blacksmith tried it. Others dug for coal but the difficulty of burning it was so great that it was abandoned. In 1800, William Morris took some to Philadelphia, but could not bring it into notice. It was not tried again until 1806, when David Berlin, a blacksmith, again tried and succeeded in using it. In 1812, Col. George Shoemaker loaded nine wagons with coal and went to Philadelphia, but he found little success. Those who tried it said he was an impostor in trying to sell them stones. But Mellon & Bishop tried it in their rolling mill and succeeded, and from that time it has been used.

It will be interesting to note that in 1798, Martin and Christian Shuey were interested in coal land. "Feb. 10, 1798, between Jacob Gunckel, of Pinegrove township, Berks county, Pa., and Susanna his wife, of the first part, and Martin Shuey and Christian Shuey, both of Bethel township, Dauphin county, Pa., of the second part. By virtue of Warrant dated Oct. 1, 1784, surveyed unto Jacob Gunckel and George Royer, a certain tract of land in Pinegrove township, bounded by other lands of Jacob Gunckel and George Royer and others, containing 391 acres and allowance. Also by Warrant dated June 17, 1785, to Jacob Gunckel and George Royer another tract in same township which joins the other tract, also joins lands of Michael Gunckel and vacant lands, containing 110 acres and 90 perches and allowance. Consideration of 125 Pounds, 7 shillings and 6 pence, sell their undivided one-half interest (Excepting and Reserving out of this grant all the Sea-coals whatsoever are in and on a certain hill on the side of a certain creek Running through the Said described two Tracts of Land, so that it shall and may be lawful for the said Jacob Gunckel, his heirs and assigns to take, carry or haul away any time or times hereafter all the Sea-coals whatsoever are on or in the said hill to be his and their own property). To have and to hold (as tenants in common), under and subject to the payment of the proportional part of the Remainder of the Purchase money and interest now due and hereafter to become due and payable for the same to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania." Sea-coal is defined in an old Webster's Dictionary as "Coal brought by sea; a vulgar name for mineral coal, in distinction from charcoal." This proves that the Shuey family were very early in the coal field, and it shows their enterprise. Later many of the Shueys became coal miners, as will be noticed in this history.

(From the "Designer," October, 1903.)

ONE WOMAN'S GIFT.

A life to be proud of is that of Mrs. Nancy Shuey, aged 86. Mrs. Shuey was never blessed with children of her own, but for sixty years she has devoted her whole time and energies to caring for other people's children. She has reared and educated 25 orphans, 9 of whom were married at her home at Kouts, Indiana. When asked how she happened to take such an interest in these children, she said with a benevolent twinkle in her eye: "Well, I just got interested in the poor little things, and the more I did for them, the more I wanted to do. I felt I could do some good that way and I am not sorry I tried it. I raised and educated 25 of them—14 boys and 11 girls. All but 3 of them are still living, scattered about over the country. And the best of it is they are all doing well, and every one of them is grateful. They all turned out to be industrious, honorable men and women and are good citizens." In other words, this woman has been a whole orphan asylum in herself. Motherless herself, she has done the work of a dozen ordinary mothers. That she has been a real mother is attested by the fact that her "children" are "all doing well and every one of them is grateful." Herein is real philanthropy. This woman has not simply given money, she has given herself.

Sent to the author by Mrs. Lutie Morris.

It is a difficult matter to close a Family History of this kind which is intended to bring it down to date. In such a large family, spread over the whole nation, births, marriages and deaths are occurring so rapidly, that the latest cannot be noted. This is especially the case of the military service rendered by members of this family in the World's War. The author realizes that this part of the history is quite incomplete, inasmuch as but a limited part of information came to hand. These young men who gave their services (and some perhaps their lives) to our country and the cause for which it entered into this war, deserved a much fuller account. This part would, indeed, be of great interest to the coming generations. Some very important facts came to hand which could not be included in this book because the history of the persons to which it had reference had been in print on foregoing pages. Some peculiar incidents or items mentioned in this book will likely be of interest to the members of this exceptional family. While the church relationship is not mentioned in the case of many of the individuals whose history is given in this book, yet it is known that nearly all are active Christians and there are none who are agnostic or unbelievers in the Triune God, Father, Son and Holy Spirit. All honor to the God who gave life and happiness to this large family.
